Scapegoat How The Army Betrayed Kyle Brown:

Scapegoat Peter Worthington, Kyle Brown, 1997 One of Canada's finest reporters reveals the true story of the murder in Somalia the scapegoating of the wrong man and the shocking cover up by the Canadian army March 16 1993 A Somali teenager is tortured and beaten to death by Canadian peacemakers from the Airborne Regiment Kyle Brown a young trooper from Edmonton is initially present but he commits only a minor offense He is not there when Shidane Arone is killed and he is later commended for coming forward with information Two weeks later however Brown is under arrest for torture and murder Those most responsible go free and lower ranks are punished more Kyle Brown eventually convicted of torture and manslaughter has become the scapegoat in one of the most shameful events in the history of the Canadian army Who killed Shidane Arone Who covered it up and why What has happened to those responsible What went wrong in the Canadian Airborne Regiment

The Hazing Reader Hank Nuwer, 2004-01-29 Despite numerous highly publicized incidents and widespread calls for reform hazing continues to plague many of the nation's institutions In this volume noted hazing researcher Hank Nuwer presents 15 essays that can help all of us parent and professional alike better understand the culture of hazing

Another Kind of Justice Chris Madsen, 2011-11-01 Another Kind of Justice is the first historical survey of Canadian military law providing insights into military justice in Canada the purpose of military law and the level of legal professionalism within the Canadian military Drawing on a wide range of materials Chris Madsen traces the development of military law from 1867 to 1997 After delving into the British roots of Canadian military law he brings his discussion up to date with analysis of recent sexual discrimination cases and the Somalia inquiry He explains how the law has served a strictly functional purpose in maintaining discipline and demonstrates how it claims its legitimacy and distinct status in relation to civil law It becomes clear that military law has responded to pragmatic needs in a reactive rather than a planned manner Another Kind of Justice describes the statutes and regulations that govern Canada's armed forces the institutions responsible for overseeing military law and how knowledge about military law is disseminated Madsen concludes that longstanding organizational problems and training deficiencies bear some of the responsibility for the unfortunate behaviour of Canadian soldiers in Somalia

