Once By The Sea:

Reading Genesis after Darwin Stephen C Barton,David Wilkinson,2009-11-11 Charles Darwin's On the Origin of Species has changed the landscape of religious thought in many ways. There is a widespread assumption that before Darwin all Christians believed that the world was created some 6 000 years ago over a period of 6 days. After Darwin the first chapters of Genesis were either rejected totally by skeptics or defended vehemently in scientific creationism. This book tells a very different story. Bringing together contributions from biblical scholars, historians and contemporary theologians it is demonstrated that both Jewish and Christian scholars read Genesis in a non-literal way long before Darwin. Even during the nineteenth century there was a wide range of responses from religious believers towards evolution; many of them very positive. Stephen C Barton and David Wilkinson argue that being receptive to the continuing relevance of Genesis today regarding questions of gender, cosmology and the environment is a lively option.

The Old world Joseph Pomeroy Widney,1907    Supernal Serpent Andrei A. Orlov,2023 Supernal Serpent is a wide-ranging study of Jewish and Christian traditions about Leviathan as the underworld's ruler, the foundation of the world and the embodiment of evil. It explores the Leviathan tradition in its full historical and interpretive complexity through a broad variety of texts ranging from ancient West Asian accounts to later rabbinic and Muslim sources, paying special attention to the imagery found in the Book of Job, the Book of Revelation and the Apocalypse of Abraham. The book demonstrates that in some Jewish materials Leviathan is envisioned as a living embodiment of the most profound divine mysteries which are preserved by God from the beginning of creation to be revealed fully in the end of times.
