Palestine And Egypt Under The Ottomans Paintingss Photographs Maps And Manuscripts:

Palestine and Egypt Under the Ottomans Hisham Khatib, 2003-02-21 Palestine and Egypt under the Ottomans is based on Hisham Khatib's unique collection of art and printed works covering the 400 year period of Ottoman rule in the region. The core of the material here are the paintings, mainly nineteenth century watercolours, many of them by renowned artists such as Frederick Goodall, Edward Lear, Carl Werner and Carl Haag, which concentrate on a realistic portrayal of the Holy Land, in particular Jerusalem and Egypt, rather than basking in romantic Orientalism. Images from the valuable plate books are of exceptional interest. These include rare works by Charles van de Velde, Sir David Wilkie, Louis de Forbin, Francois Paris, Achille Prisse d'Avennes and David Roberts. In these plate books, the text merely served to explain the large scale engravings, lithographs or etchings that illustrated them. The section on travel books also frequently illustrated includes works by Bernardino Amico, Johann Ludwig Burckhardt, Michel Nau, Adrian Reland and Walter Tyndale. Some of the oldest material discussed and illustrated here from the earliest days of Ottoman rule in Palestine and Egypt are the maps and views, many of them by such well known names as Abraham Ortelius and Bernhard von Breydenbach. From the later end of the Ottoman period, this volume also records some of the earliest surveys and atlases of the region, as well as original photographs. Book Jacket Mapping Israel, Mapping Palestine Jess Bier, 2017-06-30 Digital practices in social and political landscapes. Why two researchers can look at the same feature and see different things. Maps are widely believed to be objective and data rich; computer made maps are iconic examples of digital knowledge. It is often claimed that digital maps and rational boundaries can solve political conflict. But in Mapping Israel, Mapping Palestine, Jess Bier challenges the view that digital maps are universal and value free. She examines the ways that maps are made in Palestine and Israel to show how social and political landscapes shape the practice of science and technology. How can two scientific cartographers look at the same geographic feature and see fundamentally different things? In part, Bier argues, because knowledge about the Israeli military occupation is shaped by the occupation itself. Ongoing injustices, including checkpoints, roadblocks and summary arrests, mean that Palestinian and Israeli cartographers have different experiences of the landscape. Palestinian forms of empirical knowledge, including maps, continue to be discounted. Bier examines three representative cases of population governance and urban maps. She analyzes Israeli population maps from 1967 to 1995, when Palestinian areas were left blank; Palestinian state maps of the late 1990s and early 2000s, which were influenced by Israeli raids on Palestinian offices and the legacy of British colonial maps; and urban maps after the Second Intifada, which show how segregated observers produce dramatically different maps of the same area. The geographic production of knowledge, including what and who are considered scientifically legitimate, can change across space and time. Bier argues that greater attention to these changes and to related issues of power will open up more heterogeneous ways of engaging with the world. Pre-State Photographic Archives and the Zionist Movement Rotem Rozental, 2023-03-24 By entering and critically re-activating the Zionist photographic archive established by the Division of Journalism and Propaganda of the Jewish National Fund this research examines its rippling impact on civil landscapes prior to 1948 in Palestine and its lasting impact on the region to date This study argues that the Zionist movement makes particular use of the machinery of the photographic archive aiming to constitute the boundaries of Palestine as a Jewish state claiming ownership over the land and announcing internationally the success of its enterprise thus substantiating the image it sought to embed as the reality of the land This archive was not stand alone as it was functioning in relation to a vast complicated network of organizational systems and technologies in the Middle East and across the world Crucially this system functioned as a national archive in future tense for a nation state that was not yet in existence seeking to substantiate its regional authority and shape its cultural repository outlining parameters for inclusion and exclusion from its civic space The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history photography history visual culture Jewish studies Israel studies and Middle East studies Tracing the Jerusalem Code Ragnhild

Johnsrud Zorgati, Anna Bohlin, 2021-05-10 With the aim to write the history of Christianity in Scandinavia with Jerusalem as a lens this book investigates the image or rather the imagination of Jerusalem in the religious political and artistic cultures of Scandinavia through most of the second millennium Volume 3 analyses the impact of Jerusalem on Scandinavian Christianity from the middle of the 18 century in a broad context Tracing the Jerusalem Code in three volumes Volume 1 The Holy City Christian Cultures in Medieval Scandinavia ca 1100 1536 Volume 2 The Chosen People Christian Cultures in Early Modern Scandinavia 1536 ca 1750 Volume 3 The Promised Land Christian Cultures in Modern Scandinavia ca 1750 ca 1920

