Maos Children In New China Voices From The Red Guard Generation:

Mao's Children in the New China Yarong Jiang, David Ashley, 2000 First Published in 2000 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Encyclopedia of Contemporary Chinese Culture Edward Lawrence Davis, 2005 First Published in 2009 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Unending Capitalism Karl Gerth, 2020-05-14 What forces shaped the twentieth century world Capitalism and communism are usually seen as engaged in a fight to the death during the Cold War With the establishment of the People s Republic of China in 1949 the Chinese Communist Party aimed to end capitalism Karl Gerth argues that despite the socialist rhetoric of class warfare and egalitarianism Communist Party policies actually developed a variety of capitalism and expanded consumerism This negated the goals of the Communist Revolution across the Mao era 1949 1976 down to the present Through topics related to state attempts to manage what people began to desire wristwatches and bicycles films and fashion leisure travel and Mao badges Gerth challenges fundamental assumptions about capitalism communism and countries conventionally labeled as socialist In so doing his provocative history of China suggests how larger forces related to the desire for mass produced consumer goods reshaped the twentieth century world and remade people s lives The Teahouse Under Socialism Di Wang, 2018-06-15 This text explores urban public life through the microcosm of the Chengdu teahouse Like most public spaces the teahouse was and still is an enduring symbol of Chinese popular culture stemming back centuries and prevailing through political transformations modernization and globalization The time period covered begins basically with the establishment of the People s Republic in 1949 50 goes through the end of the Cultural Revolution and into the post Mao reform era Doing Digital Migration Studies Koen Leurs, Sandra Ponzanesi, 2025-10-01 Doing Digital Migration present a comprehensive entry point to the variety of theoretical debates methodological interventions political discussions and ethical debates around migrant forms of belonging as articulated through digital practices Digital technologies impact upon everyday migrant lives while vice versa migrants play a key role in technological developments be it when negotiating the communicative affordances of platforms and devices as consumers of particular commercial services such as sending remittances as platform gig workers or test cases for new advanced surveillance technologies With its international scope this anthology invites scholars to pluralize understandings of the migrant and the digital The anthology is organized in five different sections Creative Practices Digital Diasporas and Placemaking Affect and Belonging Visuality and digital media and Datafication Infrastructuring and Securitization These sections are dedicated to emerging key topics and debates in digital migration studies and sections are each introduced by international experts I The emphasis on reflective doing of digital migration studies So far scholarship in this interdisciplinary focus area has remained relatively silent on the topic of accountability and questions of decision making in the research process II The truly transdisciplinary and international scope of the volume distinguishes this volume from the disciplinary oriented special issues and monographs published in the field of media and communication anthropology migration studies and refugee studies Digital migration creates new challenges for cross disciplinary dialogues that require an integration of ethnography with digital methods and critical data studies in order to look at the formation of identity and experience representation community building and creating spaces of belongingness

III The innovative emphasis on everyday lived experiences and practices sheds much needed light on the ways in which increasingly documented infrastructures of datafication and digitization are lived negotiated and contested For this purpose the volume pays particular attention to the everyday use of digital media for the support of transnational lives emotional bonds and cosmopolitan affiliations focusing also on the role technologies such as social media and smartphones play in shaping local urban and national diasporic formations This is because it becomes increasingly important to give everyday digital media usage a central role in investigations of transnational belonging digital intimacy diasporic community re production migrant subject formation long distance political participation urban social integration and local national self organization

Cities and Stability Jeremy L. Wallace, 2014 China's management of urbanization is an under appreciated factor in the regime's longevity The Chinese Communist Party fears Latin Americanization the emergence of highly unequal megacities with their attendant slums and social unrest Such cities threaten the survival of nondemocratic regimes To combat the threat many regimes including China's favor cities in policymaking Cities and Stability shows this urban bias to be a Faustian Bargain cities may be stabilized for a time but the massive in migration from the countryside that results can generate the conditions for political upheaval Through its hukou system of internal migration restrictions China has avoided this dilemma simultaneously aiding urbanites and keeping farmers in the countryside The system helped prevent social upheaval even during the Great Recession when tens of millions of laid off migrant workers dispersed from coastal cities Jeremy Wallace's powerful account forces us to rethink the relationship between cities and political stability throughout the developing world

