Paradise Lost Or Gained The Literature Of Hispanic Exile:

Paradise Lost Or Gained? Fernando Alegria, Jorge Ruffinelli, 1991-01-01 This chronicle of exile is filled not with proclamations or denunciations but instead with voices of nostalgic reflection of evocations and secret wishes visions of return and the anticipation of a fate discerned in the noise of battle as well as in the joy of solidarity Paradise Lost Or Gained? Fernando Alegria, Jorge Ruffinelli, 1990

Cuban-American Literature of Exile Isabel Alvarez-Borland, 1998 The Cuban revolution of 1959 initiated a significant exodus with more than 700 000 Cubans eventually settling in the United States This community creates a major part of what is now known as the Cuban diaspora In Cuban American Literature of Exile Isabel Alvarez Borland forces the dialogue between literature and history into the open by focusing on narratives that tell the story of the 1959 exodus and its aftermath Alvarez Borland pulls together a diverse array of Cuban American voices writing in both English and Spanish often from contrasting perspectives and approaches over several generations and waves of immigration Writers discussed include Guillermo Cabrera Infante Reinaldo Arenas Roberto Fernandez Achy Obejas and Cristina Garcia The author s analysis of their works uncovers a movement from narratives that reflect the personal loss caused by the historical fact of exile to autobiographical writings that reflect the need to search for a new identity in a new language to fictions that dramatize the authors constructed Cuban American personae If read collectively she argues these sometimes dissimilar texts appear to be in dialogue with one another as they all document a people s quest to reinvent themselves outside their nation of origin Cuban American Literature of Exile encourages readers to consider the evolution of Cuban literature in the United States over the last forty years Alvarez Borland defines a new American literature of Cuban heritage and documents the changing identity of an exiled literature

Forbidden Fruit and Other Stories Pablo La Rosa, 1996-11-30 In masterful tales of coming of age and becoming marginalized during the Cuban Revolution and its aftermath Pablo La Rosa nostalgically looks back at a childhood spent by the seaside and creates a mosaic of poignant experiences seen through the glaring lens of race and exile Neither the advantages of race or education however can exempt the disoriented protagonist from their perceived loss of homeland integrity identity In the masterful El Marielito La Rosa captures the bewilderment of a black man marginalized by his race and circumstances in pre and post revolutionary Cuba and during his exile in the United States Equally on the margin in spite of the advantages of education and race a Cuban college student can relate only to a Russian janitor though they share no common language they wordlessly share a longing for their lost homelands La Rosa exhibits a penchant for the whimsical and experimental in homage to Latin American masters Jose Donoso Carlos Fuentes and Julio Cortazar His stylistic journey takes us from the magically real to psychological suspense and adventure La Rosa's masterful pen captivates our imagination and projects the reader into the souls of his characters

Seeking Balance A. Pablo Iannone, 2017-07-28 The problems and issues arising from globalization are difficult to resolve in part because our ways of conceptualizing the conflicts and responding to them are inadequate This book fills this gap conceiving of globalization as a consequence of economic political technological scientific and cultural changes A Pablo Iannone provides a taxonomy of globalization processes investigates the consequences of each and formulates a comprehensive approach for dealing with them While his emphasis is philosophical this is not a single discipline book Rather it belongs at the intersection of philosophy economics political science and technology Its discussions address issues concerning globalization and correlate the processes of fragmentation and dislocation in a realistic manner Iannone focuses on concrete and current cases from the global economic and financial issues posed by the multi centered nature of contemporary business and technology through the pressures of ever increasing information overload across the planet He explores the environmental and social challenges associated with current Amazonian development and its significance to weather patterns on Earth He considers the issues surrounding the use of robots in war from Pakistan through Mexico and the militarization of space In short the approach while based on theoretical concerns is solidly grounded in highly practical applications which are global in their implications

Not Grown Up Forever Ching Man Lam, 2007 This book is based on a Chinese conception of adolescent development which is a model that incorporates culture and migration as two essential components of its framework This framework is based on the notion that there is a dynamic interplay between culture and migration in Chinese immigrant families that contributes to adolescent development In the specific migration context indigenous Chinese notions are reinforced and intensified these notions thus develop particular meanings and contribute distinctive themes to both the processes and outcomes of adolescent development The Chinese conception of adolescent development the author proposes acknowledges the unique experiences of Chinese immigrants takes account of the personal meaning of parents and adolescents and incorporates ideas from Chinese culture Female Exiles in Twentieth and Twenty-first Century Europe M. Stanley, G. Zinn, 2007-09-03 A number of historical events of the twentieth century gave rise to migration immigration and exile to and within the European continent This collection represents an effort to raise consciousness about the marginalization of exiled women artists writers political figures as well as members of ethnic and religious minorities Generational Traumas in Contemporary Cuban-American Literature Rafael Miguel Montes, 2006 Through a critical examination of a number of artistic musical and literary productions created by the children of Cuban exiles this book defines frameworks with which to discuss second generation Cuban American texts The work analyzes the social and political implications of works produced by several artists all engaged in defining a cultural identity in exile ReMembering Cuba Andrea O'Reilly Herrera, 2001-06-15 One hundred testimonies on the Cuban diaspora are gathered together from narratives interviews creative writing letters journal entries photographs and paintings to capture the strong emotions surrounding this ongoing ordeal Simultaneous
