on the kinship structures and marriage practices of a community This starkly manifests among the Bedias in the clear separation between sisters and daughters who engage in prostitution and wives and daughters in law who do not The Bedias exemplify a situation in which prostitution of young unmarried women is the mainstay of the familial economy of an entire social group Tracing the recent origins of the practice in the community the author goes on to explore the manner in which this familial economy manifests itself in the lives of individual women and the kind of family groupings it produces She then examines the repercussion this economy has on the lives of Bedia men how the problem of their marriage is resolved and how the Bedia wives become repositories of female purity which otherwise stands jeopardized by Bedia sisters engaged in prostitution
