Louise Bogan's Aesthetic Of Limitation:

Louise Bogan's Aesthetic of Limitation Gloria Bowles, 1987-01-01 Louise Bogan's Aesthetic of Limitation Gloria Bowles, 1987 A Study Guide for Louise Bogan's "Song for the Last Act" Gale, Cengage Learning, 2016 The Veiled Mirror and the Woman Poet Elizabeth Caroline Dodd, 1992 In The Veiled Mirror and the Woman Poet Elizabeth Dodd explores the lives and work of four women poets of the twentieth century H D Louise Bogan Elizabeth Bishop and Louise Gluck Dodd argues that sexist and male dominated cultural forces in their personal and professional lives challenged these women to find a unique mode of expression in their poetry a practice Dodd defines as personal classicism Dodd uses the term personal classicism to examine modern and contemporary poetry that appears torn between two major modes of poetic sensibility the Romantic and the Classical While the four poets she addresses exhibit a poetic sensibility that is primarily Romantic valuing Wordsworth's spontaneous overflow of powerful feelings adopting a natural spoken tone and relying on personal subject matter they have nonetheless employed masking and controlling strategies that are more nearly Classical Combining feminist theory and biographical studies with close readings of individual poems Dodd moves historically from H D one of the best known Imagists through the Confessional movement to the major contemporary poet Louise Gluck In the final chapter Dodd brings us to the present where she finds women writers still struggling with the recent Confessional legacy of such highly anthologized poets as Anne Sexton and Sylvia Plath The Veiled Mirror and the Woman Poet combines thoughtful consideration of both formal and theoretical issues in a graceful prose that reaffirms poetry as an art vitally connected to life It will be of significant interest to students of modern and contemporary poetry as well as to those concerned with women's studies American Women Writers, 1900-1945 Laurie Champion, 2000-09-30 Women writers have been traditionally excluded from literary canons and not until recently have scholars begun to rediscover or discover for the first time neglected women writers and their works This reference includes alphabetically arranged entries on 58 American women authors who wrote between 1900 and 1945 Each entry is written by an expert contributor and discusses a particular author's biography her major works and themes and the critical response to her writings The entries close with extensive primary and secondary bibliographies and the volume concludes with a list of works for further reading The period surveyed by this reference is rich and diverse Modernism and the Harlem Renaissance two major artistic movements occurred between 1900 and 1945 and the entries included here demonstrate the significant contributions women made to these movements The volume as a whole strives to reflect the diversity of American culture and includes entries for African American Native American Mexican American and Chinese American women It includes well known writers such as Willa Cather and Eudora Welty along with more neglected ones such as Anita Scott Coleman and Sui Sin Far The Cambridge History of American Poetry Alfred Bendixen, Stephen Burt, 2014-10-27 The Cambridge History of American Poetry offers a comprehensive exploration of the development of American poetic traditions from their beginnings until the end of the twentieth century Bringing together the insights of fifty distinguished scholars this literary history emphasizes the complex roles that poetry has played in American cultural and intellectual life detailing the variety of ways in which both public and private forms of poetry have met the needs of different communities at different times The Cambridge History of American Poetry recognizes the existence of multiple traditions and a dramatically fluid canon providing current perspectives on both major authors and a number of representative figures whose work embodies the diversity of America's democratic traditions

Repression and Recovery Cary Nelson, 1989 A poststructuralist literary history Nelson's premise that the history of modernist culture is one we no longer know we have forgotten and he aims to recover the political questions many forgotten modern poets looked straight in the eye A History of Twentieth-Century American Women's Poetry Linda A. Kinnahan, 2016-06-20 A History of Twentieth Century American Women's Poetry explores the genealogy of modern American verse by women from the early twentieth century to the millennium Beginning with an extensive introduction that charts important theoretical contributions to the field this History includes wide ranging essays that illuminate the legacy of American women poets Organized thematically these essays survey the multilayered verse of such diverse poets as Edna St Vincent Millay Marianne Moore Anne Sexton Adrienne Rich and Audre Lorde Written by a host of leading scholars this History also devotes special attention to the lasting significance of feminist literary criticism This book is of pivotal importance to the development of women's poetry in America and will serve as an invaluable reference for specialists and students alike The Berkeley Literary Women's Revolution Marsha Hudson, Bridget Connelly, Doris Earnshaw, 2005 Even during the late 1960s academia remained largely the province of men That began to change at the University of California at Berkeley in 1969 when Marsha Hudson posted notices across campus proposing a feminist literary salon The purpose was to discuss women's literature a few female writers received passing notice in the classroom but the multitude was either ignored or forgotten The informal gatherings continued for years growing into an activist movement that established the first Women's Studies major at Berkeley helped produce the first major anthologies of women's poetry and fought for equality and recognition in every corner of the education system They risked their academic futures in the process but the efforts of those women and others helped change the face and shape of higher learning forever These 16 essays were written by members of Marsha's Salon and its successors the Comparative Literature Women's Caucus a group of female graduate students at UC Berkeley organized in 1969 by Marsha Hudson The group met for years and helped lead the charge to bring sexual equality to all facets of education These annotated essays recount the atmosphere of the time that made change necessary the upheaval brought about by the feminist revolution in education the direction that the movement took and the current state of feminist learning in academia An appendix features period letters and documents from group members regarding the need for changes at Berkeley as well as statistical information about women's studies and related subjects New Black Feminist Criticism, 1985-2000 Barbara Christian, 2010-10-01 A passionate and celebrated pioneer in her own words New Black

Feminist Criticism 1985 2000 collects a selection of essays and reviews from Barbara Christian one of the founding voices in black feminist literary criticism Published between the release of her second landmark book Black Feminist Criticism and her death these writings include eloquent reviews evaluations of black feminist criticism as a discipline reflections on black feminism in the academy and essays on Toni Morrison Alice Walker Paule Marshall and others Women's Studies on Its Own Robyn Wiegman,2002-11-13 The future of a retheorized women s studies in an increasingly institutionalized context
