Sporting Rhetoric Barry Brummett, 2009 Millions of people around the world are engaged in sports and games. This volume studies the ways in which engagement is performed in popular culture. We do not just watch football; we perform by being a fan. NBA players do not simply run up and down the court. Instead, on and off the court, they perform certain roles, many informed by hip hop culture. Such performances are rhetorical; they manage attitudes, behaviors and predispositions, influencing the distribution of power. Competitive hot dog eaters, bull riding and Mexican wrestlers are some of the other sports and games covered by the contributors. The book is unique in bringing together the three themes of sports and games, performance and the rhetoric of popular culture, and is relevant for both scholarly use and classroom adoption in courses ranging from sport and society, rhetoric, composition, persuasion and argument, and popular culture. Gender in Physical Culture

Natalie Barker-Ruchti, Karin Grahn, Eva-Carin Lindgren, 2018-12-07 This volume outlines existing research relating to gender in physical culture. The introductory chapter employs Lamont and Molnar's 2002 idea of boundaries as visible and invisible, socially constructed borders that create social differences as the theoretical framework for the book. Seven empirically driven case studies follow, which on the one hand demonstrate how boundary work has taken and is taking place at the level of media institutions, communities and individuals, and on the other hand show how individuals, groups of individuals and organisations challenge and change dominant gender discourses and practices. The wide variety of rich case materials reveal how gender ideals not only normalize but are actively and purposefully negotiated and transformed to create individualised and inclusive physical culture contexts. The final chapter explores how the book builds on and extends existing gender and physical culture research. This book was originally published as a special issue of the journal Sport in Society.

When Baseball Isn't White, Straight and Male Lisa Doris Alexander, 2012-12-04 This book analyzes how sportswriters have discussed issues of race, ethnicity, nationality, sexual identity, age and class within professional baseball from 1998 to the present. Each chapter looks at the media representations of a specific controversy: the 1998 home run chase, Alex Rodriguez's historic contract signing, Barry Bonds' home runs, Mike Piazza's 'I am not gay' press conference, Effa Manley's Hall of Fame induction, the celebration of Jackie Robinson's legacy, as well as the various incidents involving performance-enhancing drugs. The author puts it together and reveals what messages are being conveyed by the issues. Tourism and Gender Annette Pritchard, 2007-01-01 While contemporary popular discourses dismiss gender and feminism as pass patriarchy and sexism continue to limit human possibilities around the globe The tourism industry can be a force for empowerment but it can also shore up exploitative gendered practices At the same time tourism enquiry itself continues to be dominated by western masculinist approaches This collection of studies seeks to advance feminist and gender tourism studies with its focus on embodiment Broad themes include the construction of narratives how discourses of desire sensuality and sexuality pervade the tourism experience the use of the body to represent femininity masculinity and sensuality and finally how travel and tourism allow for empowerment resistance and carnivalesque opportunities Communication and Sport Andrew C.
