Russell Hawkins,2021-05-13 Why did southern white evangelical Christians resist the civil rights movement in the 1950s and 1960s Simply put they believed the Bible told them so These white Christians entered the battle certain that God was on their side Ultimately the civil rights movement triumphed in the 1960s and with its success fundamentally transformed American society But this victory did little to change southern white evangelicals theological commitment to segregation Rather than abandoning their segregationist theology in the second half of the 1960s white evangelicals turned their focus on institutions

they still controlled churches homes denominations and private colleges and secondary schools and fought on Focusing on the case of South Carolina The Bible Told Them So shows how despite suffering defeat in the public sphere white evangelicals continued to battle for their own institutions preaching and practicing a segregationist Christianity they continued to believe reflected God s will Increasingly caught in the tension between their sincere belief that God desired segregation and their reluctance to give voice to such ideas for fear of being perceived as bigoted or intolerant by the late 1960s southern white evangelicals embraced the rhetoric of colorblindness and protection of the family as measures to maintain both segregation and respectable social standing This strategy set southern white evangelicals on an alternative path for race relations in the decades ahead
