Quest For Self Determination:

The Quest for Self-determination Dov Ronen,1979 Dov Ronen proposes in this interpretive essay that ethnic nationalism is simply the newest form of a basic human drive for self determination that has been manifested in four other movements since the French Revolution nineteenth century nationalism Marxist Leninist class self determination self determination for minorities as espoused by Wilson and decolonization Ronen s intention in this book is to explain what self determination is why people fight for it and what the implications of the struggle may be Though Ronen s approach is primarily analytical and philosophical he uses four cases the Scots Biafra the Palestinians and South Africa to illustrate the application of his thesis to current events Quest ,1987

A Postcolonial Political Theology of Care and Praxis in Ethiopia's Era of Identity Politics Rode Molla,2022-12-15 The author argues that identity politics eliminates Ethiopians in between spaces and identities and defines in between spaces as political social religious and geographical spaces that enable Ethiopians to co exist with equity solidarity and justice The elimination of in between spaces and in between identities creates either or class religious ethnic and gender categories Therefore the author proposes an in between theology that invites Ethiopians to a new hybrid way of being to resist fragmented and hegemonic identities The author claims that postcolonial discourse and praxis of in between pastoral care disrupts and interrogates hegemonic definitions of culture home subjectivity and identity On the other hand in between pastoral care uses embodiment belonging subjectivity and hybridity as features of care and praxis to create intercultural and intersubjective identities that can co construct and co create in between spaces In the in between spaces Ethiopians can relate with the Other with intercultural competencies to live their difference similarity hybridity and complexity

Autonomy of Migration? Stephan Scheel,2019-03-20 Examining how migrants appropriate mobility in the context of biometric border controls this volume mobilises new analytics and empirics in the debates about the politics of migration and provides an analytically effective and politically significant tool for the study of contemporary migration Drawing from the tension between the EU s attempt to achieve watertight border controls by means of biometric technologies and migrants persistence to move to and live in the EU the volume pursues two interrelated objectives first it studies the encounters between migrants and the Visa Information System VIS one of the largest biometric databases in the world from the perspective of mobility in order to investigate how migrants appropriate mobility via Schengen visa within and against this biometric border regime Second it addresses criticisms of autonomy of migration in order to develop it as a viable approach for border migration and critical security studies Hence the book is driven by two interrelated research questions what does the assertion of moments of autonomy of migration refer to in the context of border regimes that use biometrics to turn migrants bodies into a means of mobility control And how do migrants appropriate mobility via Schengen visa within and against biometric border regimes This book will be of great interest to scholars in border migration and critical security studies as well as researchers engaged in citizenship studies surveillance studies political theory critical IR theory and international political sociology

The Rise of Tamil Separatism in Sri Lanka Gnanapala Welhengama, Nirmala Pillay, 2014-03-05 Among the examples of civil wars armed secessionist movements and minority uprisings in the world today many involve conflict between a minority group's aim for political self determination and the nation state's resistance to any diminution of sovereignty With the expansion of the international regime of human rights minority groups have reconceptualised their struggle with the understanding that a minority which is linguistically religiously or ethnically distinctive is entitled to self determination if their aspirations cannot be met This book explores the relationship between minority rights self determination and secession within international law by contextualising these issues in a detailed case study of the rise of Tamil separatism in Sri Lanka Welhengama and Pillay show how Tamil communalism hardened into secession and assess whether the Sri Lankan government has met its obligations with respect to the right to self determination short of secession Focusing on the legal and human rights arguments for secession by the Tamil community of the North and East of Sri Lanka the book demonstrates how the language of international law and international human rights played a major role in the development of the arguments for secession Through a close examination of the case of the Tamil's secessionist movement the book presents valuable insights into why modern nation states find themselves threatened by separatist claims and bids for independence based on ethnicity

Passion and Paradox Joan Cocks,2009-01-10 From Kosovo to Quebec Ireland to East Timor nationalism has been a recurrent topic of intense debate It has been condemned as a source of hatred and war yet embraced for stimulating community feeling and collective freedom Joan Cocks explores the power danger and allure of nationalism by examining its place in the thought of eight politically engaged intellectuals of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries the antagonist of capital Karl Marx the critics of imperialism Rosa Luxemburg Hannah Arendt and Frantz Fanon the liberal pluralist Isaiah Berlin the neonationalist Tom Nairn and the post colonial writers V S Naipaul and Edward Said Cocks not only sheds new light on the complexities of nationalism but also reveals the tensions that have inspired and troubled intellectuals who have sought to lead lives between detached criticism and political passion In lively conversational prose Cocks assesses their treatment of questions such as the mythology of national identity the right to national self determination and the morality of nationalist violence While ultimately critical of nationalism she engages sympathetically even with its defenders By illuminating the links that distinguished minds have drawn between thought and action on nationalism in politics this stimulating work provides a rich foundation from which we ourselves might think or act more wisely when confronting a phenomenon that in fundamental and perplexing ways has shaped our world

