Breaking Ground Lynda V. Mapes,2015-09-14 In 2003 a backhoe operator hired by the state of Washington to work on the Port Angeles waterfront discovered what a larger world would soon learn The place chosen to dig a massive dry dock was atop one of the largest and oldest Indian village sites ever found in the region Yet the state continued its project disturbing hundreds of burials and unearthing more than 10 000 artifacts at Tse whit zen village the heart of the long buried homeland of the Klallam people Excitement at the archaeological find of a generation gave way to anguish as tribal members working alongside state construction workers encountered more and more human remains including many intact burials Finally tribal members said the words that stopped the project Enough is enough Soon after Lower Elwha Klallam Tribe chairwoman Frances Charles asked the state to walk away from more than 70 million in public money already spent on the project and find a new site The state in an unprecedented and controversial decision that reverberated around the nation agreed In search of the story behind the story Seattle Times reporter Lynda V Mapes spent more than a year interviewing tribal members archaeologists historians city and state officials and local residents and business leaders Her account begins with the history of Tse whit zen village and the nineteenth and twentieth century impacts of contact forced assimilation and industrialization She then engages all the voices involved in the dry dock controversy to explore how the site was chosen and how the decisions were made first to proceed and then to abandon the project as well as the aftermath and implications of those controversial choices This beautifully crafted and compassionate account illustrated with nearly 100 photographs illuminates the collective amnesia that led to the choice of the Port Angeles construction site You have to know your past in order to build your future Charles says recounting the words of tribal elders Breaking Ground takes that teaching to heart demonstrating that the lessons of Tse whit zen are teachings from which we all may benefit A Capell Family Book Official Airline Guide ,1978 A Vacation in Brittany Charles Richard Weld,1856 The Tetradoxy

Max Jacob: A Life in Art and Letters Rosanna Warren, 2020-10-20 A comprehensive and moving biography of Max Jacob a brilliant cubist poet who lived at the margins of fame Though less of a household name than his contemporaries in early twentieth century Paris Jewish homosexual poet Max Jacob was Pablo Picasso's initiator into French culture Guillaume Apollinaire's guide out of the haze of symbolism and Jean Cocteau's loyal friend As Picasso reinvented painting Jacob helped to reinvent poetry with compressed hard edged prose poems and synapse skipping verse lyrics the product of a complex amalgamation of Jewish Breton Parisian and Roman Catholic influences In Max Jacob the poet's life plays out against the vivid backdrop of bohemian Paris from the turn of the twentieth century through the divisions of World War II Acclaimed poet Rosanna Warren transports us to Picasso's ramshackle studio in Montmartre where Cubism was born introduces the artists gathered at a seedy bar on the left bank where Max would often hold court and offers a front row seat to the artistic squabbles that shaped the Modernist movement Jacob's complex understanding of faith art and sexuality animates this sweeping work In 1909 he saw a vision of Christ in his shabby room in Montmartre and in 1915 he converted formally from Judaism to Catholicism with Picasso as his godfather In his later years Jacob split his time between Paris and the monastery of Benoît sur Loire In February 1944 he was arrested by the Gestapo and sent to Drancy where he would die a few days later More than thirty years in the making this landmark biography offers a compelling tragic portrait of Jacob as a man and as an artist alongside a rich study of his groundbreaking poetry in Warren's own stunning translations Max Jacob is a nuanced deeply researched and essential contribution to Modernist scholarship
