Shadowed Ground America S Landscapes Of Violence And Tragedy:

Shadowed Ground Kenneth E. Foote, 2013-12-06 Winner John Brinkerhoff Jackson Prize Association of American Geographers 1997 Shadowed Ground explores how and why Americans have memorialized or not the sites of tragic and violent events spanning three centuries of history and every region of the country For this revised edition Kenneth Foote has written a new concluding chapter that looks at the evolving responses to recent acts of violence and terror including the destruction of the Branch Davidian compound at Waco Texas the Oklahoma City bombing the Columbine High School massacre and the terrorist attacks of 9 11

Shadowed Ground Kenneth E. Foote, 1997 From the battlefield at Gettysburg to the Oklahoma City block where the Alfred P Murrah Federal Building once stood sites of violence and tragedy have left indelible marks on the American landscape Some have become places of pilgrimage where visitors mourn losses learn lessons from the tragedy and experience renewal Others became empty places where nothing remains to commemorate or even to mark the occurrence In this pioneering book Kenneth E Foote explores how and why Americans have memorialized or not the sites of tragic and violent events Drawing on years of travel and reflection he traces the history of sites spanning three centuries and every region of the United States Foote deduces that Americans usually react to the scenes of tragedy in one of four ways Many places undergo public sanctification such as Memphis Lorraine Motel where Martin Luther King Jr was assassinated Some are simply designated with a marker while others are rectified and returned to normal use Those that produce shame and revulsion are often obliterated and left empty These differing reactions to sites of violence offer an important new perspective to the debate over violence in American society

Teaching Difficult History through Film Jeremy Stoddard, Alan Marcus, David Hicks, 2017-06-26 Teaching Difficult History through Film explores the potential of film to engage young people in controversial or contested histories and how they are represented ranging from gender and sexuality to colonialism and slavery Adding to the education literature of how to teach and learn difficult histories contributors apply their theoretical and pedagogical expertise and experiences to a variety of historical topics to show the ways that film can create opportunities for challenging conversations in the classroom and attempts to recognize the perspectives of historically marginalized groups Chapters focus on translating research into practice by applying theoretical frameworks such as critical race theory auto ethnography or cultural studies as well as more practical pedagogical models with film Each chapter also includes applicable pedagogical considerations such as how to help students approach difficult topics model questions or strategies for engaging students and examples from the authors own experiences in teaching with film or in leading students to develop counter narratives through filmmaking These discussions of the real considerations facing classroom teachers and professors are sure to appeal to experienced secondary teachers pre service teacher education programs graduate students and academic audiences within education history and film studies Part and chapter discussion guides full references of the films included in the book and resources for teachers are available on the book s companion website www.teachingdifficulthistory.com The Unfinished Bombing Edward T. Linenthal, 2003-05-01 On April 19 1995 the bombing of the Alfred P Murrah Federal Building in Oklahoma City shook the nation destroying our complacent sense of safety and sending a community into a tailspin of shock grief and bewilderment Almost as difficult as the bombing itself has been the aftermath its legacy for Oklahoma City and for the nation and the struggle to recover from this unprecedented attack In The Unfinished Bombing Edward T Linenthal explores the many ways Oklahomans and other Americans have tried to grapple with this catastrophe Working with exclusive access to materials gathered by the Oklahoma City National Memorial Archive and drawing from over 150 personal interviews with family members of those murdered survivors rescuers and many others Linenthal looks at how the bombing threatened cherished ideas about American innocence sparked national debate on how to respond to terrorism at home and abroad and engendered a new bereaved community in Oklahoma City itself Linenthal examines how different stories about the bombing were told through positive narratives of civic renewal and of religious redemption and more negative narratives of toxicity and trauma He writes about the extraordinary bonds of affection that were created in the wake of the bombing acts of kindness empathy and compassion that existed alongside the toxic legacy of the event The Unfinished Bombing offers a compelling look at both the individual and the larger cultural consequences of one of the most searing events in recent American history

Explorations in Place Attachment Jeffrey Smith, 2017-11-09 The book explores the unique contribution that geographers make to the concept of place attachment and related ideas of place identity and sense of place It presents six types of places to which people become attached and provides a global range of empirical case studies to illustrate the theoretical foundations The book reveals that the types of places to which people bond are not discrete Rather a holistic approach one that seeks to understand the interactive and reinforcing qualities between people and places is most effective in advancing our understanding of place attachment

