Gelber, Aron Goldhirsch, Beat Thürlimann, 2012-12-06 This RRCR conference volume marks number six in a 20 year evolution of international conferences on the adjuvant therapy of primary breast cancer Starting in 1978 a handful of some 80 enthusiastic breast cancer surgeons and oncologists met in a secluded mountain resort near St Gallen in Eastern Switzerland to exchange their early data of some pioneer trials on adjuvant systemic therapy of early breast cancer and to correlate their future research efforts to overcome the frustrating prognostic stagnation of this dominant neoplastic disease in Western females during the past decades Repeated every 3-4 years these St Gallen International Conferences on Adjuvant Therapy of Primary Breast Cancer have continuously grown in numbers of participants and in normative therapeutic influence by being published in major oncology journals 1-3 the last 6th conference having taken place from February 25-28 1998 with more than 1800 attendees from over 50 countries worldwide What is the fascination of adjuvant therapy in primary early breast cancer and what has changed during the last 3 years since March 1995 to justify another international gathering of this size and of the world's leading experts in the field There is no question that providing even more effective care and designing appropriate recommendations for the multitudes of patients with so called early breast cancer or at high risk of developing the disease remain highly important public health goals Revista Latinoamericana de Oncología Clínica , 1992 National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), Adjuvant Therapy for Breast Cancer Monica Castiglione, Martine J. Schwartz-Albiez, 2012-12-06 These are the Proceedings of the 2nd International Metastasis Congress of the Metastasis Research Society which took place in the town hall Stadthalle of Heidelberg FRG in September 1988 This first Metastasis Congress in the FRG was organized in conjunction with the German Association of Cancer Research SEK of the German Cancer Society The congress topic generated tremendous interest and attracted about 400 scientists from 22 countries Most participants came from Europe Israel and the United States Why did we organize the Metastasis Congress Only about 50% of all people who develop some form of cancer are curable Despite improved patient care and increasingly innovative and effective techniques for diagnosing and treating primary cancers the development of secondary cancer colonies i e metastasis can not be prevented and is the major cause of death In the Federal Republic of Germany there are still as many as 160 000 cancer patients per year who succumb to their disease often after periods of terrible suffering and this overall figure is not improving Partly because of the complexity of the process basic research on metastasis has lagged behind other disciplines such as carcinogenesis and cancer genetics Metastasis formation involves the ability of malignant cells to invade adjacent tissue and to penetrate into lymphatic or blood circulatory systems or both and to spread to near or distant sites to form new tumor colonies Meanwhile research on metastasis is receiving much attention Cancer in Children P.A. Voute, A.

Barrett, H.J.G. Bloom, J. Lemerle, M.K. Neidhardt, 2012-12-06 Cancer in Children is the first volume in this new series sponsored by the DICC on the treatment of cancer The editors and authors feel strongly that more standardization is needed on a worldwide basis in cancer therapy This of course is only possible if experts from all countries subscribe to a joint policy of making their treatment designs available to practising oncologists all over the world Current Treatment of Cancer will discuss all the equipment and methods now in use in cancer therapy It will cover all types of cancer thus providing the reader with comprehensive information on cancer management The appearance of a book on paediatric oncology as the first in the series is intentional in recent decades there has been a tremendous improvement in the treatment of cancer in children and there is hope for even further success in this fight We are convinced that this book and the series it is introducing will help us to make a concerted response to the challenge of cancer Breast Cancer David J.

Winchester, David P. Winchester, 2000 This volume offers an expert overview of breast cancer Topics range from epidemiology and genetics to diagnosis management and reconstruction Post treatment care as well as male breast cancer is also discussed Long-term Tamoxifen Treatment for Breast Cancer Virgil Craig Jordan, 1994 During the past twenty years tamoxifen has become the most widely prescribed and most successful drug used in the treatment of breast cancer In this volume editor V Craig Jordan provides articles that trace the development pharmacology and clinical research surrounding this drug which by the year 2000 could be used to treat as many as one million women annually Drawing from research conducted by specialists in the United States the United Kingdom and Italy the series of articles describes the clinical testing of tamoxifen highlighting the benefits Studies show that tamoxifen lowers cholesterol and can potentially protect women against osteoporosis and fatal coronary heart disease Equally important is a discussion of side effects and possible drug interactions and how these issues relate to patient concerns An investigation of the development of a new class of drugs for use after tamoxifen fails provides valuable insight into future treatments as the contributors consider possible resistance to tamoxifen This volume provides invaluable information for physicians and surgeons who care for patients with breast cancer and for women interested in exploring this therapeutic dimension Cancer Treatment An Update P. Banzet,J.F.

Holland,D. Khayat,M. Weil,2013-12-14 This book gathers the educational lectures and the texts of the main presentations given at the 4th International Congress on Anticancer Chemotherapy which took place in February 1993 in Paris and was attended by 5 000 oncologists from all continents physicians students and nurses This book aspires to give update of the most scientific and clinical aspects of modern oncology It aims also at showing the prospects that are opened by the rapid progress of cancer biology The editors are grateful to the authors whose scholarship defines the quality of the book Educational lectures The pathogenesis of human cancer metastasis I Fidler Cancer is a collection of malignancies with each cancer of each organ consisting of numerous subsets This biologic and clinical heterogeneity is probably due to the different etiologies origins and selection pressures Despite this heterogeneity all malignant neoplasms have a uniform characteristic the ability to invade host tissues and produce metastases Clinical observations of cancer patients and studies with experimental rodent tumors have revealed that certain tumors produce metastasis to specific organs independent of vascular anatomy rate of blood flow and number of tumor cells delivered to each organ The distribution and fate of hematogeneously disseminated radiolabelled tumor cells in experimental rodent systems amply demonstrate that tumor cells reach the microvasculature of many organs Cancer Treatment Reports ,1984 Oncologia Clínica Philip
