Beyond Reflective Practice Helen Bradbury, Nick Frost, Sue Kilminster, Miriam Zukas, 2012-09-11 Reflective practice has moved from the margins to the mainstream of professional education However in this process its radical potential has been subsumed by individualistic rather than situated understandings of practice Presenting critical perspectives that challenge the current paradigm this book aims to move beyond reflective practice It proposes new conceptualisations and offers fresh approaches relevant across professions Contributors include both academics and practitioners concerned with the training and development of professionals Definitions of reflection which are often implicit often focus on the individual s internal thought processes and responsibility for their actions The individual what they did thought felt is emphasised with little recognition of context power dynamics or ideological challenge This book presents the work of practitioners educators academics and researchers who see this as problematic and are moving towards a more critical approach to reflective practice With an overview from the editors and fourteen chapters considering new conceptualisations professional perspectives and new practices Beyond Reflective Practice examines what new forms of professional reflective practice are emerging It examines in particular the relationships between reflective practitioners and those upon whom they practise It looks at the ways in which the world of professional work has changed and the ways in which professional practice needs to change to meet the needs of this new world It will be relevant for those concerned with initial and ongoing professional learning both in work and in educational contexts Practice Learning in the Caring Professions Dave Evans,2016-12-05 Dave Evans makes a convincing case that practice learning occupies a central role in the education and training of the caring professions In doing so he affirms the activities of many service agency staff involved in practice teaching and assessment and offers them clear models and illustrative examples to aid their development He also explores ways in which practice learning and assessment can be effectively developed in academic settings Best Practice in Professional Supervision, Second Edition Allyson Davys,Liz Beddoe,2020-12-21 This second edition of Best Practice in Professional Supervision is a fully updated and revised guide to being an excellent supervisor in the social care nursing counselling and allied health professions This field has developed rapidly in the past 10 years and this new edition contains essential updates reflecting the very latest research and practice The book covers basic skills the practicalities of forming and maintaining the supervision relationship and the organisational context and culture of supervision Viewing supervision as a place for learning the book also considers how supervision can help practitioners to develop professional resilience and promote their own wellbeing despite the stresses of complex work environments It also includes specific chapters on supervision of clinical student placements and in child protection settings Full of clinical case vignettes illustrating good practice this is an essential guide for all those undertaking supervision or supervision training Learning Critical Reflection Laura Béres,Jan Fook,2019-08-13 Learning Critical Reflection documents the actual learning experiences of social work students and practitioners It explores how a more in depth understanding of the process of learning combined with an analysis of how to critically reflect will help improve the learning process The contributors are all professionals who have learnt in a formalised way how to critically reflect on their practice They speak in depth and with feeling about their experiences how downsides and upsides worked together to transform the way they understood themselves their professional identity and their practice Existing literature about critical reflection is reviewed identifying the details of learning and pulling no punches in recognising the difficulty and complexity of becoming transformed through this learning process The editors of this book also contribute their own reflections on learning how to teach critical reflection and include the findings of a research study conducted on students learning Edited by two experienced educators this book showcases the process of learning from the perspective of the learners in order that educators and students managers supervisors and frontline practitioners alike may make the most of opportunities to critically reflect in both educational and workplace settings It should be considered essential reading for social work students practitioners and educators Researching Critical Reflection Jan Fook,Val