The Insubordinate and the Noncompliant Howard Coombs, 2008-03-28 The Unwilling and the Reluctant Theoretical Perspectives on Disobedience in the Military and The Apathetic and the Defiant Case Studies of Canadian Mutiny and Disobedience 1812 1919 are the first two volumes in a series devoted to disobedience issues in the Canadian military Now with The Insubordinate and the Noncompliant the trilogy is complete Military leadership has both formal and informal dimensions The formal leadership of any organization must ensure that it minimizes the divergence between institutional aims and the actions of informal leaders When this separation occurs the result is sometimes mutiny These incidents of insubordination and noncompliance represent a form of dialogue between military personnel and their leadership The Insubordinate and the Noncompliant offers a perspective on the Canadian experience with military mutiny in the twentieth century in an effort to provide relevant lessons for today Forced to Change Bernd Horn, Dr. Bill Bentley, 2015-03-28 Undeniably the 1990s were a period of crisis for the Canadian Armed Forces CAF Drastic budget reductions and a series of endless scandals all collided to form the perfect storm The outcome of this was nothing short of the implosion of the Canadian Armed Forces Officer Corps Stripped by the government of the right to regulate itself the Officer Corps which represented the nation's stewards of the profession of arms was forced to reform itself Key to this transformation was education However the road was not easy as cultural change rarely is Forced to Change tells the story of how the Canadian Armed Forces found itself at its lowest point in history and how it managed to reform itself The question is whether it was a fundamental transformation or just a temporary adjustment to weather the storm Military Interventions, War Crimes, and Protecting Civilians Christi Siver, 2018-04-10 War crimes have devastating effects on victims and perpetrators and endanger broader political and military goals The protection of civilians one of the most fundamental norms in the laws of war appears to have weakened despite almost universal international agreement Using insights from organizational theory this book seeks to understand the process between military socialization and unit participation in war crimes How do militaries train their soldiers in the laws of war How do they enforce compliance with these laws Drawing on evidence from the Korean War the Malayan Emergency and the Canadian peacekeeping mission in Somalia the author discovers that military efforts to train soldiers about the laws of war are poor and leadership often sent mixed signals about the importance of compliance However units that developed subcultures that embraced these laws and had strong leadership were more likely to comply than those with weak discipline or countercultural norms Men, Militarism, and UN Peacekeeping Sandra Whitworth, 2004 In this important controversial and at times troubling book Sandra Whitworth looks behind the rhetoric to investigate from a feminist perspective some of the realities of military intervention under the UN flag Whitworth contends that there is a fundamental contradiction between portrayals of peacekeeping as altruistic and benign and the militarized masculinity that underpins the group identity of soldiers Examining evidence from Cambodia and Somalia she argues that sexual and other crimes can be seen as expressions of a violent hypermasculinity that is congruent with militarized identities but entirely incongruent with missions aimed at maintaining peace She also asserts that recent efforts within the UN to address gender issues in peacekeeping operations have failed because they fail to challenge traditional understandings of militaries conflict and women This unsettling critique of UN operations which also investigates the interplay between gender and racial stereotyping in peacekeeping has the power to change conventional perceptions with considerable policy implications Military Operations and the Mind Stéphanie A.H. Bélanger, Daniel Lagacé-Roy, 2016-06-01 Offering a Canadian perspective on the emotional health of servicemen and women Military Operations and the Mind brings together researchers and practitioners from across the country to consider the impact that ethical issues have on the well being of those who serve Stemming from an initiative to enhance the lives of serving members by providing them with the best education and training in military ethics before and after deployments this volume will better inform politics and public policies and enhance the welfare of the soldiers sailors and airmen and women who serve in singular often harsh and sometimes dangerous conditions By integrating into the analysis the critical issue of well being this emerging field demonstrates a more holistic approach and is distinct from other fields in military historical philosophical and behavioural studies The first study of its kind Military Operations and the Mind presents a new and helpful way to focus on the life of soldiers not only in operations overseas but also once they return home Contributors include Peter Bradley Royal Military College of Canada Victor M Catano Saint Mary s University Danielle Charbonneau Royal Military College of Canada Howard Coomb Royal Military College of Canada Karen D Davis Defence Research and Development Canada Colonel Richard Dickson Canadian Army Land Warfare Centre Joe Doty Duke University Allan English Queen s University Peter Gizewski Department of National Defence Heather Hrychuk Centre for Operational Research and Analysis E Kevin Kjelloway Saint Mary s University Allister MacIntyre Royal Military College of Canada Deanna Messervey Queen s University Damian O Keefe Saint Mary s University Brigadier General Ret ed G E Sharpe Shaun Tymchuk retired Canadian infantry officer SLt Ethan Whitehead Royal Canadian Navy and Daphne Xu National Institute of Education Singapore operations entail a special form of co operation between nation states and international organization but tend to be most difficult for the soldiers police and civilian officials on the ground This volume highlights the latter role with case studies of Srebrenica and Somalia A Country Nourished on Self-doubt Thomas Thorner,Thor Frohn-Nielsen,2010-01-01 Always illuminating often infuriating and as raw and vivid as any collection of primary materials that I ve seen assembled for students I will definitely be using the book in my survey course Christopher Pennington University of Toronto Scarborough

From Cold War to New Millennium Bernd Horn,2011-05-27 Companion vol to Establishing a legacy The Moral Dimension of Asymmetrical Warfare Th.A. van Baarda,D.E.M. Verweij,2009-06-30 During the Cold War an era in which the term asymmetric warfare was not well known the issue of the laws and ethics of war seemed simple enough to most soldiers being concerned mainly with leadership management and morale Post Cold War reality revealed a very different set of challenges including a significantly wider moral dimension particularly when forces initially under UN leadership and later under the NATO flag were deployed in different parts of the turbulent Balkans Military observers by now with legal advisers close by watched events in the Balkans East Timor and then in central and West Africa with professional interest and some were involved there A few years later soldiers were subsequently caught as much by surprise by the events of 9 11 a graphic example of asymmetric warfare as most of the rest of the world The initial post 9 11 response in Afghanistan and Iraq brought the notion of the fragile or collapsed state and the blurring of the roles of military forces international organisations non governmental organisations non state actors and indigenous administrators and their uniformed organisations and with them the moral dilemmas to much wider notice More recent conflicts have indeed shown the need for commanders and soldiers in all types of conflict to have a much better understanding of the complex moral and legal environments and opened new debates about the principle of winning hearts and minds in counter insurgency and peace support operations Moreover technological superiority by the West has also produced mixed benefits in the field of military operations and posed additional dilemmas many of them moral The trend towards defining human rights and fundamental freedoms poses further questions for the soldier today This collection of essays written by a wide variety of practising experts and scholars touches on all these issues It links the medieval traditions of jus in bello codified by Saint Thomas Aquinas in the Christian Church nearly eight centuries ago to examination of modern challenges and moral dilemmas relating to the ethics and laws of conflict and crises of all types in the twenty first century and in a global context among people of many different faiths and beliefs and none It is an important collection for all those researching or practically involved in conflict and post conflict situations
