Devotional Music in the Iberian World, 1450-1800 Tess Knighton,2017-07-05 From the fifteenth century to the beginning of the nineteenth century devotional music played a fundamental role in the Iberian world. Songs in the vernacular, usually referred to by the generic name of villancico but including forms as varied as madrigals, ensaladas, tonos, cantatas or even oratorios, were regularly performed at many religious feasts in major churches, royal and private chapels, convents and in monasteries. These compositions appear to have progressively fulfilled or supplemented the role occupied by the Latin motet in other countries and as they were often composed anew for each celebration, the surviving sources vastly outnumber those of Latin compositions; they can be counted in tens of thousands. The close relationship with secular genres, both musical, literary and performative, turned these compositions into a major vehicle for dissemination of vernacular styles throughout the Iberian world. This model of musical production was also cultivated in Portugal and rapidly exported to the Spanish and Portuguese colonies in America and Asia. In many cases, the villancico repertory represents the oldest surviving source of music produced in these regions, thus affording it a primary role in the construction of national identities. The sixteen essays in this volume explore the development of devotional music in the Iberian world in this period, providing the first broad-based survey of this important genre.

His Call for the Seasons: Spring and Summer a Devotional for Youth J. A. Reid, 2016-05-09

Call out to God when fear is present
The shadow was moving behind the curtain again wafting here and there
It looked so human like someone was standing on the other side of the glass
Lord I am afraid
Maybe it is nothing but I can't sleep
I'm too afraid to look for myself
Respond to God when He is speaking to you Back outside he picked up the gas pump handle and started filling up the car
Then he heard it
That's the one
Tell her
Startled he looked around
Who was talking
The words seemed sharp firm commanding
There was no one around him
Tell her
Terence
Yes
It was Him
Release to the Lord those secrets that haunt you
Selena had kept her secret for many years
There were days when she wanted to confide in her close friends but fear of their judgment kept her silent

Missions Howard Benjamin Grose, 1920
