Desmond, 2016-08-18 The number of ways in which humans interact with animals is almost incalculable From beloved household pets to the steak on our dinner tables the fur in our closets to the Babar books on our shelves taxidermy exhibits to local zoos humans have complex deep and dependent relationships with the animals in our ecosystems In Displaying Death and Animating Life Jane C Desmond puts those human animal relationships under a multidisciplinary lens focusing on the less obvious and revealing the individualities and subjectivities of the real animals in our everyday lives Desmond a pioneer in the field of animal studies builds the book on a number of case studies She conducts research on site at major museums taxidermy conventions pet cemeteries and even at a professional conference for writers of obituaries She goes behind the scenes at zoos wildlife clinics and meetings of pet cemetery professionals We journey with her as she meets Kanzi the bonobo artist and a host of other animal artists all of whom are preparing their artwork for auction Throughout Desmond moves from a consideration of the visual display of unindividuated animals to mourning for known animals and finally to the marketing of artwork by individual animals The first book in the new Animal Lives series Displaying Death and Animating Life is a landmark study bridging disciplines and reaching across divisions from the humanities and social sciences to chart new territories of investigation Environmental Anthropology Helen Kopnina, Eleanor Shoreman-Ouimet, 2013-07-18 This volume presents new theoretical approaches methodologies subject pools and topics in the field of environmental anthropology Environmental anthropologists are increasingly focusing on self reflection not just on themselves and their impacts on environmental research but also on the reflexive qualities of their subjects and the extent to which these individuals are questioning their own environmental behavior Here contributors confront the very notion of natural resources in granting non human species their subjectivity and arguing for deeper understanding of nature and wilderness beyond the label of ecosystem services By engaging in interdisciplinary efforts these anthropologists present new ways for their colleagues subjects peers and communities to understand the causes of and alternatives to environmental destruction This book demonstrates that environmental anthropology has moved beyond the construction of rural small group theory entering into a mode of solution based methodologies and interdisciplinary theories for understanding human environmental interactions It is focused on post rural existence health and environmental risk assessment on the realm of alternative actions and emphasizes the necessary steps towards preventing environmental crisis Mourning Animals Margo DeMello, 2016-08-01 We live more intimately with nonhuman animals than ever before in history The change in the way we cohabitate with animals can be seen in the way we treat them when they die There is an almost infinite variety of ways to help us cope with the loss of our nonhuman friends from burial cremation and taxidermy to wearing or displaying the remains ashes fur or other parts of our deceased animals in jewelry tattoos or other artwork to counselors who specialize in helping people mourn pets to classes for veterinarians to tips to help the surviving animals who are grieving their animal friends to pet psychics and memorial websites But the reality is that these practices and related beliefs about animal souls or animal afterlife generally only extend with very few exceptions to certain kinds of animals pets Most animals in most cultures are not mourned and the question of an animal afterlife is not contemplated at all Mourning Animals investigates how we mourn animal deaths which animals are grievable and what the implications are for all animals The Urban Naturalist Menno Schilthuizen, 2025-04-01 A manifesto and a field guide for a new dawn of natural history practiced by community scientists in their own urban jungle Imagine taking your smartphone turned microscope to an empty lot and discovering a rare mason bee that builds its nest in empty snail shells Or a miniature spider that hunts ants and carries their corpses around With a team of citizen scientists that's exactly what Menno Schilthuizen did one instance in the evolutionary biologist's campaign to take natural science to the urban landscape where most of us live today In this delightful book The Urban Naturalist Schilthuizen invites us to join him to embark on a new age of discovery venturing out as intrepid explorers of our own urban habitat and maybe in the process do the natural world some good Thanks to the open science revolution real biological discoveries can now be made by anyone right where they live Schilthuizen shows readers just how to go about making those discoveries introducing them to the tools of the trade of the urban community scientist from the tried and tested the field notebook the butterfly net and the hand lens to the newfangled internet resources low tech gadgets and off the shelf gizmos But beyond technology his book holds the promise of reviving the lost tradition of the citizen scientist rekindling the spirit of the Victorian naturalist for the modern world At a time when the only nature most people get to see is urban The Urban Naturalist demonstrates that understanding the novel ecosystems around us is our best hope for appreciating and protecting biodiversity Extreme Cuisine Jerry Hopkins, 2019-05-28 I could not have written A Cook's Tour without this book There is so much I would have missed So dig in Enjoy Eat Eat adventurously Miss nothing It's all here in these pages From the Foreword by Anthony Bourdain Sit down for a meal with the locals on six continents what they are eating may surprise you Extreme Cuisine examines eating habits across the globe showing once and for all that one man's road kill is another man's delicacy I've tried to make this book a guide to how the other half dines and why Over a period of twenty five years I've augmented my meat and potatoes upbringing in the United States to try a wide variety of regional specialties from steamed water beetles fried grasshoppers and ants to sparrow bison and crocodile I've eaten deep fried bull's testicles in Mexico live shrimp sushi in Hawaii mice cooked over an open wood fire in Thailand pig stomach soup in Singapore minced water buffalo and yak butter tea in Nepal stir fried dog tongue and five penis wine in China From the introduction by Jerry Hopkins Dive headfirst into food culture from around the world Join author Jerry Hopkins on a culinary and cultural tour as he explores foods that may seem bizarre and often off putting to us As he says What is considered repulsive to someone in one part of the world in another part of the world is simply considered lunch Part travelogue part cultural commentary and history and part cookbook yes really with Extreme Cuisine anyone can become an adventurous eater or at least learn what it's like to be one Chapters include Mammals Reptiles Water Creatures Birds Insects Spiders Scorpions Plants Leftovers

Wild Games Dennis Ray Cutchins, Eric Alden Eliason, 2009 Humans understand at least some of what it means to be human both literally and figuratively in reference to wild animals Our relationships with wildlife have traditionally been expressed in terms of hunting more recently these relationships have also been manifest as efforts to prevent hunting Hunting and fishing traditions are in fact under fire by critics at the same time that they are receding of their own accord perhaps becoming even more endangered than any of the pursued animals These traditions form the major focus of Wild Games a new collection of essays that looks at the folklore and culture of various hunting and fishing practices documenting the central importance of hunting to many rural societies even in modern times Editors Dennis Cutchins and Eric Eliason contend that hunters often don't perceive of themselves as separate from the wild but rather identify strongly with a natural order integrated with rather than standing apart from the fluctuation of ecosystems And they frequently don't see wild animals as set apart but understand them as food sources competitors friendly rivals and even equals Featuring contributions from a variety of distinguished scholars and writers including an essay by the noted folklorist Simon Bronner on the culture of the deer camp a fascinating account of coyote tracking by Eric Eliason and an examination of the role of gender in outdoor life by Diane Humphrey Lueck this book shows how the traditions of hunting and fishing tend to bind hunter and prey into ancient patterns that often defy contemporary culture Book Jacket
