Readings in Urban Economics Robert Wassmer, Desegregating the City David P. Varady, 2012-02-01 Desegregating the City takes a global multidisciplinary look at segregation and the strengths and weaknesses of different antisegregation strategies in the United States and other developed countries In contrast to previous works focusing exclusively on racial ghettos products of coercion this book also discusses ethnic enclaves products of choice in cities like Belfast Toronto Amsterdam and New York Since 9 11 the ghetto enclave distinction has become blurred as crime and disorder have emanated from both European immigrant ethnic enclaves and America s ghettos The contributors offer a variety of tools for addressing the problems of racial and income segregation including school integration area based fair share housing requirements place based mixed income housing development and expanded demand side residential subsidy options such as housing vouchers By exploring these alternatives and their consequences Desegregating the City provides the basis for a combination of flexible antisegregation strategies Employment Deconcentration in European Metropolitan Areas Eran Razin, Martin Dijst, Carmen Vázquez, 2007-09-06 European metropolitan areas have experienced a marked reorganization associated with the processes of globalization and the European integration of economic activities on various spatial scales Much of this change is particularly evident at the edge of central cities further away at suburban locations and on the fringes of expanding metropolitan areas These spatial processes of urban expansion sprawling development and employment deconcentration present constant challenges to urban quality of life raising concerns about excessive consumption of land and energy traffic congestion and so forth These concerns prompt the formulation of public policies at various levels of government European Union agencies national and sub national public authorities The challenges posed by the spatial reorganization of economic activities within European metropolitan areas and their implications for the quality of life inspired the research project sponsored by the European Commission 5th Framework entitled Spatial Deconcentration of Economic Land Use and Quality of Life in European Metropolitan Areas SELMA The primary goal of SELMA was to design urban planning and management strategies to ensure the maintenance of the quality of life in European metropolitan areas To this end three broad activities were defined The first focused on the identification and analysis of the driving forces and dynamics behind the process of economic land use deconcentration in metropolitan areas An analysis of the impacts of these processes on urban quality of life formed the heart of the second activity Cities and Climate Change Michelle Betsill, Harriet Bulkeley, 2003-08-27 Climate change is one of the most challenging issues of our time As key sites in the production and management of emissions of greenhouse gases cities will be crucial for the implementation of international agreements and national policies on climate change This book provides a critical analysis of the role of cities in addressing climate change and the prospects for urban sustainability Cities and Climate Change is the first in depth analysis of the role of cities in addressing climate change The book argues that key challenges concerning the resources and powers of local government as well as conflicts between local goals for economic development and climate change mitigation have restricted the level of local action on climate change These findings have significant implications for the prospects of mitigating climate change and achieving urban sustainability This book provides a valuable interdisciplinary analysis of these issues and will appeal to students and researchers interested in sustainability at local and global scales Issues in Urban Economics Harvey S. Perloff, Lowdon Wingo Jr., 2013-10-18 Classic economic considerations applied to the crucial urban problems of poverty racial segregation urban renewal transportation and education Originally published in 1968 The New Urban Economics H.W. Richardson, 2013-04-15 This book was first published in 1977 Urban economics is a relatively young field of economics hardly existing except perhaps in real estate and land economics curricula before the 1960s Within the last few years especially after 1971 there has been a growth of interest in urban economic theory strong enough even to attract the attention of general economic theorists These new theoretical writings have been named the New Urban Economics NUE for short The aim of this monograph is to survey and assess NUE to evaluate its contribution to urban economics to offer a few extensions and to say something about the future direction of the subfield Bidding for Business John Edwin

Anderson, Robert W. Wassmer, 2000 Examines the use and effectiveness of local economic development incentives in the metropolitan area of Detroit Considers especially fiscal issues e g property tax rates tax abatement industrial development bonds
