Paradise Within Studies In Vaughan:

John G. Demaray,1999-06-01 In this analysis of Milton s artistry as an epic poet John G Demaray offers a fresh perspective on one of the world s great epic poems Placing Paradise Lost against the background of Renaissance theatrical and literary formspageants baroque spectacles masques musical dramas and Continental heroic worksDemaray offers the first extended critical reading of the poem as a unique theatrical epic incorporating heroic conventions theological materials and elements of visual pageantry He examines Milton s early experiments in prophetic verse and theatrical forms the poet s exposure to Italian theater and art during travels in 163839 and the influence of classical Continental and British works upon evolving drafts of Paradise Lost He relates the epic in new ways to the writings of Jonson Dryden and others Readers interested in seventeenth century literature Renaissance and baroque theater the epic religious writings and the creative processes of Milton s imagination will all find many original insights in Milton s Theatrical Epic Milton and the drama of the soul ,2019-05-20 No detailed description available for Milton and the drama of the soul Moral Identity in Early Modern English Literature Paul Cefalu,2004-11-18 Paul Cefalu s study explores the relationship between moral character and religious conversion in the poetry and prose of Sidney Spenser Donne Herbert and Milton as well as in early modern English Conformist and Puritan sermons theological tracts and philosophical treatises Cefalu argues that early modern Protestant theologians were often unable to incorporate a coherent theory of practical morality into the order of salvation Cefalu draws on fresh historicist theories of ideology and subversion but takes issue with historicist tendency to conflate generic and categorical distinctions among texts He argues that imaginative literature by virtue of its tendency to place characters in approximately real ethical quandaries uniquely points out the inability of early modern English Protestant theology to merge religious theory and ethical practice This study should appeal not only to literary critics and historians but also to scholars interested in the history of moral theory Thomas Traherne and Seventeenth-century Thought Elizabeth S. Dodd,Cassandra Gorman,2016 New essays on Thomas Traherne challenge traditional critical readings of the poet The Facts on File Companion to British Poetry Virginia Brackett,2008 Presents a comprehensive A to Z reference with approximately 400 entries providing facts about British poets and their poetry from the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries The End of Learning Thomas Festa,2013-09-13 This book shows that education constitutes the central metaphor of John Milton s political as well as his poetic writing Demonstrating how Milton s theory of education emerged from his own practices as a reader and teacher this book analyzes for the first time the relationship between Milton s own material habits as a reader and his theory of the power of books Milton s instincts for pedagogy and the habits of inculcation everywhere visible in his writings take on a larger political function in his use of education as a trope for the transmission of intellectual history The book therefore analyzes Paradise Lost in the complementary contexts of its outright educational claims and more subversive countervailing measures in order to show how Milton dramatizes the end of learning which is to say both its objective and its failure The thesis emphasizes the argumentative resourcefulness of Milton's efforts to liberate readers from the tyrannical bonds of their political innocence most immediately in the context of the failure of Cromwell's regime to establish lasting republican institutions More philosophically the book explores the ways in which Milton's works investigate the humane and intellectual yearning for justice in response to the problem of evil The Johannine Renaissance in Early Modern English Literature and Theology Paul Cefalu, 2017-11-03 The Johannine Renaissance in Early Modern English Literature and Theology argues that the Fourth Gospel and First Epistle of Saint John the Evangelist were so influential during the early modern period in England as to share with Pauline theology pride of place as leading apostolic texts on matters Christological sacramental pneumatological and political The book argues further that in several instances Johannine theology is more central than both Pauline theology and the Synoptic theology of Matthew Mark and Luke particularly with regard to early modern polemicizing on the Trinity distinctions between agape and eros and the ideologies of radical dissent especially the seventeenth century antinomian challenge of free grace to traditional Puritan Pietism In particular early modern religious poetry including works by Robert Southwell George Herbert John Donne Richard Crashaw Thomas Traherne and Anna Trapnel embraces a distinctive form of Johannine devotion that emphasizes the divine rather than human nature of Christ the belief that salvation is achieved more through revelation than objective atonement and expiatory sin a realized eschatology a robust doctrine of assurance and comfort and a stylistic and rhetorical approach to representing these theological features that often emulates John's mode of discipleship misunderstanding and dramatic irony Early modern Johannine devotion assumes that religious lyrics often express a revelatory poetics that aims to clarify typically through the use of dramatic irony some of the deepest mysteries of the Fourth Gospel and First Epistle 'Umar Ibn Al-Fāriḍ 'Umar ibn 'Alī Ibn al-Fāriḍ, Şibt ibn al-Fāriḍ, 2000 Includes English translation of the introduction to the Diwan known as Dibajah The adorned poem by Abu al Hasan Nur al Din Ali al Misri Gluttony and Gratitude Emily E. Stelzer, 2018-02-14 Despite the persistence and popularity of addressing the theme of eating in Paradise Lost the tradition of Adam and Eve's sin as one of gluttony and the evidence for Milton's adaptation of this tradition has been either unnoticed or suppressed Emily Stelzer provides the first book length work on the philosophical significance of gluttony in this poem arguing that a complex understanding of gluttony and of ideal grateful and gracious eating informs the content of Milton's writing Working with contextual material in the fields of physiology philosophy theology and literature and building on recent scholarship on Milton's experience of and knowledge about matter and the body Stelzer draws connections between Milton's work and both underexamined textual influences including for example Gower's Confessio Amantis and well recognized ones such as Augustine's City of God and Galen's On the Natural Faculties Reform and Counterreform John C. Hawley, 2020-10-12 No detailed description available for Reform and Counterreform Boundless Innocence in Thomas Traherne's Poetic Theology Elizabeth S. Dodd, 2016-03-16 The seventeenth century poet and divine Thomas Traherne finds innocence