city cyberspace provides a snapshot of the state of Australian children's and adolescent literature in the early twenty first century and an insight into its history. In doing so it promotes a sense of where Australian literature for young people may be going and captures a literary and critical mood with which readers in Australia and beyond will identify. The title of the work is intended to capture the fact that the field has changed dramatically in the century and a half that Australian children's literature has existed from the bush myths and heroism that inform the past and the present through the recognition that the vast majority of authors and readers live in cities to the third wave of cyberliterature that incorporates multimedia hypertext weblinks and e books none of which lessens the enduring enthusiasm of practitioners and readers for books. Bush city cyberspace is not meant to be an encyclopedic volume. Rather well known recent and or award winning works have been emphasised with the addition of others where these help to illuminate particular points. The book is similar in coverage and approach to Australian Children's Literature: An Exploration of Genre and Theme written by the same three authors and published by the Centre for Information Studies in 1995. In the intervening period much has changed in the field notable examples including the blurring of the dividing line between quality and popular literature the blending of genres the rise of a truly indigenous literature the demise to a significant extent of Outbackery in fiction the acceptance of multiculturalism as the norm and the advent of the literature of cyberspace with new methods and the sheer speed of communication between writer and reader. All these trends and others are reflected in this work.

Edward Bond Letters Edward Bond, 1994 Edward Bond Letters 5 contains over thirty letters and papers covering Bond's controversial views on violence and justice plays writers and directors and a postscript that is Bond's discussion of the funeral of Diana Princess of Wales. As always the explosive content of these letters applies to Bond's plays and society as a whole. We learn through these absorbing letters his attitude to violence. Bond believes that all violence is the manifestation of an unbalanced and dangerous society. As with the four preceding volumes in this collection Edward Bond is critical of our present theatre but at the same time his observations are useful in indicating how theatre can be changed. Bond's illustrations provide a lively accompaniment to the letters.

Dearborn Independent, 1926 Adapting Chekhov J.

Douglas Clayton, Yana Meerzon, 2013 This book considers the hundred years of re-writes of Anton Chekhov's work presenting a wide geographical landscape of Chekhovian influences in drama. The volume examines the elusive quality of Chekhov's dramatic universe as an intricate mechanism, an engine in which his enigmatic characters exist as the dramatic and psychological ciphers we have been decoding for a century and continue to do so. Examining the practice and the theory of dramatic adaptation both as intermedial transformation from page to stage and as intramedial mutation from page to page, the book presents adaptation as the emerging genre of drama, theatre and film. This trend marks the performative and social practices of the new millennium, highlighting our epoch's need to engage with the history of dramatic forms and their evolution. The collection demonstrates that adaptation as the practice of transformation and as a rethinking of habitual dramatic norms and genre definitions leads to the rejuvenation of existing dramatic and performative standards, pioneering the creation of new traditions and expectations. As the major mode of the storytelling imagination, adaptation can build upon and drive the audience's horizons of expectations in theatre aesthetics. Hence, this volume investigates the original and transformative knowledge that the story of Chekhov's drama in mutations offers to scholars of drama and performance, to students of modern literatures and cultures, and to theatre practitioners worldwide. Reanimating grief William McEvoy, 2024-07-09 Reanimating grief is a wide-ranging study of the poetics of bereavement in theatre, literature and song. It examines the way cultural works reanimate the dead in the form of ghosts, memories or scenes of mourning and uses critical and creative writing to express grief's subjectivity and uniqueness. It covers classic texts from Greek tragedy and Shakespeare to works by Anton Chekhov, Samuel Beckett, Enda Walsh, Sally Rooney and Maggie O'Farrell. The book argues that the return of the dead in theatre and fiction is an act of memorial and an expression of love that illustrates the relationship between art, enchantment and impossibility. The Coleoptera of Suffolk Claude Morley, 1899 Astonish Me!

Dominic Dromgoole, 2022-10-27 A SUNDAY TIMES BEST FILM AND THEATRE BOOK OF 2022 Anyone in love with the arts will fall in love with this beautifully written and fascinating book. Kathy Burke's Astonish Me! is an adrenaline-charged rollercoaster through history's seismic first nights, exploring how individual artists can change and shape the story of culture and allow us to see ourselves in new ways. It tells of times when the air between people seems to alter as art achieves profound change across the globe and across history. Dominic Dromgoole has created a radical and fresh canon. He begins in New York in 1963 as Lorraine Hansberry remakes American theatre and a nation's perception of race. And then, as the lights go up, we find ourselves in Renaissance Florence watching Michelangelo's David being hauled into the Piazza della Signoria. The dust settles and we are transported to the birth of theatre in fifth-century Athens and then to Paris to meet with Diaghilev and Stravinsky for the Rite of Spring. We witness kabuki's creation as a radical women's performance in Kyoto, the Sex Pistols shattering Thatcherite Britain at Manchester's Free Trade Hall and watch as Hitchcock directs Psycho. The Idiot and the Odyssey Joel Stratte-McClure, 2008 When inquisitive American journalist Joel Stratte-McClure decides to walk around the Mediterranean Sea we're in for an exhilarating adventure. As a 30-year expatriate in France, he explores the coast, countryside, and regional cultures, as well as his own mind with compulsive vigour. Armed with a copy of Homer's Odyssey, he re-opens this great book for us as he ponders life, divorce, Buddhism, alcoholism, the art of trekking, and a vast collection of weird, wicked, wonderful people along the way. This is a trip to get into.

The Stray Lamb Thorne Smith, A hilarious string of adventures of poor, ordinary, faithful Mr. Lamb, who exchanges the mundane for the slightly insane when a chance encounter leads him to experience the world through the eyes of various animals.

The Fictional Arts Eli Rozik, 2011. This book is a comprehensive introduction to the analysis of fictional worlds in a set of fifteen arts, including theatre, opera, figurative ballet, mime, audio drama, figurative drawing, painting, figurative sculpture, strip cartoon, animation, puppet theatre, still photography, photo novel, silent movie, cinema, and TV drama. Due to their extreme differences, the combination of different arts in the description of a single fictional world and the translation from one medium to another are considered problematic. While such differences do not concern fictional creativity, which applies the same poetic and rhetoric rules whatever the medium, it is widely accepted that the problem lies in the extreme differences between the mediums of description. In contrast, this study explores their common grounds. These arts are iconic in nature, and if iconicity is re-defined in terms of imprinting images on matter and mediation of language, and as reflecting the common roots of these mediums in a preverbal mode of imagistic thinking, therein is an explanation of their possible combination and translation from one medium to another without impairing the receivers' reading, interpreting, and experiencing capacities. Eli Rozik analyses numerous fictional worlds in all these arts produced during the last 2,500 years of artistic creativity, especially in theatre art and cinema. This book presupposes that principles underlying the generation of descriptions of fictional worlds by the theatre medium, as proposed in two earlier works, Generating Theatre Meaning and Fictional Thinking, also apply to all the iconic fictional arts. The text book format of the volume has been purposefully designed to address the needs of undergraduate and postgraduate students, suiting the structure of university courses and providing all necessary information to access the images, artistic works discussed in the volume via the web and Google. This inter-art journey from theatre theory to the arts is compelling reading for all those involved and engaged in artistic creativity.
