Kazantzakis, Volume 2 Peter Bien,2010-07-01 Putting Greek writer Nikos Kazantzakis s vast output into the context of his lifelong spiritual quest and the turbulent politics of twentieth century Greece Peter Bien argues that Kazantzakis was a deeply flawed genius not always artistically successful but a remarkable figure by any standard This is the second and final volume of Bien s definitive and monumental biography of Kazantzakis 1883 1957 It covers his life after 1938 the period in which he wrote Zorba the Greek and The Last Temptation of Christ the novels that brought him his greatest fame A demonically productive novelist poet playwright travel writer autobiographer and translator Kazantzakis was one of the most important Greek writers of the twentieth century and the only one to achieve international recognition as a novelist But Kazantzakis s writings were just one aspect of an obsessive struggle with religious political and intellectual problems In the 1940s and 1950s a period that included the Greek civil war and its aftermath Kazantzakis continued this engagement with undiminished energy despite every obstacle producing in his final years novels that have become world classics

Giving the Devil His Due Jeffrey Andrew Weinstock,Regina M. Hansen,2021-10-05 Finalist 2021 Bram Stoker Awards Superior Achievement in Non Fiction The first collection of essays to address Satan s ubiquitous and popular appearances in film Lucifer and cinema have been intertwined since the origins of the medium As humankind s greatest antagonist and the incarnation of pure evil the cinematic devil embodies our own culturally specific anxieties and desires reflecting moviegoers collective conceptions of good and evil right and wrong sin and salvation Giving the Devil His Due is the first book of its kind to examine the history and significance of Satan onscreen This collection explores how the devil is not just one monster among many nor is he the prince of darkness merely because he has repeatedly flickered across cinema screens in darkened rooms since the origins of the medium Satan is instead a force active in our lives Films featuring the devil therefore are not just flights of fancy but narratives sometimes reinforcing sometimes calling into question a familiar belief system From the inception of motion pictures in the 1890s and continuing into the twenty first century these essays examine what cinematic representations tell us about the art of filmmaking the desires of the film going public what the cultural moments of the films reflect and the reciprocal influence they exert Loosely organized chronologically by film though some chapters address more than one film this collection studies such classic movies as Faust Rosemary s Baby The Omen Angel Heart The Witch and The Last Temptation of Christ as well as the appearance of the Devil in Disney animation Guiding the contributions to this volume is the overarching idea that cinematic representations of Satan reflect not only the hypnotic powers of cinema to explore and depict the fantastic but also shifting social anxieties and desires that concern human morality and our place in the universe Contributors Simon Bacon Katherine A Fowkes Regina Hansen David Hauka Russ Hunter Barry C Knowlton Eloise R Knowlton Murray Leeder Catherine O Brien R Barton Palmer Carl H Sederholm David Sterritt J P Telotte Jeffrey Andrew Weinstock     Broken Hallelujah Darren J. Middleton,2007-01-01 Marking the fiftieth anniversary of Kazantzakis s death author Darren J N Middleton looks back on Kazantzakis s life and literary art to suggest that contrary to popular belief Kazantzakis and his views actually comport with the ideals of Christianity     Dialogic Openness in Nikos Kazantzakis Charitini Christodoulou,2012-11-15 In this book Charitini Christodoulou argues that a certain perception of openness that she calls dialogic permeates Nikos Kazantzakis The Last Temptation Partly based on Umberto Eco s theory in Opera Aperta and Mikhail Bakhtin s notion of dialogism the term dialogic openness refers to the idea of antithetical forces clashing and thus revealing different forms of tension that are not resolved at the end of the novel Thus it is shown that subjectivity and meaning is always in the process of becoming The different aspects of identity formation unfold before the eyes of the reader who becomes a witness to the leading characters process of becoming Christodoulou demonstrates that there are dialogic elements in tension which can only be brought forth not as a synthesis such as the stylistics of a genre implies but as openness perceived as a process of identity formation     Struggling with God Simon D Podmore,2013-10-31 Invoking the biblical motif of Jacob s struggle with the Face of God Genesis 32 Simon D Podmore undertakes a constructive theological account of spiritual trial tentatio known in German mystical and Lutheran tradition as Anfechtung in relation to enduring questions of the otherness and hiddenness of God and the self the problem of suffering and evil the freedom of Spirit and the anxious relationship between temptation and ordeal fear and desire This book traces a genealogy of spiritual trial from medieval German mystical theology through Lutheran and Pietistic thought Tauler Luther Arndt Boehme and reconstructs Kierkegaard s innovative yet under examined recovery of the category Anfægtelse a Danish cognate for Anfechtung within the modern context of the spiritless decline of Christendom Developing the relationship between struggle Anfechtung and release Gelassenheit Podmore proposes a Kierkegaardian theology of spiritual trial which elaborates the kenosis of the self before God in terms of Spirit's restless longing to rest transparently in God Offering an original rehabilitation of the temptation of spiritual trial this book strives for a renewed theological hermeneutic which speaks to the enduring human struggle to realise the unchanging love of God in the face of spiritual darkness Wicked Cinema Daniel S.