The Routledge Research Companion to Media Geography Paul C. Adams, Jim Craine, 2016-03-23 This Companion provides an authoritative source for scholars and students of the nascent field of media geography While it has deep roots in the wider discipline the consolidation of media geography has started only in the past decade with the creation of media geography's first dedicated journal Aether as well as the publication of the sub discipline's first textbook However at present there is no other work which provides a comprehensive overview and grounding By indicating the sub discipline's evolution and hinting at its future this volume not only serves to encapsulate what geographers have learned about media but also will help to set the agenda for expanding this type of interdisciplinary exploration The contributors leading scholars in this field including Stuart Aitken Deborah Dixon Derek McCormack Barney Warf and Matthew Zook not only review the existing literature within the remit of their chapters but also articulate arguments about where the future might take media geography scholarship The volume is not simply a collection of individual offerings but has afforded an opportunity to exchange ideas about media geography with contributors making connections between chapters and developing common themes Fifty

Controversial Monuments and Memorials David B. Allison, 2023-09-02 The impetus for the first edition was violent actions the white supremacist rally in Charlottesville Virginia in 2017 which was touched off by discussions about removing a statue to Robert E Lee and resulted in the death of Heather Heyer Since the publication of the first edition both history and democracy are being threatened in ways that we were only seeing small glimpses of in 2018 Today attempts to elevate new or more complex history has been met with vilification States across the country have passed legislation to ban critical race theory from being taught in public schools and are seeking ways to limit what teachers are allowed to teach about slavery and race in the United States These threats are unlikely to abate As such our responsibility as historians community leaders museum professionals and citizens is to redouble our efforts to share human stories in relatable ways and to exercise our rights and wield our power whenever and however we can The revised edition tackles the great issues of our time against the backdrop of monument culture and historical truth

Dark Tourism in the American West Jennifer Dawes, 2019-08-12 This edited collection expands scholarly and popular conversations about dark tourism in the American West The phenomenon of dark tourism traveling to sites of death suffering and disaster for entertainment or educational purposes has been described and on occasion criticized for transforming misfortune and catastrophe into commodity The impulse however continues particularly in the American West a liminal and contested space that resonates with stories of tragedy violent conflict and disaster Contributions here specifically examine the mediation and shaping of these spaces into touristic destinations The essays examine Western sites of massacre and battle such as Sand Creek Massacre National Historic Site and the Waco Siege sites of imprisonment such as Japanese American internment camps and Alcatraz Island areas devastated by ecological disaster such as Martin s Cove and the Salton Sea and unmediated sites those sites left to the touristic imagination with no interpretation of what occurred there such as the Bennet Arcane camp

Heritage, Labour and the Working Classes Laurajane Smith, Paul Shackel, Gary Campbell, 2012-05-23 Heritage Labour and the Working Classes is both a celebration and commemoration of working class culture It contains sometimes inspiring accounts of working class communities and people telling their own stories and weaves together examples of tangible and intangible heritage place history memory music and literature Rather than being framed in a social inclusion framework which sees working class culture as a deficit this book addresses the question What is labour and working class heritage how does it differ or stand in opposition to dominant ways of understanding heritage and history and in what ways is it used as a contemporary resource It also explores how heritage is used in working class communities and by labour organizations and considers what meanings and significance this heritage may have while also identifying how and why communities and their heritage have been excluded Drawing on new scholarship in heritage studies social memory the public history of labour and new working class studies this volume highlights the heritage of working people communities and organizations Contributions are drawn from a number of Western countries including the USA UK Spain Sweden Australia and New Zealand and from a range of disciplines including heritage and museum studies history sociology politics archaeology and anthropology Heritage Labour and the Working Classes represents an innovative and useful resource for heritage and museum practitioners students and academics concerned with understanding community heritage and the debate on social inclusion exclusion It offers new ways of understanding heritage its values and consequences and presents a challenge to dominant and traditional frameworks for understanding and identifying heritage and heritage making Affective Architectures Jacque Micieli-Voutsinas, Angela M. Person, 2020-09-20 How do places manipulate our emotions How are spaces affectious in their articulation and design This book provides theoretical frameworks for exploring affective dimensions of architectural sites based on the notion that heritage as an embodied experience is embedded in places and spaces Drawing together an interdisciplinary collection of essays spanning geographically diverse architectural sites including Ford's Theater the site of President Lincoln's assassination the Estadio Nacional of Santiago Chile where 12 000 detainees were held following the ouster of President Salvador Allende and Unit 731 the site of a biological and chemical warfare research unit of the Imperial Japanese army in Harbin China amongst others this edited collection assembles critical dialogue amongst scholars and practitioners engaging in affective and other more than representational approaches to cultural memory heritage and identity making Broken into three main sections Affective Politics Embedded Geographies and Affective Methodologies this book draws together multidisciplinary perspectives from the arts social sciences and humanities to understand the role of architecture in generating embodied experiences at places of memory This book offers interdisciplinary perspectives on fundamental questions of memory identity and space It will be of interest to students and scholars in the fields of geography architecture cultural studies and museum and heritage studies Heritage Ecologies

