

The Scandinavians in Australia, New Zealand and the Western Pacific

BY
J. LYNCH

The number of Scandinavians (Danes, Norwegians, and Swedes) who in the course of time have left their native shores to settle in Australia is little short of 50,000, but as northern Europeans are so easily assimilated in British communities, their presence has been little noticed. In this book the history of the Scandinavians who came to Australia is told in detail.

The part played by the Scandinavians in New Zealand and the Western Pacific has not been dealt with before.
