Experiencing Psychosis Jim Geekie, Patte Randal, Debra Lampshire, John Read, 2013-03 Extensive scientific research has been conducted into understanding and learning more about psychotic experiences However in existing research the voice of subjective experience is rarely taken into consideration In this book first person accounts are brought centre stage and examined alongside current research to suggest how personal experience can contribute to professional understanding and therefore the treatment of psychosis Experiencing Psychosis brings together a range of contributors who have either experienced psychosis on a personal level or conducted research into the topic Chapters are presented in pairs providing information from both personal and research perspectives on specific aspects of psychosis including hearing voices delusional beliefs and trauma as well as cultural existential and spiritual issues Experts from the field recognise that first and foremost psychosis is a human experience and that those who suffer from psychotic episodes must have some involvement in any genuine attempts to make sense of the experience This book will be essential reading for all mental health professionals involved with psychosis The accessible style and compelling personal histories will also attract service users and their families

Embodiment, Enaction, and Culture Christoph Durt, Thomas Fuchs, Christian Tewes, 2023-09-19 The first interdisciplinary investigation of the cultural context of enactive embodiment offering perspectives that range from the neurophilosophical to the anthropological Recent accounts of cognition attempt to overcome the limitations of traditional cognitive science by reconceiving cognition as enactive and the cognizer as an embodied being who is embedded in biological psychological and cultural contexts Cultural forms of sense making constitute the shared world which in turn is the origin and place of cognition This volume is the first interdisciplinary collection on the cultural context of embodiment offering perspectives that range from the neurophilosophical to the anthropological The book brings together new contributions by some of the most renowned scholars in the field and the latest results from up and coming researchers The contributors explore conceptual foundations drawing on work by Husserl Merleau Ponty and Sartre and respond to recent critiques They consider whether there is something in the self that precedes intersubjectivity and inquire into the relation between culture and consciousness the nature of shared meaning and social understanding the social dimension of shame and the nature of joint affordances They apply the notion of radical enactive cognition to evolutionary anthropology and examine the concept of the body in relation to culture in light of studies in such fields as phenomenology cognitive neuroscience psychology and psychopathology Through such investigations the book breaks ground for the study of the interplay of embodiment enaction and culture Contributors Mark Bickhard Ingar Brinck Anna Ciaunica Hanne De Jaegher Nicolas de Warren Ezequiel Di Paolo Christoph Durt John Z Elias Joerg Fingerhut Aikaterini Fotopoulou Thomas Fuchs Shaun Gallagher Vittorio Gallese Duilio Garofoli Katrin Heimann Peter Henningsen Daniel D Hutto Laurence J Kirmayer Alba Montes Sanchez Dermot Moran Maxwell J D Ramstead Matthew Ratcliffe Vasudevi Reddy Zuzanna Rucska Alessandro Salice Glenda Satne Heribert Sattel Christian Tewes Dan Zahavi

Between Trauma and the Sacred James Rodger,Zachary Steel,2016-03-16 The relatively frequent occurrence of rapid onset and very brief but often florid psychotic states with periodic recurrence alongside relatively low rates of PTSD and chronic psychosis were unexpected findings from the 2004 East Timor Mental Health Study conducted in the context of the country s recently won independence and in the wake of the atrocities endured in the protracted fight for sovereignty Further unanticipated was the frequent association of recurrence with the time of the new moon fulan lotuk and other times or places of sacred lulik or associated cultural significance The perceived violation of culturally sacrosanct lulik obligations often also appeared to foreshadow the initial onset of such patterns of distress Significant episodes of trauma and loss appeared a hidden feature of affected individuals histories which we argue have become symbolically entwined with local cultural understandings of ritual obligation sacredness and taboo This volume develops a dynamic but contextualized multi level formulation of psychosis and psychotic symptoms able to incorporate a range of factors from the biological through the sociocultural to the political The work is truly interdisciplinary drawing on both the quantitative and qualitative findings of our own study but further supported through local ethnography and broader anthropological enquiry into the outcomes of psychosis in non Western settings psychoanalysis and psychoanalytic anthropology evidence and theory exploring links between trauma dissociation and psychosis and novel culturally adaptable psychosocial focused interventions for psychosis We situate both evidence and theorising in wider epistemological and political context including in relation to the movement for Global Mental Health Culturally patterned presentations of brief remitting relapsing psychosis are ultimately conceived as the trade off between competing fragmentary and synthetic forces the former in part secondary to the lasting and deleterious effects of overwhelming loss trauma and adversity the latter emboldened by cultural meaning and social response in the context of broad ecological pressures demanding survival and resilience

An Anthropology of Biomedicine Margaret M. Lock, Vinh-Kim Nguyen, 2018-01-09

Extraordinary Conditions Janis H. Jenkins, 2015-09-15 With fine tuned ethnographic sensibility Jenkins explores the lived experience of psychosis trauma and depression among people of diverse cultural orientations eloquently showing how mental illness engages fundamental human processes of self desire gender identity attachment and meaning Her studies illustrate the shaping of human reality and subjectivity in light of extreme psychological suffering and shed light on psycho political processes of alterity precarity and repression in the social rendering of the mentally ill as non human or less than fully human

Extraordinary Conditions addresses the critical need to empathically engage the experience of persons living with conditions that are culturally defined as mental illness Jenkins compellingly shows that mental illness is better characterized in terms of struggle than symptoms and that culture matters vitally in all aspects of mental illness from onset to recovery Analysis at this edge of experience refashions the boundaries between ordinary and extraordinary routine and extreme healthy and pathological The book argues that the study of mental illness is indispensable to anthropological understanding of culture and experience and reciprocally that understanding culture and experience is critical to the study of mental illness While anthropology neglects the extraordinary to its theoretical and empirical peril psychiatry neglects culture to its theoretical and clinical peril Provided by publisher

Living on the Spectrum Elizabeth Fein, 2020-07-07 Honorable Mention 2020 Stirling Prize for Best Published Work in Psychological Anthropology given by the Society for Psychological Anthropology Honorable Mention New Millennium Book Award given by the Society for Medical Anthropology How youth on the autism spectrum negotiate the contested meanings of neurodiversity Autism is a deeply contested condition To some it is a devastating invader harming children and isolating them To others it is an asset and a distinctive aspect of an individual's identity How do young people on the spectrum make sense of this conflict in the context of their own developing identity While most of the research on Asperger's and related autism conditions has been conducted with individuals or in settings in which people on the spectrum are in the minority this book draws on two years of ethnographic work in communities that bring people with Asperger's and related conditions together It can thus begin to explore a form of autistic culture through attending to how those on the spectrum make sense of their conditions through shared social practices Elizabeth Fein brings her many years of experience in both clinical psychology and psychological anthropology to analyze the connection between neuropsychological difference and culture She argues that current medical models which espouse a limited definition are ill equipped to deal with the challenges of discussing autism related conditions Consequently youths on the autism spectrum reach beyond medicine for their stories of difference and disorder drawing instead on shared mythologies from popular culture and speculative fiction to conceptualize their experience of changing personhood In moving and persuasive prose Living on the Spectrum illustrates that young people use these stories to pioneer more inclusive understandings of what makes us who we are