Memory, Fluid Identity, and the Politics of Remembering Li Li, 2016-06-21 The Chinese Cultural Revolution is the single most important internal social event in contemporary Chinese history The plethora of history literary and artistic representations inspired by this event are critical to our understanding of the diversified often contested interpretations of contemporary China Li Li's critical examination of autobiographic filmic and fictional presentations in Memory Fluid Identity and the Politics of Remembering The Representations of the Chinese Cultural Revolution in English speaking Countries demonstrates that memory works not only reflect memories of those who lived through that period but memories about their past and more importantly about their identity remapping and artistic negotiation in a cross cultural environment

Governing Death, Making Persons Huwy-min Lucia Liu, 2023-01-15 Governing Death Making Persons tells the story of how economic reforms and changes in the management of death in China have affected the governance of persons The Chinese Communist Party has sought to channel the funeral industry and death rituals into vehicles for reshaping people into modern citizens and subjects Since the Reform and Opening period and the marketization of state

funeral parlors the Party has promoted personalized funerals in the hope of promoting a market oriented and individualistic ethos However things have not gone as planned Huwy min Lucia Liu writes about the funerals she witnessed and the life stories of two kinds of funeral workers state workers who are quasi government officials and semilegal private funeral brokers She shows that end of life commemoration in urban China today is characterized by the resilience of social conventions and not a shift toward market economy individualization Rather than seeing a rise of individualism and the decline of a socialist self Liu sees the durability of socialist religious communal and relational ideas of self woven together through creative ritual framings in spite of their contradictions

Paramilitarism Uğur Ümit Üngör,2020 From the deserts of Sudan to the jungles of Colombia from the streets of Belfast to the mountains of Kurdistan paramilitaries have appeared in violent conflicts Ungor presents a comparative and global overview of paramilitarism showing how states use it to successfully outsource mass political violence against civilians

Conditional Democracy Émilie Frenkiel,2015-03-01 Little is known about the political views of non dissident Chinese intellectuals For this book milie Frenkiel has been granted unprecedented access to the discussions of politically committed Chinese who have been part of the intellectual debate on post Tiananmen reform Her in depth research elicits lively views that reflect the yearnings and fears of the country s political elite and reveal the diversity of approaches to China s democratisation

Obedient Autonomy Erika E.S. Evasdottir,2007-10-01 In the west the idea of autonomy is often associated with a sense of freedom a self interested state of being unfettered by rules or obligations to others This original anthropological study explores a type of obedient autonomy that thrives on setbacks blossoms as more rules are imposed and flourishes in adversity Obedient Autonomy analyzes this model and explains its precepts through examining the specialized and highly organized discipline of archaeology in China The book follows Chinese students on their journey to becoming full fledged archaeologists in a bureaucracy saturated environment Often required to travel in teams to the countryside archaeologists are uniquely obliged to overcome divisions among themselves between themselves and their peasant workers and between themselves and bureaucratic officials This analysis reveals how these interactions provide teachers of archaeology with stories used to foster obedient autonomy in their students Moreover it demonstrates how this form of autonomy enables a person to order and control their future careers in what appears to be a disorderly and uncertain world A masterly contextualization of archaeology in China Obedient Autonomy shows how the discipline has accommodated itself to a Chinese social structure and uncovers the moral ethical political and economic underpinnings of that context It will be accessible to students of anthropology even as it will provoke Euro American archaeologists and interest social theorists of science philosophers gender theorists and students of Chinese society

