Redating the New Testament John A. T. Robinson, 2000-10-31 On the basis that the fall of Jerusalem is never mentioned in the New Testament writings as a past fact Dr Robinson defends that the books of the New Testament were written before A D 70 contradicting of course the consensus of generations of Bible scholars

Rethinking the Dates of the New Testament Jonathan Bernier, 2022-05-03 This paradigm shifting study is the first book length investigation into the compositional dates of the New Testament to be published in over forty years It argues that with the notable exception of the undisputed Pauline Epistles most New Testament texts were composed twenty to thirty years earlier than is typically supposed by contemporary biblical scholars What emerges is a revised view of how quickly early Christians produced what became the seminal texts for their new movement

A Biblical-Theological Introduction to the New Testament Michael J. Kruger, 2016-05-31 Introductions to the New Testament often take a defensive stance focusing on historical critical issues but failing to address the interests and needs of pastors and Bible teachers However with an emphasis on the theology key themes and overall message of each book in the New Testament this collaborative effort of nine biblical scholars takes a more positive and pastorally relevant approach Written from a distinctly Reformed covenantal and redemptive historical perspective this theologically rich expositional resource will equip readers to study and teach each book in the New Testament with clarity and insight

The Making of the New Testament Documents E. Earle Ellis, 2021-10-25 The Making of the New Testament Documents investigates literary tradition and their implications for the authorship origin and dating of the New Testament Gospels and letters Building upon earlier research it identifies and compares preformed pieces that in the letters call into question the traditional view that the letters were the sole product of an individual whose authorship could be vetted by internal criteria of vocabulary style and theological expression The numerous and diverse epistolary traditions many non authorial argue for a kind of corporate authorship that until now has been unappreciated and apparently unknown to critical scholarship A comparison of the traditions and of the common opposition they sometimes have in view supports a synchronic relationship of the various New Testament documents all of which with the exception of John s Gospel and letters reflect the pre AD 70 period It thus challenges the tradition of F C Baur still widely followed that apart from a few Pauline letters dates New Testament writings from the last decades of the first century to the first half of the second The author contends that the New Testament is the product of four contemporaneous and cooperating apostolic missions each of which produced a Gospel and a number of letters and each of which faced the same judaizing gnosticizing countermission These four allied missions shared both Gospel and epistolary traditions even as they pursued their discrete tasks in the service of the church The arguments of this book if persuasive will require a reassessment of the history of early Christianity This publication has also been published in paperback please click here for details

Sturdy, 2014-12-18 Was the New Testament written in the early first century CE or at a much later date Sturdy's work was conceived as a reply to John Robinson's Reading the New Testament which dated the New Testament material very early Sturdy argued that the Pauline letters are in places interpolated Colossians Ephesians and the Pastorals are pseudonymous and that Luke and Acts are not by the same author He believed that Matthew was the last Synoptic Gospel to be written with John assigned to the period 140 CE Redrawing the Boundaries offers a radical approach to New Testament Studies that stands in a long tradition of scholarship represented by the Tuebingen School in Germany

Did Jesus Really Rise from the Dead? Thomas A. Miller, 2013-02-28 How can a respected scientist believe in the resurrection Can I trust the Bible's account that Jesus actually rose from the dead If the resurrection really occurred of what importance is it to you and me Our ready embrace of the authority of science has left many doubting that Jesus's resurrection was a verifiable historical event Yet Thomas Miller an experienced scientist and well respected surgeon challenges the notion that modern medicine has disproved the possibility of the resurrection Through careful investigation of the evidence and evaluation of its reliability Dr Miller demonstrates that science and religion are not incompatible and makes a compelling case for the reality of the resurrection
