

I just feel so much guilt,
That my words and actions built.
I know, what I did was wrong,
Tried to avoid it, and be strong.
I'm so sorry, from deep inside, Clearly guilty, my hands are tied.
It was obviously, all my fault,
I have opened my inner vault

American Library Association. Annual Conference,1922 T. P.'s Weekly ,1915 The Chinese Dark Poet: Huang Xiang and His Colorful World Zhengming Fu (Sweden), Huang Xiang the protagonist of this book was born on 26th December 1941 in Guidong county Hunan province of central China After the Communists came to power in 1949 he was imprisoned six times and severely persecuted for his free spirited writing and his campaigns for human rights For more than thirty years this self educated poet and writer wrote secretly against the bondage of totalitarian ideology to safe guard the freedom of speech According to the author of the book Huang is a great dark poet who has expressed the painful memories fears and struggles that haunted his life creating wonderful poetic beauty in the darkness His poetic creation is a miracle in the history of Chinese contemporary literature We may say that Huang s identity as an unknown dark poet is conditioned by his personal emotional and tragic experiences of struggles while facing historical events such as the Cultural Revolution from 1966 to 1976 the April 5th Movement in 1976 the Democracy Wall Movement in 1978 and the Pro Democracy Movement in 1989 in Poetry and Prayer offers theoretical discussion on the profound connection between poetic inspiration and prayer as well as reflection on the work of individual writers and the traditions within which they stand An international range of established and new scholars in literary studies and theology offer unique contributions to the neglected study of poetry in relation to prayer Part I addresses the relationship of prayer and poetry Parts II and III consider these and related ideas from the point of view of their implementation in a range of different authors and traditions offering case studies from for example the Bible Dante Shakespeare and Herbert as well as twentieth century poets such as Thomas Merton Denise Levertov W H Auden and R S Thomas Tradition and the Individual Poem Anne Ferry,2001 A theoretical historical and critical inquiry this book looks at the assumptions anthologies are predicated on how they are put together the treatment of the poems in them and the effects their presentations have on their readers Constituent and Pattern in Poetry Archibald A. Hill,2014-07-03

Constituent and Pattern in Poetry is a collection of essays on literature and language It is built on the assumption that works of literature have existence in the real world and that they may be analyzed in a fashion that is not totally subjective Using models derived from structural linguistics Archibald A Hill presents a number of theoretical contributions to the study of poetry as well as new ways of looking at specific poems The book as a whole provides an overview of the tools and ideas Hill has developed for analyzing works of literature and it is the first time the essays have been gathered together in one volume. The book is divided into three sections: Definition of Literature and Study of Its Patterns, Types of Meaning and Imagery, and Principles for Interpreting Meaning. Each section opens with a theoretical essay followed by three essays that work analytically with specific poets and poems using the methods defined in the first. In his examination of such poets as Hopkins, Browning, Milton, Blake, Keats, and Dickinson, Hill uses such proposals as the law of least lexical contribution and maximal contextual contribution, the hypothesis that when possible meanings occur together in a cluster they support each other, and the idea that it is sometimes possible to recover underlying language sequences from which the author has departed for identifiable reasons. By applying these suppositions to the study of particular poems, Hill shows how the reader may arrive at statements about the relative artistic merit of works of literature.

Poetry & Protest Aisha Karim, Lee Sustar, 2006. We in South Africa needed the support of the international community in our efforts to end the vicious system of racial oppression called apartheid. We had to have eloquent advocates to tell the world our story and persuade it to come to our assistance. We had none more articulate and with all the credibility and integrity so indispensable than Dennis Brutus to plead our cause. He was quite outstanding, and we South Africans owe an immense debt of gratitude. Archbishop Desmond Tutu: Dennis Brutus stands as a tribune of the dispossessed. His willingness to speak out on all cases of injustice and side with the oppressed makes him the type of person we all wish to emulate. His perseverance, dedication, and eloquence have made him not only a hero for the South African freedom struggle but for all those who struggle for social justice. Bill Fletcher, TransAfrica Forum. This vital original collection of interviews, poetry, and essays of the much-loved anti-apartheid leader is the first book of its kind to bring together the full forceful range of his work. Brutus, imprisoned along with Nelson Mandela, is known worldwide for his unparalleled eloquence as an opponent of the apartheid South African regime. Since its fall, he has been a voice for justice and humanity, speaking and writing extensively on issues of debt, poverty, war, racism, and neoliberalism. Dennis Brutus is a lifelong human rights activist and poet. He was imprisoned with Nelson Mandela on Robben Island in South Africa and became an eloquent spokesperson for the anti-apartheid movement. He currently teaches African studies and literature at the University of Pittsburgh. Lee Sustar has written extensively on the global justice and labor movements for numerous publications. He is a member of the National Writers Union and lives in Chicago, Illinois.
