Great Teaching Robert C. DiGiulio, 2004-04-02 Great Teaching offers a compass for teachers seeking direction, reorientation, and renewal. DiGiulio strips away the distractions and has put together an exceedingly readable, valuable, and affirming guide for preservice and classroom teachers to reflect upon their practice. Alan Canestrari, Assistant Professor of Education, Roger Williams University. Discover what makes you a great teacher and what makes teaching great. Did you know that you are a great teacher? Amid the parents and the paperwork, the assessments and accountability, the evaluations, and the e-mail, many teachers can't find time to reflect on, much less assess, their own teaching. This concise guide brings teaching back to its fundamental roots, proving that how you teach is just as important as what you teach. Great Teaching focuses on the core skills and qualities of great teachers, like caring, enthusiasm, clarity, and questioning, and then shows teachers how to find those skills and qualities within themselves. Drawing on his 33 years of experience, DiGiulio has developed specific techniques for assessing yourself and identifying your strengths, distilling your workload to the essentials and fundamentals, learning from your colleagues and planning cooperatively, using an 8-step framework to redefine your view of teaching, getting back to basics, realizing that less is more, and flourishing as you develop the skills and qualities that make you the great teacher that you are.

Faith-Based Education That Constructs HeeKap Lee,2010-08-09 Constructivism is everywhere It is a hot issue at this time in the field of philosophy education technology and religion However can constructivism be an alternative approach in faith based education While some conclude that Jesus knew learning was an active knowledge creating process and that he always encouraged his disciples to think deeply and go beyond the surface level others would find that constructivism undercuts faith based education because of its claims to relativity For example constructivists claim that meaning is imposed on the world by us rather than existing in the world independently from us Thus they proclaim that truth is relative to particular times places and people Christians hold that truth does exist absolutely So how can there be a way forward for faith based educators who see the good in the constructivist approach In Faith Based Education that Constructs readers will find a unique approach whereby constructivism may appropriately be applied to a faith based education setting Although disagreement can occur between constructivism and faith based education this book concludes that constructivist thought and Christian faith based education are in the end congruent and harmonious in significant ways Those faith based educators who continue to hold cautionary views of radical constructivist assertions against absolute truths need not disregard all other aspects of constructivism
