

How to Use the RACES STRATEGY TO TEACH RESPONDING TO READING

R.A.C.E.S. Strategy

Restate the question

Use words from the question to begin your response. Rewrite the question as a statement.

Answer the question

Answer the question in a complete sentence. IF there is more than one question, you may have more than one sentence.

Cite the evidence

Use specific evidence from the text to support your answer. "In the text, the author says..." "On page __, it says..."

Explain your thinking

Explain your answer and the evidence you used. You are answering the question "So what?" here. "This means..." "I think..."

Sum it up

Conclude your response by linking back to the topic sentence. Wrap up your answer and tie the ideas together. "In summary..."

Reading Race

Reading Race:

Reading Race Norman K Denzin, 2002-03-29 In this insightful book one of America's leading commentators on culture and society turns his gaze upon cinematic race relations examining the relationship between film race and culture. Acute, richly illustrated and timely, the book deepens our understanding of the politics of race and the symbolic complexity of segregation and discrimination.

Reading Race Clare Bradford, 2013-05-09 How do children's books relate to the cultures that produce them and how do they influence those cultures? In Reading Race Clare Bradford looks at representations of Australia's indigenous peoples in texts for children. She shows how these varying representations have helped to colour the attitudes, beliefs and assumptions of different generations of Australians. To what extent have children's books enabled readers to understand Aboriginal culture, relations between Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal people and relationships between Aboriginality and national identity? Bradford draws on examples from popular and literary children's books of all genres: fiction, non-fiction, picture books and school texts. She reveals that many children's books display the tensions and uncertainties inherent in relations between Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal people. Bradford also uncovers the different ideologies of race that have informed Australian children's texts from the nineteenth century to currently popular writers, demonstrating cultural shifts in the representation of Aboriginality over time. The result is a ground-breaking and intelligent picture of how Australian children's books by both white and Aboriginal writers have negotiated the matter of race. Reading Race will enhance the ways in which we come to read and understand the complex and delicate issues around Aboriginal-white relations. It will be an invaluable resource in the fields of post-colonial studies, Indigenous and Aboriginal studies, literary and cultural studies and children's literature.

Reading Race Aldon Lynn Nielsen, 1988 Reading Race examines the work of twentieth-century white American poets from Carl Sandburg to Adrienne Rich, from Ezra Pound to Allen Ginsberg, revealing within their poetry and casual writings a body of literature that transmits racism even as it sometimes speaks against it. Tracing the persistence of racial discourse, Aldon Nielsen argues that white Americans throughout their history have used a language of their own primacy, a language that treats blacks as an abstract other, an aggregate nonwhite to be acted upon and determined by whites. White discourse drapes over blacks an intricate veil of images and understandings, assertions of inferiority, metaphors of exoticism, similes of animals, tropes of fertility, nothingness and death through which whites read race and beneath which blacks remain imprisoned. Words, Nielsen writes, create and maintain relationships of power as surely as do prisons and arms. Speaking of the discourse of race in America, Nielsen identifies dead metaphors, words, images, ideas that operate in much the same way as the charged detail of Pound or the objective correlative of T. S. Eliot. Embedded in the language, they are instantly recognizable to the native speaker. Poets, when they draw upon these metaphors, demand racist thinking in order to be understood.

Reading Race in American Poetry Aldon Lynn Nielsen, 2000 Here inter-racial poets and critics join together to analyze the role that race plays in the reading and writing of American poetry.

and the role that poetry plays in our understanding of race The Reading Race Abby Klein, 2013-08-27 For use in schools and libraries only Freddy's class is competing in a read a thon and the student who reads for the most minutes will win five free books and the class will win an author visit too Freddy plans to win this contest even if it means staying up all night

Minoritized Women Reading Race and Ethnicity Mitzi J. Smith, Jin Young Choi, 2020-09-24 Nonwhite women primarily appear as marginalized voices if at all in volumes that address constructions of race ethnicity and early Christian texts Employing an intersectional approach the contributors analyze historical cultural literary and ideological constructions of racial ethnic identities which intersect with gender sexuality class religion slavery and or power Given their small numbers in academic biblical studies this book represents a critical mass of nonwhite women scholars and offers a critique of dominant knowledge production Filling a significant epistemological gap this seminal text provides provocative innovative and critical insights into constructions of race ethnicity in ancient and modern texts and contexts The Reading Race

, 2013 Arthur's Reading Race Marc Brown, 1996-06-11 Arthur promises to buy ice cream for his little sister D W if she can read ten words The twosome race to the park where D W is quick to recognize signs such as ZOO DON'T WALK POLICE and ICE CREAM When she reads WET PAINT before her big brother does Arthur is in for a colorful surprise Reading

