On The Road To Innsbruck And Back:

On the Road to Innsbruck and Back William B. Bache, 2001 On the Road to Innsbruck and Back William B. Bache, 2003 Listen to the Voice of the Water by Robert Edward Harris is a collection of twenty seven poems It was inspired by the author s travels in Lebanon in 1997 It touches on many of life s emotions including happy and sad occasions Love distress hope and faith among other feelings are explored throughout the book The Groom s Prayer demonstrates the anxious awaiting of an answer to a not so simple question after many years of delay My pen cannot flow with feelings Nor my paper know words written My fear has changed this day Aching for your answer I know how lonely it does feel When true love leaves you waiting For only one answer will do In The Horse Jumped Over the Moon the adult s childlike faith somehow escapes us as he tries to convince the child that in fact it was the horse that jumped over the moon The horse jumped over the moon tonight For how could it have been the cow You don t know much about farms I see So I m going to teach you now You know things aren t always what they seem Like the story of the chicken and the egg And the pig in the mud isn t as happy as you think In the morning when breakfast is made On the Road to Innsbruck and Back: A 103rd Division Infantryman's World War 2 Memoir William B. Bache, 2020-02-05 Merriam Press World War 2 Memoir On the Road to Innsbruck and Back is a product of the author s long obsession with serving in Europe during World War II as a member of the 103rd Infantry Division Too often he was given a responsibility that he neither deserved nor desired But then he was in an Intelligence and Reconnaissance platoon at the service of a regimental headquarters The chief model for On the Road is Stephen Crane s The Red Badge of Courage the best short novel about war that he knows Like Crane he wanted above all to demonstrate the moral cost of some months in combat upon a not insensitive young man On the Road to Innsbruck and Back William Bache, 2012-02-18 Merriam Press Military Monograph 58 Third Edition February 2012 On the Road to Innsbruck and Back is a product of the author s long obsession with serving in Europe during World War II as a member of the 103rd Infantry Division He has always known that he would have to write about that time And it seemed useful to put his overseas experience into the context of his Army years from his enlistment in October 1942 to his discharge from an Army hospital in March 1946 His professional career as a Shakespeare critic was a matter of diligence applied his imposed career as a soldier was a matter of mindless endurance He was not a successful soldier He was the last private in his regiment to be promoted to pfc But then somebody must have thought the author was more reliable than he was Too often he was given a responsibility that he neither deserved nor desired But then he was in an Intelligence and Reconnaissance platoon at the service of a regimental headquarters On the Road is authentic He has made every effort to be faithful to the facts as he remembers them But he also believes that the best way to give form and direction to the reality of his experience was through a series of sixteen short stories presented more or less chronologically Experience teaches through insights epiphanies encounters Ideally a poem or a short story is an idea at the moment of dawning Each of his sixteen stories has its theme its ironies its surprises The realities of combat are simple and stark but circumstances change In his stories the events and incidents in one story are meant to echo and mirror the events and incidents in other stories If the stories are read sequentially as intended certain metaphors and notions are emphasized and thus have a cumulative effect the road as a metaphor for living the Army as a metaphor for prison animal references clothing imagery despair resignation The stories are meant to be considered not for their individual merit but for their collected value The chief model for On the Road is Stephen Crane's The Red Badge of Courage the best short novel about war that he knows Like Crane he wanted above all to demonstrate the moral cost of some months in combat upon a not insensitive young man Contents Preface Poem Dog Tags Living with Violence The Making of an American Soldier Losing It Under Fire Dogfaces and Dogrobbers Collaborating Undercover Delivering the Goods The Hero Syndrome Gathering Intelligence Off Limits and Out of Control Winding Down On the Road to Innsbruck and Back On the Way Back Double Solitaire on the Home Front Crime and Punishment Period of Adjustment The Author 2 B his father owned two grocery stores and ten farms Bill was born in the coal mining town of Nanticoke Pennsylvania in 1922 Bill is now widowed and has one daughter After getting a Ph D in English Literature from Penn State in 1952 and then teaching there for a year Bill joined the Purdue English Department in 1953 Except for a summer in Maine and one in Montana and except for two sabbaticals in Oxford Bill spent his entire career at Purdue He has received a large number of teaching awards Bill retired in 1992 Bill's specialties are Shakespeare and lyric poetry He published Measure for Measure as Dialectical Art in 1969 Design and Closure in Shakespeare's Major Plays in 1992 Shakespeare's Deliberate Art in 1996 Review by Paul Fussell veteran and author I've just finished reading with intense pleasure and admiration your excellent book Your having been in the pathetic 103rd Division where I was was just a small part of the pleasure Most delight was in your clear critical intelligence as well as your sensitivity and wisdom On the Road to Innsbruck and Back William B. Bache, 2001 Return to Shadow Derek Siddoway, 2016-05-03 Headstrong and impatient the young exile Revan Teutevar has his heart set on returning to Athelon Between him and his ruined homeland however lies Vhaleons a city ruled by corruption and greed Chasing the threads of a dangerous conspiracy Revan and his friends soon find themselves entrapped in a game of power and deceit One false move and their very lives are forfeit Captain Nikoma is a young woman desperate to prove her worth in a man's world She's a loner an outsider even amongst her fellow Simarru warriors no matter how well she rides or swings a sword But war with the Imperium League is at hand and with it the chance to step out of her father's shadow if she can stay alive long enough to change her stars With war looming the west has forgotten about Arund Even so the one time Hero of the Republic of Pel and would be high king hasn't been idle East of the Heimwall he's hard at work rebuilding his capital and amassing a motley horde to stake his claim in the growing chaos If he can hold them all together fierce Jotun barbaric Periwane and treacherous Emorans the White Knight could very well make good on his vow to rule all of Peldrin As shadows fall everyone has a score to settle Epic historical fantasy meets gritty
