The Jews of the Middle East and North Africa in Modern Times Reeva Spector Simon, Michael Menachem Laskier, Sara Reguer, 2003-04-30 Despite considerable research on the Jewish diaspora in the Middle East and North Africa since 1800 there has until now been no comprehensive synthesis that illuminates both the differences and commonalities in Jewish experience across a range of countries and cultures This lacuna in both Jewish and Middle Eastern studies is due partly to the fact that in general histories of the region Jews have been omitted from the standard narrative As part of the religious and ethnic mosaic that was traditional Islamic society Jews were but one among numerous minorities and so have lacked a systematic treatment Addressing this important oversight this volume documents the variety and diversity of Jewish life in the region over the last two hundred years It explains the changes that affected the communities under Islamic rule during its golden age and describes the processes of modernization that enabled the Jews to play a pivotal role in their respective countries in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries The first half of the book is thematic covering topics ranging from languages to economic life and from religion and music to the world of women The second half is a country by country survey that covers Turkey Syria Lebanon Israel Palestine Iraq Iran Afghanistan Yemen Egypt the Sudan Libya Tunisia Algeria and Morocco

The Urban Social History of the Middle East, 1750-1950 Peter Sluglett, 2008-12-08 The great cities of the Middle East and North Africa have long attracted the attention and interest of historians With the discovery and wider use over the last few decades of Islamic court records and Ottoman administrative documents our knowledge of Middle Eastern cities between the seventeenth and early twentieth centuries has vastly expanded Drawing upon a treasure trove of documents and using a variety of methodologies the contributors succeed in providing a significant overview of the ways in which Middle Eastern cities can be studied as well as an excellent introduction to current literature in the field of Muslims, Christians, and Jews in the Middle East Heather J. Sharkey, 2017-04-03 Across centuries the Islamic Middle East hosted large populations of Christians and Jews in addition to Muslims Today this diversity is mostly absent In this book Heather J Sharkey examines the history that Muslims Christians and Jews once shared against the shifting backdrop of state policies Focusing on the Ottoman Middle East before World War I Sharkey offers a vivid and lively analysis of everyday social contacts dress music food bathing and more as they brought people together or pushed them apart Historically Islamic traditions of statecraft and law which the Ottoman Empire maintained and adapted treated Christians and Jews as protected subordinates to Muslims while prescribing limits to social mixing Sharkey shows how amid the pivotal changes of the modern era efforts to simultaneously preserve and dismantle these hierarchies heightened tensions along religious lines and set the stage for the twentieth century Middle East

A History

The Jews of the Middle East and North Africa in Modern Times Reeva S. Simon, Michael M. Laskier, Sara Reguer, 2003 Filling an important gap in the literature this volume documents the variety and diversity of Jewish life in the Middle East and North Africa over the last two hundred years It explains the changes that affected the communities under Islamic rule during its golden age and describes the processes of modernization that enabled the Jews of the Middle East and North Africa to play a pivotal role in their respective countries in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries

Middle Eastern Gothics Karen Grumberg, 2022-12-15 The chapters in this study cover the four major Middle Eastern languages Arabic Hebrew Persian and Turkish and are authored by experts in these literatures who read and engage with these texts in their original languages Their intimate knowledge of the linguistic and cultural contexts of the works they analyse provides readers access to nuances in the texts and ultimately to a more profound understanding of them This is the first cohesive collection addressing the Gothic in the geographic linguistic context of the Middle East region There has been increased interest not only in global iterations of the Gothic but also in Middle Eastern writing particularly when it intersects with the Gothic i e Frankenstein in Baghdad The Introduction of the volume offers a new theorisation of Gothic literature proposing the transnational region as a frame for reading literary texts that cross national and linguistic boundaries

Ladino Rabbinic Literature and Ottoman Sephardic Culture Matthias B. Lehmann, 2005-11-03 In this pathbreaking book Matthias B Lehmann explores Ottoman Sephardic culture in an era of change through a close study of popularized rabbinic texts written in Ladino the vernacular language of the Ottoman Jews This vernacular literature standing at the crossroads of rabbinic elite and popular cultures and of Hebrew and Ladino discourses sheds valuable light on the modernization of Sephardic Jewry in the Eastern Mediterranean in the 19th century By helping to form a Ladino reading public and imparting shape to its values the authors of this literature negotiated between perpetuating rabbinic tradition and addressing the challenges of modernity The book offers close readings of works that examine issues such as social inequality exile and diaspora gender secularization and the clash between scientific and rabbinic knowledge Ladino Rabbinic Literature and Ottoman Sephardic Culture will be welcomed by scholars of Sephardic as well as European Jewish history culture and

E. Lorcin, Todd Shepard, 2016-05 While the Mediterranean is often considered a distinct unified space recent scholarship on the early modern history of the sea has suggested that this perspective is essentially a Western one devised from the vantage point of imperial power that historically patrolled the region's seas and controlled its ports By contrast for the peoples of its southern shores the Mediterranean was polymorphous shifting with the economic and seafaring exigencies of the moment Nonetheless by the nineteenth century the idea of a monolithic Mediterranean had either been absorbed by or imposed on the populations of the region In French Mediterraneans editors Patricia M E Lorcin and Todd Shepard offer a collection of scholarship that reveals the important French element in the nineteenth and twentieth century creation of the singular Mediterranean These essays provide a critical study of space and movement through new approaches to think about the maps migrations and margins of the sea in the French imperial and transnational context By reconceptualizing the Mediterranean this volume illuminates the diversity of connections between places and polities that rarely fit models of nation state allegiances or preordained geographies