Torgeir Rinke Bangstad, Þóra Pétursdóttir, 2021-08-23 Heritage Ecologies presents an ecological understanding of heritage that furthers a concern for how its making and unmaking always involves a wide range of human and other than human actors Recognizing the entangled nature cultures of heritage is essential in the Anthropocene era where uncertainty and rapid environmental change force us to recast common conceptions of inheritance and to envision new strategies for preservation Heritage sites are meant to be open and shared spaces and a recurring argument in the cases presented here is that this openness inevitably also overrides our selections orders and appreciations Through a diverse range of case studies the chapters collected in this book aim to explore the affects and memories engendered by diverse heritage ecologies where humans are neither the sole makers nor the only inheritors The common call is that the experiential perceptive and informational plenitude enabled through contributions of other than human actors is key to an ecological rethinking of heritage in the twenty first century Heritage Ecologies is unique in bringing heritage studies into closer proximity with a wide variety of non representational and object oriented theories and is an important volume for students and researchers in Navigating Memorialization and Commemoration on U.S. Campuses Mahauganee D. Shaw Bonds, 2022-01-31 Drawing on rich qualitative data as well as theoretical and conceptual frameworks this text explores how institutions of higher education in the US can effectively remember incidents of campus crisis through physical memorials and commemoration Recognizing memorialization as a process of group and individual recovery the book foregrounds the performative functions of physical memorials and highlights their utility for the extended campus community Profiling existing campus memorials in the US and offering insights from students faculty community members and the loved ones of those memorialized the text illustrates how institutional decisions and long term strategy can serve to effectively navigate the politics of memorialization helping communities move beyond incidents of collective trauma This text will benefit researchers academics and educators with an interest in emergency management student affairs practice and higher education administration and commemorative literature more broadly Those specifically interested in heritage studies public history and American history will also benefit from this book Public Places Carl T. Hyden, Theodore F. Sheckels, 2016-01-14 This book rhetorically and historically examines the contextual and experiential dimensions of a wide range of public places from memorials to stadiums that are rife with political implications Fourteen public places ranging from the national to local from 9 11 memorials to a baseball park are analyzed The authors investigate the histories of these public spaces examine their designs and discuss their political implications in order to outline their role within the public sphere This book begins with a loose theoretical framework for understanding public places as rhetorically drawn from extant scholarship and concludes with a systematic means of exploring the allocation of power by public places Recommended for scholars of communication studies rhetoric political science and architecture The Routledge History of Police Brutality in America Thomas Aiello, 2023-04-11 This handbook offers a comprehensive historical overview and analysis of police brutality in US history and the variety of ways it has manifested itself Police brutality has been a defining controversy of the modern age brought into focus most readily by the murder of George Floyd in Minneapolis and the mass protests that occurred as a result in 2020 However the problem of police brutality has been consistent throughout American history This volume traces its history back to Antebellum slavery through the Gilded Age the Progressive Era the two world wars and the twentieth century to the present day This handbook is designed to create a generally holistic picture of the phenomenon of police brutality in the United States in all of its major lived forms and confronts a wide range of topics including Race Ethnicity Gender Police reactions to protest movements particularly as they relate to the counterculture and opposition to the Vietnam War Legal and legislative outgrowths against police brutality The representations of police brutality in popular culture forms like film and music The role of technology in publicizing such abuses and the protest movements mounted against it The Routledge History of Police Brutality in America will provide a vital reference work for students and scholars of American history African American history criminal justice sociology anthropology and Africana studies Landscape and Race in the United States Richard Schein, 2012-11-12 Landscape and Race in the United States is the definitive volume on racialized landscapes in the United States Edited by Richard Schein each essay is grounded in a particular location but all of the essays are informed by the theoretical vision that the cultural landscapes of America are infused with race and America's racial divide While featuring the black white divide the book also investigates other social landscapes including Chinatowns Latino landscapes in the Southwest and white suburban landscapes The essays are accessible and readable providing historical and contemporary coverage Mobilizing nature Chris Pearson, 2017-10-03 Mobilizing nature traces the environmental history of war and militarisation in France from the creation of Ch lons Camp in 1857 to military environmentalist policies in the twentieth century It offers a fresh perspective on the well known histories of the Franco Prussian War Western Front 1914 18 Second World War Cold War and the anti base campaign at Larzac whilst uncovering the largely hidden history of the numerous military bases and other installations that pepper the French countryside Mobilising nature argues that the history of war and militarisation can only be fully understood if human and environmental histories are considered in tandem Preparing for and conducting wars were only made possible through the active manipulation and mobilisation of topographies climatic conditions vegetation and animals But the military has not monopolised the mobilisation of nature Protesters against militarisation have consistently drawn on images of peaceful and productive civilian environments as the preferable alternative to destructive tanks and bombs Written in an accessible style Mobilizing nature will appeal to readers interested in modern France environmental history military geographies and histories anti military protests and environmentalism
