The Publishers Weekly, 1928. "Visions of the Industrial Age, 1830-1914" Amy Woodson-Boulton, 2017-07-05.

Providing a comprehensive interdisciplinary assessment and with a particular focus on expressions of tension and anxiety about modernity, this collection examines visual culture in nineteenth-century Europe as it attempted to redefine itself in the face of social change and new technologies. Contributing scholars from the fields of history, art, literature, and the history of science investigate the role of visual representation and the dominance of the image by looking at changing ideas expressed in representations of science, technology, politics, and culture in advertising, art periodicals, and novels. They investigate how, during the period, new emphasis was placed on the visual with emerging forms of mass communication: photography, lithography, newspapers, advertising, and cinema, while older forms as varied as poetry, the novel, painting, interior decoration, and architecture became transformed. The volume includes investigations into new innovations and scientific development, such as the steam engine, transportation, and engineering, the microscope, spirit photography, and the orrery, as well as how this new technology is reproduced in illustrated periodicals. The essays also look at more traditional forms of creative expression to show that the same concerns and anxieties about science, technology, and the changing perceptions of the natural world can be seen in the art of Armand Guillaumin, Auguste Rodin, Gustave Caillebotte, and Camille Pissarro, in colonial nineteenth-century novels, in design manuals, in museums, and in the decorations of domestic interior spaces. Visions of the Industrial Age, 1830-1914 offers a thorough exploration of both the nature of modernity and the nature of the visual.

Museum Handbook. United States. National Park Service, 1991. The Life and Photography of Doris Ulmann. Philip

Walker Jacobs, 2014-10-17. Doris Ulmann, 1882-1934, was one of the foremost photographers of the twentieth century, yet until now there has never been a biography of this fascinating, gifted artist. Born into a New York Jewish family with a tradition of service, Ulmann sought to portray and document individuals from various groups that she feared would vanish from American life. In the last eighteen years of her life, Ulmann created over 10,000 photographs and illustrated five books, including Roll Jordan Roll and Handicrafts of the Southern Highlands. Inspired by the paintings of the European old masters and by the photographs of Hill and Adamson and Clarence White, Ulmann produced unique and substantial portrait studies. Working in her Park Avenue studio and traveling throughout the east coast, Appalachia, and the deep South, she carefully studied and photographed the faces of urban intellectuals as well as rural peoples. Her subjects included Albert Einstein, Robert Frost,

African American basket weavers from South Carolina and Kentucky mountain musicians Relying on newly discovered letters documents and photographs many published here for the first time Philip Jacobs s richly illustrated biography secures Ulmann s rightful place in the history of American photography
