Quest For Life An Autobiography:

Quest for Life Yossi Turner, 2021-01-26 A D Gordon was one of the most interesting and original Jewish thinkers of the twentieth century. Quest for Life presents Gordon's philosophy which was developed in Hebrew at the beginning of the twentieth century to the English reading public. It discusses the role played by the early Land of Israel pioneering labor community in the development of his thought and offers a new understanding of its major themes including the relation of humanity to nature, human freedom, ethnicity, religion, and ethics. In addition, the book discusses the repercussions of Gordon's thought with respect to contemporary civilization while suggesting its implicit quest for life as the basis for a re-evaluation of such topics as the meaning of human life, Jewish peoplehood, and the idea of a Jewish homeland. The Essential Ian

McHarg Ian L. McHarg, 2006-11-13 A concise illuminating collection of essential essays from one of the pioneers of the field of landscape architecture. Encyclopedia of Life Writing Margaretta Jolly, 2013-12-04 First published in 2001 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis, an informa company. The Story of My Life, volumes 1-3 Augustus J. C. Hare, 2019-12-06 In The Story of My Life Augustus J. C. Hare presents a captivating autobiographical narrative that seamlessly intertwines personal anecdotes with wider historical contexts. Spanning three volumes, Hare's prose is marked by its introspective depth and rich descriptive quality, bringing to life his experiences across Victorian England and beyond. The work is not merely an autobiography; it is a tapestry of social observations, literary critiques, and reflections on mortality and friendship that resonate deeply within the literary landscape of its time, often drawing parallels to contemporaries like John Stuart Mill and Samuel Butler. Augustus J. C. Hare, born in 1834, was a profound observer of life whose experiences as a traveler, lecturer, and author imbued his work with authenticity and insight. His family's artistic legacy and his own extensive travels shaped his worldview, imbuing his life story with engaging encounters and profound insights. Hare's literary journey reflects a meticulous attention to the interplay between personal experience and broader societal movements, allowing readers to connect with his narrative on various levels. Readers seeking an engaging exploration of 19th-century life encapsulated through personal reflection will find The Story of My Life a rewarding endeavor. Hare's unique voice invites contemplation of existential themes and human relationships, making it essential for those interested in literary history or autobiographical literature. Your Whole Life James Bernard Murphy, 2020-04-24 A holistic view of human development that rejects the conventional stages of childhood, adulthood, and old age. When we talk about human development, we tend to characterize it as proceeding through a series of stages in which we are first children, then adolescents, and finally adults. But as James Bernard Murphy observes, growth is not limited to the young, nor is decline limited to the aged. We are never trapped within the horizon of a particular life stage; children anticipate adulthood, and adults recapture childhood. According to Murphy, the very idea of stages of life undermines our ability to see our lives as a whole. In Your Whole Life, Murphy asks what accounts for the unity of a human life over time. He advocates for an unconventional developmental story of human nature based on a nested hierarchy of three powers first each person's unique human genome insures biological identity over time second each person's powers of imagination and memory insure psychological identity over time and third each person's ability to tell his or her own life story insures narrative identity over time Just as imagination and memory rely upon our biological identity so our autobiographical stories rest upon our psychological identity Narrative is not the foundation of personal identity as many argue but its capstone Engaging with the work of Aristotle Augustine Jesus and Rousseau as well as with the contributions of contemporary evolutionary biologists and psychologists Murphy challenges the widely shared assumptions in Western thinking about personhood and its development through discrete stages of childhood adulthood and old age He offers instead a holistic view in which we are always growing and declining always learning and forgetting and always living and dying and finds that only in relation to one's whole life does the passing of time obtain meaning Avery Index to Architectural Periodicals Avery Library,1997

Shameful Autobiographies Rosamund Dalziel, 2018-07-04 Writing autobiography is a risky business What is shameful can be inadvertently rather than deliberately revealed Yet reading autobiography can also be risky as it may lead to the confrontation of shame in ourselves Perhaps it is this element of risk together with the magnetism of another person's confession of shameful experience that make us such avid readers of autobiography Rosamund Dalziel proposes that shame is the driving force in many Australian autobiographies Indeed she suggests that the representation of shame is fundamental to the autobiographical process Shame seeks concealment and this she argues explains both why this fascinating link has not before been explored and why when it is pointed out we immediately know it to be authentic Shameful Autobiographies looks at pervasive patterns of shame in the autobiographies of such leading Australian writers as Germaine Greer Sally Morgan Bernard Smith Kathleen Fitzpatrick Morris Lurie Ruby Langford Ginibi and Robert Dessaix In so doing it establishes the centrality of shame to problems of Australian identity and to current political debate for instance it is shame that fuels angry repudiations of the so called black armband view of history The calm clarity of Rosamund Dalziel's writing strengthens her powerful insights and arguments the most potent of which is that autobiographical confrontation with shame can heal deep wounds both for writers and for readers This mature and innovative book will enrich the experience of all readers of autobiography

Autobiographical Writing by Early Modern Hispanic Women Elizabeth Teresa Howe, 2016-04-08 Women's life writing in general has too often been ignored dismissed or relegated to a separate category in those few studies of the genre that include it The present work addresses these issues and offers a countervailing argument that focuses on the contributions of women writers to the study of autobiography in Spanish during the early modern period There are indeed examples of autobiographical writing by women in Spain and its New World empire evident as early as the fourteenth century Memorias penned by Doña Leonor López de Córdoba and continuing through the seventeenth century Cartas of Sor Juana Inés de la Cruz What sets these accounts apart the author shows are the variety of forms adopted by each woman to tell her life and the circumstances in which she adapts her narrative to satisfy the presence of male critics whether ecclesiastic or political actual or imagined who would dismiss or even alter her life story Analyzing how each of these women viewed her life and conversely how their contemporaries both male and female received and sometimes edited her account Howe reveals the tension in the texts between telling a life and telling a lie
