

A woman with long dark hair, wearing a white long-sleeved shirt and a floral skirt, is walking on a beach. She is seen from the back, looking out at the ocean. The sky is a warm, golden yellow, suggesting a sunset or sunrise. The water reflects the light, creating a shimmering effect. The overall mood is peaceful and reflective.

Making Memories David W. Krueger, 2000-02-01 These essays and lessons are a prolonged reflection on that final hug given and received when my two children departed for college In these essays I try to draw the enduring qualities of the process of being a parent from the moments and incidents of my own experience I write of teaching our children to listen to their own internal voice so that they do not waste time in adulthood searching for something missing from childhood And of listening to our own head and heart as parents I write of momentary acknowledgements of the model we provide as a person the everyday creativity of parenting love being a verb reverse truths admirable restraint and adolescent storms I write of postponed revelations such as how heroes change how we ultimately become unemployed as parents and the how the shadow of the past lengthens Our children teach us much about ourselves not all of which we necessarily want to learn All we can know here together on the floor of our children s souls is that everything we do as parents matters Finally by the time we've got the rhythm of the thing it's over Making Memories documents how children give birth to their parents It is about learning from our children and ultimately learning to say goodbye to them so they can mean it when they say it back to us Because I Said So! John Rosemond,1996-08 Contains over three hundred sixty tips on raising children including common sense advice on spoiled children sibling rivalry and television issues My Child, My Disciple Reverend R.