Families Catherine Compton-Lilly, 2003 This dynamic text offers a rare glimpse into the literacy development of urban children and their families role in it Based on the author's candid interviews with her first grade students their parents and grandparents this book challenges the stereotypical view that urban parents don't care about their children's education By listening closely to the voices of her students and their families the author helps us to move beyond negative assumptions revealing complexities that have previously been undocumented Interracialism Werner Sollors, 2000-10-19 Interracialism or marriage between members of different races has formed torn apart defined and divided our nation since its earliest history This collection explores the primary texts of interracialism as a means of addressing core issues in our racial identity Ranging from Hannah Arendt to George Schuyler and from Pace v Alabama to Loving v Virginia it provides extraordinary resources for faculty and students in English American and Ethnic Studies as well as for general readers interested in race relations By bringing together a selection of historically significant documents and of the best essays and scholarship on the subject of miscegenation Interracialism demonstrates that notions of race can be fruitfully approached from the vantage point of the denial of interracialism that typically informs racial ideologies Edinburgh Companion to Queer Reading

Declan Kavanagh, Jeremy Chow, 2024-11-30 What does it mean to read queerly The Edinburgh Companion to Queer Reading upholds intersectional thinking to recognise the wide currency and appeal of queer studies for a new generation of scholars activists students and interested allies Its four interconnecting parts transling queer readings reading queer ecologies queer reading as practice and reading queer futures speak to and help to critique and foreground expansive queer epistemologies Contributors evocatively explore the relationships between queerness and genders embodiments race narrative methodology history literature media and art Bringing together emerging and established queer theorists this timely collection demonstrates how germane queer readings theories and companions are to the livelihood of interdisciplinary research and humanistic inquiry in the 2020s Habits of Whiteness Terrance MacMullan,2022-03-01 Habits of Whiteness A Pragmatist Reconstruction second edition offers a revised and updated look at the concept of whiteness in the United States Lauded when it was first published and even more relevant today Habits of Whiteness offers a distinctive way to talk about race and racism by focusing on racial habits and how to change them Author Terrance MacMullan examines how the concept of racial whiteness has undermined attempts to create a truly democratic society in the United States By getting to the core of the racism that lives on in unrecognized habits MacMullan argues that it is possible for white people to recognize the distance between their color blind ideals and their actual behavior Revitalizing the work of W E B Du Bois and John Dewey MacMullan demonstrates how it is possible to reconstruct racial habits and close fissures between people This second edition of Habits of Whiteness also contains a new introduction which looks closely at race relations during the Obama and Trump presidencies including such recent challenges as police brutality in 2020 white supremacy and the Capitol insurrection Its persuasive analysis of the impulses of whiteness ultimately reorganizes them into something more compatible with our country s increasingly multicultural heritage New Interchange Resource Book 1 Jack C. Latina/o/x Studies and Biblical Studies Jacqueline M. Hidalgo, 2020-03-09 In Latina o x Studies and Biblical Studies Jacqueline M Hidalgo introduces Latina o x studies for a biblical studies audience She examines crucial themes that bridge the two fields themes such as identity and difference with special attention to ethnicity and race migration with attention to homing diaspora transnationalism and citizenship She discusses the place of Latina o x studies in relevant Hebrew Bible and New Testament scholarship on these topics Ultimately this essay argues that Latina o x studies epistemological commitments to complexity relationality particularity and collaborative knowledge making can help ground critical interpretive approaches in biblical studies She also imagines a way in which biblical studies capaciously encompassing the study of Jewish and Christian literature in the ancient world as well as Jewish and Christian biblical reception and rejection histories and the very category of scriptures more broadly could deepen Latina o x studies own thinking about canon formation and history

Revisiting Racialized Voice David G Holmes, 2007-09-03 Revisiting Racialized Voice African American Ethos in Language and Literature argues that past misconceptions about black identity and voice codified from the 1870s through the 1920s inform contemporary assumptions about African American authorship and ethos Tracing elements of racial consciousness in the works of Frederick Douglass Charles Chesnutt W E B DuBois Zora Neale Hurston and others David G Holmes urges a revisiting of narratives from this period to strengthen and advance notions about racialized writing and to shape contemporary composition pedagogies Pointing to the intersection of African American identity literature and rhetoric Revisiting Racialized Voice begins to construct rhetorically workable yet ideologically flexible definitions of black voice Holmes maintains that political pressure to embrace color blindness endangers scholars ability to uncover links between racialized discourses of the past and those of the present and he calls instead for a reassessment of the material realities and theoretical assumptions race represents and with which it has been associated