Palestine Nur Masalha, 2018-08-15 This rich and magisterial work traces Palestine's millennia old heritage uncovering cultures and societies of astounding depth and complexity that stretch back to the very beginnings of recorded history Starting with the earliest references in Egyptian and Assyrian texts Nur Masalha explores how Palestine and its Palestinian identity have evolved over thousands of years from the Bronze Age to the present day Drawing on a rich body of sources and the latest archaeological evidence Masalha shows how Palestine's multicultural past has been distorted and mythologised by Biblical lore and the Israel Palestinian conflict In the process Masalha reveals that the concept of Palestine contrary to accepted belief is not a modern invention or one constructed in opposition to Israel but rooted firmly in ancient past Palestine represents the authoritative account of the country's history From Empire to Empire Abigail Jacobson, 2011-08-04 The history of Jerusalem as traditionally depicted is the quintessential history of conflict and strife of ethnic tension and of incompatible national narratives and visions It is also a history of dramatic changes and moments one of the most radical ones being the replacement of the Ottoman regime with British rule in December 1917 From Empire to Empire challenges these two major dichotomies ethnic and temporal which shaped the history of Jerusalem and its inhabitants It links the experiences of two ethnic communities living in Palestine Jews and Arabs as well as bridging two historical periods the Ottoman and British administrations Drawing upon a variety of sources Jacobson demonstrates how political and social alliances are dynamic context dependent and purpose driven She also highlights the critical role of foreign intervention governmental and nongovernmental in forming local political alliances and in shaping the political reality of Palestine during the crisis of World War I and the transition between regimes From Empire to Empire offers a vital new perspective on the way World War I has been traditionally studied in the Palestinian context It also examines the effects of war on the socioeconomic sphere of a mixed city in crisis and looks into the ways the war as well as Ottoman policies and administrators affected the ways people perceived the Ottoman Empire and their location within it From Empire to Empire illuminates the complex and delicate relations between ethnic and national groups and offers a different lens through which the history of Jerusalem can be seen it proposes not only a story of conflict but also of intercommunal contacts and cooperation Survey Practices and Landscape Photography Across the Globe Sophie Junge, Erin Hyde Nolan, 2022-12-05 This edited volume considers the many ways in which landscape seen and unseen is fundamental to placemaking colonial settlement and identity formation Collectively the book's authors map a constellation of interlocking photographic histories and survey practices decentering Europe as the origin of camera based surveillance The volume charts a conversation across continents connecting Europe Africa the Arab World Asia and the Americas It does not segregate places histories and traditions but rather puts them in dialogue with one another establishing solidarity across ever shifting national linguistic racial religious and ethnic Refusing the neat organization of survey photographs into national or imperial narratives these essays celebrate the messy cross cultural reverberations of landscape over the past 170 years Considering the visual social and historical networks in which these images circulate this anthology connects the many entangled and political histories of photography in order to reframe survey practices and the multidimensionality of landscape as an international phenomenon This book will be of interest to scholars in art history history of photography and landscape history Tourism in the Arab World Hamed Almuhrzi, Hafidh Alriyami, Noel Scott, 2017-06-15 This book is the first to explore Arabic tourism from a business viewpoint rather than taking a sociological anthropological or political stance It focuses on business planning management and marketing destinations in the Arab World which are topics crucial for industry stakeholders and which have previously been neglected in the tourism literature The book examines similarities and differences in the emergence and development of the tourism industry in countries across the Arab world as well as its inbound and outbound travel flows It analyses several different aspects of Arabic tourism including tourism policy organisation and planning tourism product development destination marketing and consumer behaviour This volume will be of interest to postgraduate students and researchers of tourism studies business and Middle Eastern studies Making the Modern Turkish Citizen Özge Baykan Calafato, 2022-01-27 Featuring over 100 colour images this book explores the photographic self representations of the urban middle classes in Turkey in the 1920s and the 1930s Examining the relationship between photography and gender body space as well as materiality and language its six chapters explore how the production and circulation of vernacular photographs contributed to the making of the modern Turkish citizen in the formative years of the Turkish Republic when nation building secularization and modernization reforms took centre stage Based on an extensive photographic archive the book shows that individuals actively reproduced circulated and negotiated the ideal citizen image imposed by the Kemalist regime reflecting not only state imposed directives but also their class aspirations and other wider social and cultural developments of the period from Western fashion trends and movies to the increasing availability of modern consumer items Calafato also reveals that the freedom from state control afforded by personal cameras allowed the desired image to be sometimes tweaked by incorporating elements from Ottoman and Turkic traditions by pushing the boundaries of gender norms or by introducing playfulness Making the Modern Turkish Citizen offers a valuable portrait of the ongoing political and social changes on the lives of the Turkish middle class and of how they saw and wanted to present themselves privately and publicly