Cutrara,2015-05-01 From struggles over identity politics in the 1990s to current concerns about a clash of civilizations between Islam and Christianity culture wars play a prominent role in the twenty first century Movies help to define and drive these conflicts by both reflecting and shaping cultural norms as well as showing what violates those norms In this pathfinding book Daniel S Cutrara employs queer theory cultural studies theological studies and film studies to investigate how cinema represents and often denigrates religion and religious believers an issue that has received little attention in film studies despite the fact that faith in its varied manifestations is at the heart of so many cultural conflicts today Wicked Cinema examines films from the United States Europe and the Middle East including Crimes and Misdemeanors The Circle Breaking the Waves Closed Doors Agnes of God Priest The Last Temptation of Christ and Dogma Central to all of the films is their protagonists struggles with sexual transgression and traditional belief systems within Christianity Judaism or Islam a struggle Cutrara argues that positions believers as the Other and magnifies the abuses of religion while ignoring its positive aspects Uncovering a hazardous web of ideological assumptions informed by patriarchy the spirit flesh dichotomy and heteronormativity Cutrara demonstrates that ultimately these films emphasize the Otherness of the faithful through a variety of strategies commonly used to denigrate the queer from erasing their existence to using feminization to make them appear weak to presenting them as dangerous fanatics Struggle for Freedom Basilius J. Hollywood Under Siege Thomas R Lindlof,2008-08-08 In 1988 director Martin Scorsese fulfilled his lifelong dream of making a film about Jesus Christ Rather than celebrating the film as a statement of faith churches and religious leaders immediately went on the attack alleging blasphemy At the height of the controversy thousands of phone calls a day flooded the Universal switchboard and before the year was out more than three million mailings protesting the film fanned out across the country For the first time in history a studio took responsibility for protecting theaters and scrambled to recruit a field crisis team to guide The Last Temptation of Christ through its contentious American openings Overseas the film faced widespread censorship actions with thirteen countries eventually banning the film The response in Europe turned violent when opposition groups sacked theaters in France and Greece and caused injuries to dozens of moviegoers Twenty years later author Thomas R Lindlof offers a comprehensive account of how this provocative film came to be made and how Universal Pictures and its parent company MCA became targets of the most intense unremitting attacks ever mounted against a media company. The film faced early and determined opposition from elements of the religious Right when it was being developed at Paramount during the last year the studio was run by the celebrated troika of Barry Diller, Michael Eisner, and Jeffrey Katzenberg. By the mid 1980s Scorsese's film was widely regarded as unmakeable, a political stick of dynamite that no one dared touch. Through the joint efforts of two of the era's most influential executives, CAA president Michael Ovitz and Universal Pictures chairman Thomas P. Pollock, this improbable project found its way into production. The making of The Last Temptation of Christ caught evangelical Christians at a moment when they were suffering a crisis of confidence in their leadership. The religious right seized on the film as a way to rehabilitate its image and to mobilize ordinary citizens to attack liberalism in art and culture. The ensuing controversy over the film's alleged blasphemy escalated into a full-scale war fought out very openly in the media. Universal/MCA faced unprecedented calls for boycotts of its business interests; anti-Semitic rhetoric and death threats were directed at MCA chairman Lew Wasserman and other MCA executives, and the industry faced the specter of violence at theaters. Hollywood Under Siege draws upon interviews with many of the key figures: Martin Scorsese, Paul Schrader, Michael Ovitz, Jeffrey Katzenberg, Jack Valenti, Thomas P. Pollock, and Willem Dafoe, to explore the trajectory of the film from its conception to the subsequent epic controversy and beyond. Lindlof offers a fascinating dissection of a critical episode in the embryonic culture wars, illuminating the explosive effects of the clash between the interests of the media industry and the forces of social conservatism.

The Lost Decade Chris Horn, 2023-10-19 Provides an analysis of Hollywood from a fresh viewpoint that shows the careers of Robert Altman, Francis Coppola, William Friedkin, and others in the 1980s as far from conforming to a monolithic pattern of decline but rather as diverse and complex responses to political and industrial changes. The 1980s are routinely seen as the era of the blockbuster and of Reaganite entertainment, whereas the dominant view of late 1960s and early 1970s American film history is that of a Hollywood Renaissance, a relatively brief window of artistry based around a select group of directors. Yet key directors associated with the Renaissance period remained active throughout the 1980s, and their work has been obscured or dismissed by a narrow, singular model of American film history. This book deals with industrial contexts that conditioned these directors' ability to work creatively, but it is also very much about the analysis of individual films, bringing to light a range of unheralded work from the visual experimentation of One from the Heart (Coppola, 1981) to the experimental production contexts of Secret Honor (Altman, 1984) and the stylistic leanings of To Live and Die in L.A. (Friedkin, 1985). Behind the homogenous picture of the decline of the auteur in 1980s American cinema are films and careers that merit greater attention, and this book offers a new way to perceive individual films, American film history, and the viability of sustained authorial creativity within post-studio era Hollywood.