The Creation of Modern China, 1894-2008 Iain Robertson Scott,2016-06-30 China preoccupies us yet its recent past is still relatively unfamiliar No country has undergone a greater period of sustained and turbulent change than China in the twentieth century but it has emerged again as a leading global power It is therefore more important than ever to understand the society it has become and its rise to such influence This timely study uses recent research to explore how China has been transformed from an economic and political backwater at the start of the twentieth century to its current pre eminent position one hundred years later Social Computing and Virtual Communities Panayiotis Zaphiris, Chee Siang Ang, 2009-12-23 Due to the advancement of the Internet online communities are gaining increasing importance in the research community Presented from a user s perspective this book explores the diverse application areas of social computing and online communities A significant portion of the text focuses on real world case studies in which user behaviors social mechanisms and technological issues are investigated Drawing from computer science information systems and social science the book takes a multidisciplinary approach to evaluate virtual communities It is useful for those who construct moderate and maintain online communities A History of Pain Michael Berry, 2008 This work probes the restaging representation and reimagining of historical violence and atrocity in contemporary Chinese fiction film and popular culture It examines five historical moments including the Musha Incident 1930 and the February 28 Incident 1947 Tempered in the Revolutionary Furnace Yihong Pan, 2009-01-01 In Tempered in the Revolutionary Furnace Yihong Pan tells her personal story and the story of her generation of urban middle school graduates sent to the countryside during China s Rustication Movement Based on interviews reminiscences diaries letters and newspaper accounts the work examines the varied and often perplexing experiences of the seventeen million Chinese students sent to work in the countryside between 1953 and 1980 Rich in human drama Pan s book illustrates how life in the countryside transformed the children of Mao from innocent ignorant yet often passionate believers in the Communist Party into independent adults Those same adults would go on to lead the nationwide protests in the winter of 1978 1979 that forced the government to abandon its policy of rustication Richly textured this work successfully blends biography with a wealth of historical insight to bring to life the trials of a generation and to offer Chinese studies scholars a fascinating window into Mao Zedong s China Book jacket Technology, Gender and History in Imperial China Francesca Bray, 2013-06-19 What can the history of technology contribute to our understanding of late imperial China Most stories about technology in pre modern China follow a well worn plot in about 1400 after an early ferment of creativity that made it the most technologically sophisticated civilisation in the world China entered an era of technical lethargy and decline But how are we to reconcile this tale which portrays China in the Ming and Qing dynasties as a dying giant that had outgrown its own strength with the wealth of counterevidence affirming that the country remained rich vigorous and powerful at least until the end of the eighteenth century Does this seeming contradiction mean that the stagnation story is simply wrong or perhaps that technology was irrelevant to how imperial society worked Or does it imply that historians of technology should ask better questions about what technology was what it did and what it meant in pre modern societies like late imperial China In this book Francesca Bray explores subjects such as technology and ethics technology and gendered subjectivities both female and male and technology and statecraft to illuminate how material

settings and practices shaped topographies of everyday experience and ideologies of government techniques of the self and technologies of the subject Examining technologies ranging from ploughing and weaving to drawing pictures building a house prescribing medicine or composing a text this book offers a rich insight into the interplay between the micro and macro politics of everyday life and the workings of governmentality in late imperial China showing that gender principles were woven into the very fabric of empire from cosmology and ideologies of rule to the material foundations of the state and the everyday practices of the domestic sphere This authoritative text will be welcomed by students and scholars of Chinese history as well as those working on global history and the histories of gender technology and agriculture Furthermore it will be of great use to those interested in social and cultural anthropology and material culture Maid In China Wanning Sun,2009-01-21 Maid in China is the first systematic book length investigation of internal rural migration in post Mao China focused on the day to day production and consumption of popular media Taking the rural maid in the urban home as its point of departure the book weaves together three years of engaged ethnographic research in Beijing and Shanghai with critical analyses of a diverse array of popular media and follows three lines of inquiry media and cultural production consumption practices and everyday politics It unravels some of the myriad ways in which the subaltern figure of the domestic worker comes to be inscribed with the cultural politics of boundaries that entrench a host of inequalities between rich and poor male and female rural and urban Wanning Sun explores a number of paradoxes that the domestic worker lives out on a daily basis her ubiquitous invisibility her enduring transience and her status as an intimate stranger Collectively these paradoxes afford her a unique window onto the spaces and practices of the modern Chinese city This intimate stranger s epistemological status makes her an unauthorized yet authoritative witness of urban residents social lives offering a revealing lens through which to examine both the formation of new social relations in post reform urban China and the new social uses of space both domestic and public engendered by these relations China's Past, China's Future Vaclav Smil,2004-03 China has a population of 1.3 billion people which puts enormous strain on her natural resources This volume by one of the leading scholars on the earth s biosphere provides the fullest account yet of the environmental challenges that China faces How China Works Jacob Eyferth,2006-09-27 Presenting compelling case study material international specialists examine the labour issues surrounding the workplace in China during a tumultuous time in the country s history and reassesses the significance of labour process theory in the context of the changing Chinese workplace Working in China Ching Kwan Lee,2006-10-03 After a quarter of a century of market reform China has become the workshop of the world and the leading growth engine of the global economy Its immense labour force accounts for some twenty nine per cent of the world s total labour pool but all too little is known about Chinese labour beyond the image of workers toiling under appalling sweatshop conditions for extremely low wages Working in China introduces the lived experiences of labour in a wide range of occupations and work settings The chapters of this book cover professional employees such as engineers and lawyers service workers such as bar hostesses domestic maids and hotel workers and industrial workers in a variety of factories The mosaic of human faces organizational dynamics and workers voices presented in the book reflect the complexity of changes and challenges taking place in the Chinese workplace today Based on extraordinary and thorough field research this book will have a wide readership at undergraduate level and beyond appealing to students and scholars from a myriad of disciplines including Chinese studies labour studies sociology and political economy
