Reforming Schools:

Professionalism and Community Karen Seashore Louis, Sharon D. Kruse, 1995-03-24 Authors Louis and Kruse examine the question Why do some school communities succeed and others fail They take a look at five urban schools that have been attempting restructuring for several years enough time to show results They describe how the development of a professional community or the lack thereof impacts the implementation of change and how teachers efforts at professionalism can positively affect the process Focusing on the structural social and human conditions of schooling the authors describe how to form a professional community Using their extensive research on professionalism they develop a framework for evaluating the elements of community and then use the framework to present a cross case analysis of various schools in the study Professionalism and Community is a potent source of information for all policymakers and school leaders who are committed to long term effective change It reveals a significant reason why so many well intentioned well planned reforms fail in spite of individual commitment and the heroic efforts of the participants By observing those who have gone before readers can learn important lessons from this study and discover the keys to making their own reform efforts work Reforming Schools

Kimberly Kinsler, Mae Gamble, 2001-06-01 Reforming Schools will transform the study of school reform development and improvement It not only provides an overview of research findings professional and political issues and policy developments and their history it also relates such thinking to practice through a rich and multi faceted case study of school reform Particular emphasis is given to urban schooling with a candid look at what can be learned not only from successful school reforms but also from failure Throughout the book readers are guided by questions points for reflection and hypothetical exercises that facilitate interaction with case study material This book enables the reader to experience what it is like to be involved in the field as no other book on school reform does This is the first true textbook in this area written in an accessible style and supported by thought provoking questions and useful exercises Reforming Schools Kimberly Kinsler, Mae

Gamble, 2004-12-30 Reforming Schools will transform the study of school reform development and improvement It not only provides an overview of research findings professional and political issues and policy developments and their history it also relates such thinking to practice through a rich and multi faceted case study of school reform Particular emphasis is given to urban schooling with a candid look at what can be learnt not only from successful school reforms but also from failure The authors provide questions and exercises throughout to help readers interact with case study material Reforming Schools enables the readers to experience what it is like to work in the field in a way that no other book on school reform does

Reforming Schools Jesse Goodman, 2012-02-01 In Reforming Schools Jesse Goodman discusses the possibilities struggles and complexities involved in reforming today s schools Drawing from his own experiences at the Harmony Education Center a progressive educational center he helped establish in 1990 Goodman offers a vision of how to persevere at a time when many progressive educators are feeling discouraged He focuses on practical ideas for reform such as establishing school autonomy creating democratic structures rituals and values upon which school reform discourse can be generated and by addressing the current conservative agenda how to influence what happens in our nation s public schools By situating school reform within a progressive history of Western society the author offers valuable insights and ideas that are alternatives to both the conservative and the radical left analyses of schools and society Reforming Schools Jesse

Reforming Education and Changing Schools Richard Bowe,Stephen J. Ball,Anne Gold,2017-04-28 The Education Reform Act introduced in England and Wales in 1988 brought about enormous changes in schools both as management units and as educational institutions This book first published in 1992 was the first to look at the effects of the Act in all its aspects on the basis of empirical evidence gathered from schools over the first three years of the Act s implementation It looks at how change is being achieved in the Local Management of Schools the influence of the market on schools the introduction of the National Curriculum and the place of Special Needs provision in the new education scene This book will be of interest to all who want to know about educational reform in Britain It will also be of interest to those in the fields of education policy educational management and sociology of education Reforming Schools in the 1980s A. Harry Passow,1984 Living up to Your School Mission Statement Alan C. Jones,2021-11-15 All school districts have written statements of the educational values and goals that members of the school community believe are important and worth pursuing They display these on the front page of all school district public relations packets and on the walls of school and district offices While all segments of the school community enthusiastically embrace the values and goals stated in the documents rarely if ever do they practice these goals and values in classrooms or administrative offices The gap between the educational ideals spoken from auditorium stages and the instructional regimes students experience in classrooms is the result of schools designed to achieve institutional goals accountability standardization and efficiency rather than educational goals thoughtfulness deep knowledge and critically informed citizens This book is aimed at school administrators whose goal is restoring the why of schooling to the organizational structures and instructional routines that currently govern public schooling in this nation

The Business of Reforming American Schools Denise Gelberg,1997-01-01 Focusing on the influence of the business community on schools this book describes how popular business management theories and production processes have been imported into schools during periods of societal upheaval in order to create a sense of order and efficiency while meeting the objective of producing a workforce that meets the specifications set down by employers Unlike other books that say why schools need to be reformed or how that reform should proceed this study takes a critical look at the latest call to restructure schools in light of the economic social and political forces that affect the education establishment and the children of our nation Reforming or Re-inventing Schools? John MacBeath,Maurice Galton,John Bangs,2019-12-05 What has changed and what will change in the next decade Reforming or Re inventing Schools revisits some of the key issues in school and system reform with a reflection on developments in the English education system and internationally It offers an insightful review and critique of education principles and their relationship to school practice exploring some of the myths as well as examining the potential value of comparative data Drawing on new evidence and interviews with a group of policy makers and academics on the British and international stages this book asks What do parents children and society want from a system of education What motivates teachers to join the profession and why do such large numbers leave so soon What are the roots of misunderstanding and mismanagement in provision support and accountability How do teachers communicate support and exchange ideas with each other How do we measure positive change Examining the roots and conditions for growth and comparing and contrasting the situation in the United Kingdom with innovative development taking place elsewhere in the rest of the world Reforming or Re inventing Schools is an essential read for anyone interested in school and country performance at a national and international level

Comprehensive Reform for Urban High Schools Nettie E. Legters, 2002 This text offers the Talent Development Approach as an alternative to contemporary US educational reform efforts It details organizational curricular and instructional strategies to provide practitioners with a workable blueprint for whole school reform

Building Civic Capacity, 2001 The authors of this volume argue that urban education is in urgent need of reform and that although there have been plenty of innovative and even promising attempts to improve conditions most have been doomed The reason for this they agree lies in the failure of our major cities to develop their civic capacity The ability to build and maintain a broad social and political coalition across all sectors of the urban community in pursuit of a common goal
