Paolo Portoghesi Designer:

Paolo Portoghesi Petra Bernitsa, 2012 Portoghesi's works stand out as a movement of tender growth resistance against voluntary and obstinate amnesia unable to understand the secret forces of the earth. Ultimately Portoghesi strives to achieve a Geoarchitecture inspired by a different mentality, one which talks of changes to one's Being in the world where dwelling and building are indissolubly linked to Being. He follows on from Heidegger, Holderlin, and even before them Goethe and Palladio. Listening and ecology meet through ethical discourse on the place of dwelling and illuminate the hidden face of architecture that lives in the minds and hearts of all humans, revealing one of the oldest and most universal forms of religion: collective memory. More than a hundred built works and designs in Italy, Germany, France, Palestine, Nigeria, and China narrate the differences in Paolo Portoghesi's creative designs. The book uses two methods to critically examine these works: history and listening. In 2005, reacting polemically to the irrational trends of the turn of the century, Portoghesi proposed the need for a Geoarchitecture based on geophilosophy, an architecture that still doesn't exist. An architecture of responsibility that inverts the direction taken by current developments, commits itself to giving human settlements back their choral nature, and builds a New Alliance between mankind and the environment. Paolo Portoghesi Silvia Micheli, Léa-Catherine Szacka, 2023-10-19 Through the work of the Italian architect, theorist, and historian Paolo Portoghesi (1931–2023), this book offers a new perspective on postmodern architecture, showing the agency of other spheres of knowledge: history, politics, and media in the making of postmodern architectural discourse. It explores how Portoghesi's personal postmodern project was based on the triangulation of a renewed interest in historical architectural language, unprecedented use of media, and intertwined links between architecture and politics. Organized in a sequence of critical chapters supported by the analysis of Portoghesi's most significant architectural projects, including Casa Baldi (1959), The Mosque in Rome (1975–95), and his Strada Novissima exhibition (1980), the book unfolds around the three main themes of history, politics, and media. Published as part of the Bloomsbury Studies in Modern Architecture series, which brings to light the work of significant yet overlooked modernist architects, the study features previously unpublished archival material, interviews by the authors, and articles from professional and mainstream press to present Portoghesi in his multifaceted role of mediator, politician, historian, and designer. Paolo Portoghesi Paolo Portoghesi, Cristina Di Stefano, Donatella Scatena, 1998 Chiefly col. ill. of furniture, watches, tableware, and lamps designed by Portoghesi. Italian Design Giampiero Bosoni, Museum of Modern Art (New York, N.Y.), 2008 The story of Italian design told through works selected from the collection of the Museum of Modern Art, New York. BOOK JACKET Making it Modern Aaron Betsky, 2016-12-15 At its root, modernism is that fundamental. It is a question of having something to represent that is of the moment. In the most radical interpretation, modernism always comes too late. The modern is that which is always new, which is to say always changing and already old by the time it has appeared. Modernism is always a retrospective act: one of documenting or trying to catch what has already appeared, an attempt to fix life as it is being lived Modernity is just the very fact that we as human beings are continually remaking the world around us through our actions and are doing so consciously Modernism is a monument to or memory of that act which in its own making tries to remake the world it is pretending to represent

The Baroque in Architectural Culture, 1880-1980 Andrew Leach, John Macarthur, 2016-03-09 In his landmark volume Space Time and Architecture Sigfried Giedion paired images of two iconic spirals Tatlin s Monument to the Third International and Borromini s dome for Sant Ivo alla Sapienza The values shared between the baroque age and the modern were thus encapsulated on a single page spread As Giedion put it writing of Sant Ivo Borromini accomplished the movement of the whole pattern from the ground to the lantern without entirely ending even there And yet he merely groped towards that which could be completely effected in modern architecture achieving the transition between inner and outer space The intellectual debt of modern architecture to modernist historians who were ostensibly preoccupied with the art and architecture of earlier epochs is now widely acknowledged This volume extends this work by contributing to the dual projects of the intellectual history of modern architecture and the history of architectural historiography It considers the varied ways that historians of art and architecture have historicized modern architecture through its interaction with the baroque a term of contested historical and conceptual significance that has often seemed to shadow a greater contest over the historicity of modernism Presenting research by an international community of scholars this book explores through a series of cross sections the traffic of ideas between practice and history that has shaped modern architecture and the academic discipline of architectural history across the long twentieth century The editors use the historiography of the baroque as a lens through which to follow the path of modern ideas that draw authority from history In doing so the volume defines a role for the baroque in the history of architectural historiography and in the history of modern architectural culture
