Reading Media Theory Brett Mills, David M. Barlow, 2014-06-11 What does the Frankfurt School have to say about the creative industries Does the spread of Google prove we now live in an information society How is Madonna an example of postmodernism How new is new media Does the power of Facebook mean we're all media makers now This groundbreaking volume part reader part textbook helps you to engage thoroughly with some of the major voices that have come to define the landscape of theory in media studies from the public sphere to postmodernism from mass communication theory to media effects from production to reception and beyond But much more than this by providing assistance and questions directly alongside the readings it crucially helps you develop the skills necessary to become a critical informed and analytical reader Each reading is supported on the facing page by author annotations which provide comments dissect the arguments explain key ideas and terminology make references to other relevant material and pose questions that emerge from the text Key features Opening chapters What is theory and What is reading bring alive the importance of both as key parts of media scholarship Pre reading substantial Introductory sections set each text and its author in context and show the relevance of the reading to contemporary culture Post reading Reflection sections summarise each reading's key points and suggests further areas to explore and think about 4 types of annotations help you engage with the reading context content structure and writing style as well as questions to provoke further thought Split into 4 sections Reading theory Key thinkers and schools Approaches and Media Theory in context New to the second edition New chapters on New Media and Audiences as Producers Reading Media Theory will assist you in developing close reading and analytic skills It will also increase your ability to outline key theories and debates assess different case studies critically link theoretical approaches to a particular historical context and to structure and present an argument As such it will be essential reading for undergraduate and postgraduate students of media studies cultural studies communication studies the sociology of the media popular culture and other related subjects

Through Writing to Reading Brigid Smith,2005-08-08 The question of how the problems of slow readers can be caught early and remedied has been much in the news lately In this very practical book for teachers and support teachers based on extensive work in the classroom Brigid Smith shows how to exploit the links between writing and reading to give children the all important experience of literacy The children with whom she works are encouraged to dictate their own stories to a helper and then to read these back From their success in this they are gradually guided towards the skills needed to decode unfamiliar text At the same time the stories increasingly acquire features characteristic of written rather than oral language and in editing them the children practice compositional skills which would otherwise be beyond their reach Brigid Smith explains how teachers can use this approach in their own classrooms with different kinds of texts with individuals with groups and with children of all abilities While her emphasis is on enjoyment and independence for the reader she also shows how the method she suggests can fulfil the requirements of the National Curriculum and how progress can be monitored for assessment purposes

The Power of a Rich Reading Classroom CLPE,2020-02-06 There is something quite magical about forming a connection to a book the way in which the words on the page can conjure feelings of excitement fun joy laughter or tears channeling the part of our being that fundamentally makes us human The journey that children take as they travel towards becoming a competent and confident reader can be a long winding and complex road This book helps teachers understand how to build a quality reading rich curriculum that supports the needs of all the children in their classroom Starting with a section on choosing texts the book goes on to explore a variety of essential teaching approaches from a read aloud programme to drama and storytelling art and illustration This is a practical resource that provides teachers and schools ideas to support the embedding of text experience and deliver a reading rich curriculum that leads to higher student attainment and working at greater depth
