History in the Making Donald H. Holly Jr.,2013-10-18 The Eastern Subarctic has long been portrayed as a place without history Challenging this perspective History in the Making The Archaeology of the Eastern Subarctic charts the complex and dynamic history of this little known archaeological region of North America Along the way the book explores the social processes through which native peoples made history in the past and archaeologists and anthropologists later wrote about it As such the book offers both a critical history and historiography of the Eastern Subarctic Painting the Past with a Broad Brush David L. Keenlyside,Jean-Luc Pilon,2009-01-01 For over 50 years J V Wright was a ground breaking leader and inspiring mentor for the Canadian archaeological profession This publication brings together 23 scholarly articles on various aspects of Canada s ancient past that pay tribute to and reflect J V Wright s diverse geographic and cultural interests in relation to Canadian archaeology and pre history This exceptional festschrift includes an annotated bibliography of J V Wright s works Published in English Arctic Archaeology Peter Rowley-Conwy,2012-11-12 Examining human occupation of the arctic and subarctic zones irrespective of place and time this book explores a wide variety of fascinating areas and inhabitants along several points in history Beautifully illustrated Arctic Archaeology is essential reading for all those curious about how organisms survived in this life threatening environment The Routledge Handbook of the Bioarchaeology of Human Conflict Christopher Knüsel,Martin Smith,2013-12-17 If human burials were our only window onto the past what story would they tell Skeletal injuries constitute the most direct and unambiguous evidence for violence in the past Whereas weapons or defenses may simply be statements of prestige or status and written sources are characteristically biased and incomplete human remains offer clear and unequivocal evidence of physical aggression reaching as far back as we have burials to examine Warfare is often described as senseless and as having no place in society Consequently its place in social relations and societal change remains obscure The studies in The Routledge Handbook of the Bioarchaeology of Human Conflict present an overview of the nature and development of human conflict from prehistory to recent times as evidenced by the remains of past people themselves in order to explore the social contexts in which such injuries were inflicted A broadly chronological approach is taken from prehistory through to recent conflicts however this book is not simply a catalogue of injuries illustrating weapon development or a narrative detailing progress in warfare but rather provides a framework in which to explore both continuity and change based on a range of important themes which hold continuing relevance throughout human development History of the Native People of Canada, Volume III (A.D. 500 – European Contact) James Vallière Wright,1996-01-01 Part 1 of the final volume of A History of the Native People of Canada treats eastern Canada and the southern Subarctic regions of the Prairies from A D 500 to European contact It examines the association of archaeological sites with the Native peoples recorded in European documents and particularly the agricultural revolution of the Iroquoian people of the Lower Great Lakes and Upper St Lawrence River Part 2 was never completed as the author passed away Published in English Late Pleistocene Archaeology and Ecology in the Far Northeast Claude Chapdelaine,2012-10-22 The Far Northeast a peninsula incorporating the six New England states New York east of the Hudson Quebec south of the St Lawrence River and Gulf of St Lawrence and the Maritime Provinces provided the setting for a distinct chapter in the peopling of North America Late Pleistocene Archaeology and Ecology in the Far Northeast focuses on the Clovis pioneers and their eastward migration into this region inhospitable before 13 500 years ago especially in its northern latitudes Bringing together the last decade or so of research on the Paleoindian presence in the area Claude Chapdelaine and the contributors to this volume discuss among other topics the style variations in the fluted points left behind by these migrating peoples a broader disparity than previously thought This book offers not only an opportunity to review new data and interpretations in most areas of the Far Northeast including a first glimpse at the Cliche Rancourt Site the only known fluted point site in Quebec but also permits these new findings to shape revised interpretations of old sites

The accumulation of research findings in the Far Northeast has been steady and this timely book presents some of the most interesting results offering fresh perspectives on the prehistory of this important region