Negotiating Nationalism W. J. Norman,2006-05-25 There are at least three times as many nations as states in the world today This book addresses some of the special challenges that arise when two or more national communities re the same multinational state As a work in normative political philosophy its principal aim is to evaluate the political and institutional choices of citizens and governments in states with rival nationalist discourses and nation building projects The first chapter takes stock of a decade of intense philosophical and sociological debates about the nature of nations and nationalism Norman identifies points of consensus in these debates as well as issues that do not have to be definitively resolved in order to proceed with normative theorizing He recommends thinking of nationalism as a form of discourse a way of arguing and mobilizing support and not primarily as a belief in a principle A liberal nationalist then is someone who uses nationalist arguments or appeals to nationalist sentiments in order to rally support for liberal policies The rest of the book is taken up with the three big political and institutional choices in multinational states First what can political actors and governments legitimately do to shape citizens national identity or identities This is the core question in the ethics of nation building or what Norman calls national engineering Second how can minority and majority national communities each be given an adequate degree of self determination including equal rights to carry out nation building projects within a democratic federal state Finally even in a world where most national minorities cannot have their own state how should the constitutions of multinational federations regulate secessionist politics within the rule of law and the ideals of democracy More than a decade after Yael Tamir's ground breaking Liberal Nationalism Norman finds that these three great practical and institutional questions have still rarely been addressed within a comprehensive normative theory of nationalism

Women in German Yearbook Women in German Yearbook, 1997-02-01 Volume 12 of Women in German Yearbook opens with a cluster of cross disciplinary articles Sara Lennox explores pertinent theoretical issues and introduces articles by historian Atina Grossman sociologist Myra Marx Ferree and political theorist Joan Cocks Three subsequent articles focus on the nineteenth century Todd Kontje challenges the notion that the Wars of Liberation renewed conservatism regarding gender Irmela Marei Krüger Fritzsche presents a new reading of the father daughter relationship in Kleist's Marquise of O and Helen G Morris Keitel describes the cultural work of Louise Otto's Castle and Factory Barbara Hales analyzes the criminal femme fatale as evidence of Weimar Germany's deep seated discomfort with modernity Kathrin Bower discusses poems by Nelly Sachs and Rose Ausländer as searches for the Mother Charlotte Melin analyzes gender differences in reworkings of the Alice in Wonderland motif Helgard Mahrdt explores connections between Ingeborg Bachmann's prose and the cultural criticism of the Frankfurt School and Frederick A. Lubich interviews the writer Elisabeth Alexander. Two articles focus on cultural differences. Karen Jankowsky reads The Facade by Libuše Moníková, a Czech author writing in German, and Leslie Adelson discusses Eva Demski's Afra in terms of Afro-German discourse. The volume closes with the editors' views on the yearbook's role in creating an American Germanics. Sara Friedrichsmeyer is a professor of German at the University of Cincinnati and the author of The Adrogyne in Early German Romanticism. Patricia A. Herminhouse is a professor of German at the University of Rochester and the editor of Frauen im Mittelpunkt: An Anthology of Contemporary German Women Writers. Called Unto Liberty! Colin H. Williams, 1994. This book examines the implications of language-related conflict and of nationalist mobilisation and analyses the appeal of national liberty for people whose national culture is itself challenged by structural and political changes in the global economy.

Peace and Conflict Studies Ho-Won Jeong, 2017-07-05. Ho-Won Jeong explains and assesses major approaches to dealing with ethnic conflict, communal violence, interstate war, and social injustice. The book analyses not only the sources of violence and conflict but also how to manage and prevent them. As peace is relevant to improvement in human well-being and the future survival of humanity, the volume encompasses a variety of themes ranging from alternative security policies, methods of peaceful settlement, human rights, self-determination, environmental politics, global governance, and non-violence. Reflecting on the current thinking and drawing lessons from the past, the book can be considered as the most authoritative introduction to the field since the end of the Cold War.

Historical Sociology of State Formation in the Horn of Africa Redie Bereketeab, 2023-03-28. This book analyses the historical sociology of state formation in the Horn of Africa. It examines the genesis, trajectories, processes, routes, and consequences of the evolution of state formation. Three analytical and explanatory models explain the process of state formation in the HOA: proto-state, colonial, and national liberation. The models heuristically and innovatively provide understanding, interpretation, and analysis of state formation. While the proto-state model explicates an indigenous historical process of state formation, the colonial model refers to an externally designed and imposed process of state formation. The national liberation model concerns state formation conducted under liberation movement and ideology. The distinct significance of these models is that collectively they generate sufficient analysis of state formation. They are also unique in that they have never been employed as aggregate analytical and explicative instruments to address the predicament of state formation in the Horn of Africa.
