Nobel Writers on Writing Ottar G. Draugsvold, 2020-07-17 Since its inception the Nobel Prize for literature has given a very public voice to some of the world's greatest writers and their responses to the honor their acceptance speeches have often been epochal. From the famed call to arms by William Faulkner to the multicultural song of Derek Walcott from 1903's Bjornstjerne Bjornson to 1999's Gunter Grass, this collection of 28 speeches traces the ideals of the artists and the selection committee itself throughout the 20th century. Included are an introduction to each of the writers chosen, an abridged copy of the speech or lecture, and a bibliography of works in English.

Günter Grass and His Critics Siegfried Mews, 2008 A comprehensive narrative overview and analysis of the criticism of the controversial German author's works. When the Swedish Academy announced that Günter Grass had been awarded the 1999 Nobel Prize for Literature, it singled out his first novel The Tin Drum (1959, English translation 1963) as a seminal work that had signaled the postwar rebirth of German letters, auguring a new beginning after decades of linguistic and moral destruction. Nearly fifty years after its publication, the novel's significance has been generally acknowledged; it is the uncontested favorite among Grass's works of fiction on the part of reading public and critics alike. Yet its canonical status tends to obscure the decidedly mixed and even hostile reactions it initially elicited. Along with The Tin Drum, Grass's impressive body of literary work since the 1950s has spawned a cottage industry of Grass criticism, making a reliable guide through the thicket of sometimes contradictory readings a definite desideratum. Siegfried Mews fills this lacuna in Grass scholarship by way of a detailed but succinct descriptive as well as analytical and evaluative overview of the scholarship from 1959 to 2005. Grass's politically motivated interventions in public discourse have kept him highly visible, blurring the boundaries between politics and aesthetics. Mews therefore examines not only academic criticism but also the daily and weekly press and other news media, providing additional insight into the reception of Grass's works. Siegfried Mews is Professor of German at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

The Politics of Remembrance in the Novels of Günter Grass Alex Donovan Cole, 2022-11-30 This manuscript argues for the importance of Günter Grass as a political thinker in addition to his status as a novelist and public intellectual capable of forming ethical responses to contemporary issues like neoliberalism and place of the petit bourgeoisie in social life. I define Grass's trajectory as a thinker through his novels and speeches. Primarily, I draw attention to the role memory plays in Grass's thought that his work represented an intellectual and aesthetic response to the role Nazism continued to play in West German politics in the post-war era. To Grass, Nazism represented a resurgent threat unaddressed following the end of World War II. Later, Grass amended his concept of memory politics to address neoliberal capitalism, reiterating his radicalism and affirming the need for German society to resist the rise of extreme ideologies.

Ordinary Enchantments Wendy B. Faris, 2004
Ordinary Enchantments investigates magical realism as the most important trend in contemporary international fiction defines its characteristics and narrative techniques and proposes a new theory to explain its significance In the most comprehensive critical treatment of this literary mode to date Wendy B Faris discusses a rich array of examples from magical realist novels around the world including the work not only of Latin American writers like Gabriel Garcia Marquez but also of authors like Salman Rushdie Gunter Grass Toni Morrison and Ben Okri Faris argues that by combining realistic representation with fantastic elements so that the marvelous seems to grow organically out of the ordinary magical realism destabilizes the dominant form of realism based on empirical definitions of reality gives it visionary power and thus constitutes what might be called a remystification of narrative in the West Noting the radical narrative heterogeneity of magical realism the author compares its cultural role to that of traditional shamanic performance which joins the worlds of daily life and that of the spirits Because of that capacity to bridge different worlds magical realism has served as an effective decolonizing agent providing the ground for marginal voices submerged traditions and emergent literatures to develop and create masterpieces At the same time this process is not limited to postcolonial situations but constitutes a global trend that replenishes realism from within In addition to describing what many consider to be the progressive cultural work of magical realism Faris also confronts the recent accusation that magical realism and its study as a global phenomenon can be seen as a form of commodification and an imposition of cultural homogeneity And finally drawing on the narrative innovations and cultural scenarios that magical realism enacts she extends those principles toward issues of gender and the possibility of a female element within magical realism

Books and Bookmen, 1984 Narrative as Counter-Memory Reiko Tachibana, 1998-07-30 CHOICE 1999 Outstanding Academic Books The wartime and postwar cultural histories of Germany and Japan show similar experiences of defeat occupation and then the reconstruction of powerful societies Little previous research has examined the literary works that reflect these contacts and parallelisms For the first time this book offers an extensive comparative study of German and Japanese narratives that serve as a form of counter memory in Foucault's phrase for the two cultures Rather than attempting to present objective or comprehensive views of history these narratives draw upon personal memories to offer subjective selective and individualistic reports They provide an alternative or counter memory to more official versions of World War II and its aftermath Major writers such as Mishima Yukio Ibuse Masuji Oba Minako Gunter Grass Uwe Johnson Christa Wolf and the Nobel Prize winners Oe Kenzaburo and Heinrich Boll are set in the context of lesser known writers including a nine year old child a medical doctor a woman who served as a journalist and a former prisoner to provide a broad cultural basis for understanding responses to the war from within the two societies This book combines a broad historical scope with detailed examinations of important individual texts with both aspects securely set on a firm foundation of historical and literary scholarship The rhythm of alternation between synthetic generalizations and close textual explication yielding interpretive insights while providing lucid and economical exposition and summary allows for carefully balanced and integrated comparisons

The Desire to Write Graeme Harper, 2018-12-18 In this dynamic exploration of the discipline of creative writing Graeme Harper departs from the established how to model in a personal manifesto which analyses why human beings are and have long been passionate about writing Illuminating the five essential keys to creative writing directly related to the desire to undertake it Harper analyses creative writing's past and ponders its future drawing on theories of the self cultural interaction consumption and communication Blending practice based critical context with contemporary creative writing theory this book is an ideal companion for undergraduate and postgraduate students of creative writing and literature Lively and thought provoking it is an invaluable tool for all aspiring and established writers who wish to harness the positive effects of their craft The Making of Exile Cultures Hamid Naficy,1993-01-01 Using Iranian television as a case study The Making of Exile Cultures explores the seemingly contradictory way in which immigrant media and cultural productions serve as the source both of resistance and opposition to domination by host and home country's social values while simultaneously acting as vehicles for personal and cultural transformation and the assimilation of those values Writers and Thinkers Daniel Fuchs,2017-07-12 This is a collection of critical essays that integrate literature and ideas Daniel Fuchs presents the writer's individuality as artist and thinker focusing on the writer's interaction within a wide range of cultural political and historical periods and situations representative of the modern period The essays reflect a progression that goes beyond chronology or historical survey in the consistency and interrelation of the literary and cultural themes explored and the references within them The book is built around writers who are of central concern to the author It does not pretend to be a comprehensive framework for analysing modernism Fuchs first deals with high modernism in discussions of Hemingway and Stevens who in different ways critique tradition and collapsing values The essays that follow deal with the contemporary and here the focus is mainly on American Jewish writers and their cultural impact after modernism The author's stance is in relation not only to these traditions but to others that might be thought antagonistic the formalism of the New Critics and the deconstructionism that reduces the author to a replaceable variable in the dialects of cultural power relations Fuchs pays tribute to the former illustrating wider points in literary socio cultural and political history The overall emphasis on these extrinsic matters underscores the book's appeal to a wide audience Migration and Literature S. Frank,2008-09-29 Migration and Literature offers a thought provoking analysis of the thematic and formal role of migration in four contemporary and canonized novelists