in every stage of existence He finds it in the chaos at the origins of creation as well as in the blessed order of Eden He finds it in the activities of grace and the hope of glory but also in the trials of misery and even in the abyss of the Fall Boundless Innocence in Thomas Traherne's Poetic Theology traces innocence through Traherne's works as it transgresses the boundaries of the estates of the soul Using grammatical and literary categories it explores various aspects of his poetic theology of innocence uncovering the boundless desire which is embodied in the yearning cry Were all Men Wise and Innocent Recovering and reinterpreting a key but increasingly neglected theme in Traherne's poetic theology this book addresses fundamental misconceptions of the meaning of innocence in his work Through a contextual and theological approach it indicates the unexplored richness complexity and diversity of this theme in the history of literature and theology Idols of the Marketplace D. Hawkes, 2001-10-11 Postmodern society seems incapable of elaborating an ethical critique of the market economy Early modern society showed no such reticence Between 1580 and 1680 Aristotelian teleology was replaced as the dominant mode of philosophy in England by Baconian empiricism This was a process with implications for every sphere of life for politics and theology economics and ethics aesthetics and sexuality Through nuanced and original readings of Shakespeare Herbert Donne Milton Traherne and Bunyan David Hawkes sheds light on the antitheatrical controversy and early modern debates over idolatry and value and trade Hawkes argues that the people of Renaissance England believed that the decline of telos resulted in a reified fetishistic mode of consciousness which manifests itself in such phenomena as religious idolatry commodity fetish and carnal sensuality He suggests that the resulting early modern critique of the market economy has much to offer postmodern society The Myth of Sisyphus Elliott M. Simon, 2007 The myth of Sisyphus symbolizes the archetypal process of becoming without the consolation of absolute achievement It is both a poignant reflection of the human condition and a prominent framing text for classical medieval and renaissance theories of human perfectibility In this unique reading of the myth through classical philosophies pagan and Christian religious doctrines and medieval and renaissance literature we see Sisyphus the most cunning of human beings attempting to transcend his imperfections empowered by his imagination to renew his faith in the infinite potentialities of human excellence BOOK JACKET In the Anteroom of Divinity Feisal Gharib Mohamed, 2008-01-01 In the Anteroom of Divinity focuses on the persistence of Pseudo Dionysian angelology in England's early modern period Beginning with a discussion of John Colet's commentary on Dionysius twin hierarchies Feisal G Mohamed explores the significance of the Dionysian tradition to the conformism debate of the 1590s through works by Richard Hooker and Edmund Spenser He then turns to John Donne and John Milton to shed light on their constructions of godly poetics politics and devotion and provides the most extensive study of Milton's angelology in more than fifty years With new philosophical theological and literary insights this work offers a contribution to intellectual history and the history of religion in critical moments of the English Reformation Ideology and Desire in Renaissance Poetry Ronald Corthell, 1997 Each chapter explores the interrelationships of representation identification and desire while the book as a whole gradually shifts in emphasis from new historicist concerns with representation and the social realm toward psychoanalytic themes of identification desire and inwardness Literature and the Encounter with God in Post-Reformation England Michael Martin, 2016-05-23 Each of the figures examined in this study John Dee John Donne Sir Kenelm Digby Henry and Thomas Vaughan and Jane Lead is concerned with the ways in which God can be approached or experienced Michael Martin analyzes the ways in which the encounter with God is figured among these early modern writers who inhabit the shared cultural space of poets and preachers mystics and scientists The three main themes that inform this study are Cura animarum the care of souls and the diminished role of spiritual direction in post Reformation religious life the rise of scientific rationality and the struggle against the disappearance of the Holy Arising from the methods and commitments of phenomenology the primary mode of inquiry of this study resides in contemplation not in a religious sense but in the realm of perception attendance and acceptance Martin portrays figures such as Dee Digby and Thomas Vaughan not as the eccentrics they are often depicted to have been but rather as participating in a religious mainstream that had been radically altered by the disappearance of any kind of mandatory or regular spiritual direction a problem which was further complicated and exacerbated by the rise of science Thus this study contributes to a reconfiguration of our notion of what religious orthodoxy really meant during the period and calls into question our own assumptions about what is or was orthodox and heterodox The Empty Garden Ashraf H. Rushdy, 2010-11-23 The Empty Garden draws a portrait of Milton as a cultural and religious critic who in his latest and greatest poems wrote narratives that illustrate the proper relationships among the individual the community and God Rushdy argues that the political theory implicit in these relationships arises from Milton's own drive for self knowledge a kind of knowledge that gives the individual freedom to act in accordance with his or her own understanding of God's will rather than the state's Rushdy redefines Milton's creative spirit in a way that encompasses his poetic political and religious careers Gentle Flame Dale B. J. Randall, Dudley North Baron North, 1983 Gentle Flame recounts the life and presents for the first time the hitherto unknown poetry of Dudley Fourth Lord North Born during the reign of Elizabeth I reared in that of James I elected to Parliament under Charles I and retired to his country seat during the time of Charles II the life and poetry of the Fourth Lord North deepens present day understanding of an age that saw much social change The Matter of Revolution John Rogers, 2018-09-05 John Rogers here addresses the literary and ideological consequences of the remarkable if improbable alliance between science and politics in seventeenth century England He looks at the cultural intersection between the English and Scientific Revolutions concentrating on a body of work created in a brief but potent burst of intellectual activity during the period of the Civil Wars the Interregnum and the earliest years of the Stuart Restoration Rogers traces the broad implications of a seemingly outlandish cultural phenomenon the intellectual imperative to forge an ontological connection between physical motion and political action The Blue Sapphire of the Mind Douglas E.
