Raj, 1995-09-01 Human Health and Forests Carol J. Pierce Colfer, 2012-05-04 Hundreds of millions of people live and work in forests across the world One vital aspect of their lives yet largely unexamined is the challenge of protecting and enhancing the unique relationship between the health of forests and the health of people This book written for a broad audience is the first comprehensive introduction to the issues surrounding the health of people living in and around forests particularly in Asia South America and Africa Part I is a set of synthesis chapters addressing policy public health environmental conservation and ecological perspectives on health and forests including women and child health medicinal plants and viral diseases such as Ebola SARS and Nipah Encephalitis Part II takes a multi lens approach to lead the reader to a more concrete and holistic understanding It features case studies from around the world that cover important issues such as the links between HIV AIDS and the forest sector and between diet and health Part III looks at the specific challenges to health care delivery in forested areas including remoteness and the integration of traditional medicine with modern health care The generous use of boxes with specific examples adds layers of depth to the analyses The book concludes with a synthesis designed for use by practitioners and policymakers to work with forest dwellers to improve their health and their ecosystems This book is a vital addition to the knowledge base of all professionals academics and students working on forests natural resources management health and development worldwide Published with CIFOR and People and Plants International What Men Owe to Women John C.
