Larson,2025-09-16 Lessons in creative labor solidarity and inclusion under precarious economic conditions As writers musicians online content creators and other independent workers fight for better labor terms romance authors offer a powerful example and a cautionary tale about self organization and mutual aid in the digital economy In Love in the Time of Self Publishing Christine Larson traces the forty year history of Romancelandia a sprawling network of romance authors readers editors and others who formed a unique community based on openness and collective support Empowered by solidarity American romance writers once disparaged literary outcasts became digital publishing's most innovative and successful authors Meanwhile a new surge of social media activism called attention to Romancelandia's historic exclusion of romance authors of color and LGBTQ writers forcing a long overdue cultural reckoning Drawing on the largest known survey of any literary genre as well as interviews and archival research Larson shows how romance writers became the only authors in America to make money from the rise of ebooks increasing their median income by 73 percent while other authors plunged by 40 percent The success of romance writers Larson argues demonstrates the power of alternative forms of organizing influenced by gendered working patterns It also shows how networks of relationships can amplify or mute certain voices Romancelandia's experience Larson says offers crucial lessons about solidarity for creators and other isolated workers in an increasingly risky employment world Romancelandia's rise and near meltdown shows that gaining fair treatment from platforms depends on creator solidarity but creator solidarity in turn depends on fair treatment of all members Love Poems For Sweet Dreams Ben Diaz,2011-02-14 Ben Diaz who writes under the nom de plume of Natureboy and his family live in a small community called Goodrich in the state of Michigan Writing has been an ongoing hobby since he was an adolescent He enjoys the power of words and the feelings that they can evoke Ben or Natureboy as he likes to say writes poetry and the romance genre is what he enjoys writing about the most He attributes much of his poetry to life experiences and a day dreaming reverie which often draws him into love poems Ben has taken several classes in Creative Writing at local community colleges It is at that time he started really honing his poetic writing skills Free Verse is very evident in his style of writing Over the years he has rebuffed many humorous remarks about how he signed his poetry as Natureboy Ben Diaz Natureboy has become his accepted signature on his poetry and he signs it that way with a humble acceptance of how he sees himself He enjoys handcycling and finding ways to exercise in his wheelchair which is an ongoing challenge to him

Wagner and Venice Fictionalized John W. Barker,2012 The first account of how Wagner s last years and his death in Venice have been mythologized in novels and other works of the creative imagination The vast literature about Richard Wagner and his works includes a surprising number of fictional works including novels plays satires and an opera Many of these deal with his last years and his death in Venice in 1883 and even a fabricated eleventh hour romance These fictional treatments many presented here in English for the first time reveal a striking evolution in the way that Wagner's character and reputation have been viewed over more than a century They offer insights into changing contexts in Western intellectual and cultural history And they make clear how much Wagner's associations with Venice have become part of the accumulated mythology of the floating city John Barker's Wagner and Venice Fictionalized Variations on a Theme will be of interest to all lovers of opera Venice and European culture generally John W Barker is Emeritus Professor of History at the University of Wisconsin Madison specializing in medieval including Venetian history He is also a passionate music lover and record collector and an active music critic and journalist