Collington, Fiona Ross, Gillian Ruch, Linden West, 2015-10-05 Critical reflection helps professionals to learn directly from their practice experience so that they can improve their own work in an ongoing and flexible way something essential in today's complex and changing organisations It allows change to be managed in a way which enables individuals to preserve a sense of what is fundamentally important to them as professionals It is particularly important as it can also help make sense of some fundamental issues and so also has implications for how we live our lives However more systematic research on critical reflection is needed to help us understand what works best for professionals in different settings This timely work explores how critical reflection is researched evaluated and used as a research method itself with the aim of improving how it is taught and practised in a rigorous and transferable way Developing a more comprehensive and multi disciplinary view of the current state of critical reflection and the research directions which need to be taken the book is divided into four parts It Provides an overview of different perspectives on critical reflection and stimulates dialogue between them Establishes some common platforms from which to develop further research directions Identifies the major issues in evaluating critical reflection teaching and main methods for doing so Contributes to social science methodological innovations by exploring how methods based on critical reflection can be used for researching professional practice Contains contributions from academics who are internationally known and highly experienced in different aspects of critical reflection Researching Critical Reflection is an important reference for all students practitioners and researchers including in the areas of education management health and social work who engage with critical reflection to develop their practice Early Childhood Studies Rod Parker-Rees, Caroline Leeson, 2015-07-13 For students of Early Childhood Studies questions are as important as answers What is childhood Is childhood the same in all cultures How do children grow and develop What space do we make for children in our society How do adults approach risk and what does this mean for children Can children's play be planned by adults Early Childhood Studies tackles these questions and more It explores the why how and what of studying and working with young children and their families considering how a range of theories can help us to identify useful questions This is a comprehensive up to date challenging and accessible core text for the Early Childhood Studies course Throughout key theories and research findings are highlighted and explored to help link theory and practice It covers the important themes of child development communication wellbeing observation working with parents inclusive practice leadership and research This fourth edition has been fully updated throughout and includes new chapters on children and risk inclusive learning environments play and adults concepts of childhood Effective Learning and Teaching in Social Policy and Social Work Hilary Burgess, Imogen Taylor, 2004-11-10 Written to meet the needs of teachers lecturers tutors and trainers this is the essential guide to understanding the key issues in learning and teaching in social policy and social work as well as related areas such as early childhood studies youth and community work and probation studies The field of social care is constantly changing and this book acts as an accessible introduction to all the core concerns that will be critical to teaching professionals working in the field today Key areas covered include curriculum planning design and delivery of teaching assessment promoting inclusion e learning and interprofessional practice This book also aims to provide an international perspective outlining innovative best practice from around the world Written for undergraduate and postgraduate level teaching less experienced teachers looking for authoritative expert guidance will find this title indispensable as will more experienced professionals seeking material for reflection

Transfer of Learning in Professional and Vocational Education Vivienne E. Cree, Cathlin Macaulay, 2000 In this book the authors unpack the concept of transfer of learning examine it in relation to current debates in education and show how it can be used most effectively to benefit students

Developing Learning In Professional Education Taylor, Imogen, 1997-10-01 This book is about professional education and developing the required knowledge and skills to equip students for the pressing needs of professional practice Student professionals from health care teaching business law and social work must learn how to practise both independently to respond to a constantly changing environment and collaboratively to respond to the complexity of today's society also they must learn how to work in partnership with the consumers of professional services Imogen Taylor explores how professional education can develop approaches to teaching and learning which both help learners to be reflexive self monitoring practitioners and meet the requirements of professional accrediting bodies She draws upon her own research into students experiencing professional education based on small group problem based learning on an extensive range of relevant international theory and research and on her own long experience in professional education training and practice This is a timely addition to the literature which provides a challenge to professional education both through its portrayal of a highly innovative problem based course and the rich detail of students experience which shows how a learner centred approach can impact on participants and through its location in much wider contexts of teaching and learning in professional education and in debates about the relationship between university education and professional practice Professor David Boud At a time when attention is being directed increasingly towards lifelong learning this book offers an extremely timely guide to the development of the learning skills needed to make this a reality Readable relevant and full of practical illustrations it will be widely read by educators in a variety of professional contexts Professor Patricia Broadfoot This is an important resource for all those educators and trainers in professional education seeking to improve their own practice

Learning and Teaching in Social Work Margaret Yelloly, 1995 This book addresses contemporary themes in the professional education of social workers The contributors raise important questions about the nature and purpose of professional social work practice in a modern changing and complex society
