Reena And Other Stories:

Reena and Other Stories Paule Marshall, 1983 This collection of Paule Marshall's short works illustrates the growth of a remarkable writer For the first time these stories long out of print or difficult to obtain appear together in a single volume Introducing the volume is Marshall's much acclaimed autobiographical essay From the Poets in the Kitchen from the New York Times Book Review's series called The Making of a Writer This collection included newly written autobiographical headnotes to each story and Merle a novella excerpted from Marshall's 1969 novel The Chosen Place The Timeless People and extensively reshaped and rewritten for this collection It stands as an independent story about one of the most memorable women in contemporary fiction

Telling Stories Jacqueline Bardolph, André Viola, Jean-Pierre Durix, 2001 The present volume is a highly comprehensive assessment of the postcolonial short story since the thirty six contributions cover most geographical areas concerned Another important feature is that it deals not only with exclusive practitioners of the genre Mansfield Munro but also with well known novelists Achebe Armah Atwood Carey Rushdie so that stimulating comparisons are suggested between shorter and longer works by the same authors In addition the volume is of interest for the study of aspects of orality dialect dance rhythms circularity and trickster figure for instance and of the more or less conflictual relationships between the individual character or implied author and the community Furthermore the marginalized status of women emerges as another major theme both as regards the past for white women settlers or the present for urbanized characters primarily in Africa and India The reader will also have the rare pleasure of discovering Janice Kulik Keefer's Fox her version of what she calls in her commentary displaced autobiography or creative non fiction Lastly an extensive bibliography on the postcolonial short story opens up further possibilities for research

New

York and Toronto Novels after Postmodernism Caroline Rosenthal, 2011 Cities are material and symbolic spaces through which nations define their cultural identities The great cities that have arisen on the North American continent have stimulated the imaginations of the United States and Canada in very different ways This first comparative study of North American urban fiction starts out by delineating the sociohistorical and literary contexts in which cities grew into diverging symbolic spaces in American and Canadian culture After an overview of recent developments in the cultural conception of urban space the book takes New York and Toronto fiction as exemplary for exploring representations of the urban after postmodernism It analyzes four twenty first century novels two set in New York Siri Hustvedt's What I Loved and Paule Marshall's The Fisher King and two set in Toronto Carol Shields's Unless and Dionne Brand's What We All Long For While these texts continue to echo the specific traditions of nation building and canon formation in the United States and Canada they also share certain features All of them investigate the affective crossroads of the city while returning to a more realistic mode of representation Caroline Rosenthal is Professor of American Literature at the Friedrich Schiller University in Jena Germany

The Blackademic Life Lavelle Porter, 2019-10-15 The Blackademic Life critically examines academic fiction produced by black writers Lavelle Porter evaluates the depiction of academic and campus life in literature as a space for black writers to produce counternarratives that celebrate black intelligence and argue for the importance of higher education particularly in the humanistic tradition Beginning with an examination of W E B Du Bois's creative writing as the source of the first black academic novels Porter looks at the fictional representations of black intellectual life and the expectations that are placed on faculty and students to be racial representatives and spokespersons whether or not they ever intended to be The final chapter examines blackacademics on stage and screen including in the 2014 film Dear White People and the groundbreaking television series A Different World

Mercy, Mercy Me James C. Hall, 2001-10-19 Using an interdisciplinary approach this book argues that American artistry in the 1960s can be understood as one of the most vital and compelling interrogations of modernity James C Hall finds that the legacy of slavery and the resistance to it have by necessity made African Americans among the most incisive critics and celebrants of the Enlightenment inheritance Focusing on the work of six individuals Robert Hayden William Demby Paule Marshall John Coltrane Romare Bearden and W E B DuBois Mercy Mercy Me seeks to recover an American tradition of evaluating the dialectic of the Enlightenment
