Confessional Theology? Rothney S.

Tshaka, 2010-04-16 Christian confessions are usually seen as statements of faith which has no relationship with politics The result is a tendency to view these documents as theological but not political This study discusses this misconception but adds that although these documents are not to be perceived as political per se that they can nonetheless not ignore the political contexts from which they emerge Two confessional documents are discussed to illustrate the point viz the Barmen Theological Declaration 1934 in Nazi Germany as well as the Belhar Confession 1986 during apartheid South Africa The findings of the study is that the theology of Karl Barth and therefore the Belhar Confession establishes an unavoidable link between Christian confessions and politics The word confession is used here in relation to Barth's interpretation of our responsibility to speak about God because of the fact that we are Christian and also our inability to speak about God as if God is known in God's entirety to us Seen in this way confessional theology is opposed to tendencies that give the impression that we are able to speak about God as if we know Him in His entirety Five characteristics in the theology of Barth are investigated These characteristics illustrate the degree to which theology is related to politics It also points to the fact that politics was never a marginal factor in the theological reflections of Barth The study suggests that the theology of Barth remains relevant because it interprets the Word in a manner that does not ignore the contexts in which this interpretation of the Word takes place The study furthermore suggests that the entire theology of Barth can be construed as confessional theology It arrives at this end and makes very clear that confessional theology differs fundamentally from confessionalism but that confessional theology always calls for those who espouse it to embody that which is confessed To uphold the characteristics of confessional theology in the theology of Barth it is agreed that his theology continued to play significant roles in different theological contexts It is because of this view that it is argued that the theology of Barth had a great influence on the Belhar Confession The debate around the Belhar Confession brings further important questions about the theological situation in South Africa today In the end it is suggested that confessional theology is a significant theological method which can safeguard theology from the claws of theologised politics Confessional theology can thus make a significant contribution to the current theological debates in democratic South Africa

Bierma, 2021-06-15 Font of Pardon and New Life is a study of the historical development and impact of John Calvin's doctrine of baptism both adult or believer baptism and infant baptism Did Calvin intend to teach a kind of baptismal forgiveness and regeneration that is did he believe that the external sign of baptism actually conveys the spiritual realities it signifies If baptism does serve in some way as an instrument of divine grace for Calvin what then are the roles of the Word the Holy Spirit divine election and individual faith Are spiritual blessings conferred only in adult believer baptism or also in the baptism of infants Did Calvin's teaching on baptismal efficacy remain constant throughout his lifetime or did it undergo significant change What impact did it have on the Reformed confessional tradition that followed him Lyle D Bierma approaches these questions by examining Calvin's writings on baptism in their entirety proceeding chronologically through Calvin's life and writings including his

Institutes commentaries on the Bible catechisms polemical treatises and consensus documents Bierma concludes that Calvin understood baptism as a means or instrument of both assurance and grace His view underwent some change and development over the course of his life but not to the extent that some in the past have suggested The overall trajectory of his baptismal theology was one of increasing clarity and refinement of basic themes already present in incipient form in the Institutes of 1536

Recruiting the Ancients for the Creation Debate Andrew J. Brown,2023-10-05 A careful and unbiased analysis of how thinkers from church history interpreted the creation narrative in Genesis How literally are we meant to take the creation week of Genesis 1 In this polarizing debate contemporary interpreters invoke great theologians from history to support their own side whether that be a young Earth theistic evolution or any other view The problem lies in trying to force ancient authors into contemporary boxes as Andrew J Brown shows in this thought provoking volume Covering Philo Basil

Augustine Thomas Aquinas Martin Luther John Calvin John Wesley and more Brown carefully interprets great thinkers readings of Genesis 1 in their intellectual contexts He then assesses how these authors have been subject to cherry picking and misappropriation in the trenches of the modern creation debate By studying the intellectual history of the church in this way to revisit rather than recruit the ancients we can enrich our own biblical interpretation Irenic and magisterial Brown s guide will interest both scholars of historical theology and anyone invested in the creation debate

The Apostles' Creed Jonathan F. Bayes,2010-09-09 Throughout the centuries churches all over the world have confessed their faith in the words of The Apostle s Creed The Creed is a brilliant summary of the essence of biblical truth But as this book shows the Creed is not just a dry statement of abstract doctrines It is an expression of passion As they composed the Creed the earliest Christians were giving voice to their passion for the God who has made himself known in the person of Jesus Christ The Creed stands as an invitation to believers of every generation to that same passionate commitment which has marked our predecessors in the faith This book expounds the Creed phrase by phrase and seeks at every point to apply its teaching to the life of believers in the world of today Taking the Creed as his starting point and framework Jonathan Bayes presents a wide ranging account of Christian theology His reflections on the Creed lead to some challenging and stimulating meditations on various aspects of biblical teaching

The Son of God Beyond the Flesh Andrew M. McGinnis,2014-07-31 The so called extra Calvinisticum the doctrine that the incarnate Son of God continued to exist beyond the flesh was not invented by John Calvin or Reformed theologians If this is true as is almost universally acknowledged today then why do scholars continue to fixate almost exclusively on Calvin when they discuss this doctrine The answer to the why of this scholarly trend however is not as important as correcting the trend This volume expands our vision of the historical functions and christological significance of this doctrine by expounding its uses in Cyril of Alexandria Thomas Aquinas Zacharias

Ursinus and in theologians from the Reformation to the present Despite its relative obscurity the doctrine that came to be known as the Calvinist extra is a possession of the church catholic and a feature of Christology that ought to be carefully appropriated in contemporary reflection on the Incarnation Calvinus sacrarum literarum interpres Herman J.
