La francophonie ou l'éloge de la diversité Michaël Abecassis, Gudrun Ledegen, Karen Zouaoui, 2011-05-25 The first part of this volume, La Francophonie ou l'éloge de la diversité, is devoted to Francophone cinema between Bollywood and Hollywood. What in particular does Francophone cinema have to offer compared with American or Indian cinema? What more does Francophone cinema have to offer? What genres does it prefer? For what audience? The second part deals with the promotion of diversity in Francophone countries, taking into consideration the cultural aspects of Francophonie in the 21st century, the linguistic description of systems in contact, tracing the historical stages which have led to the creation of this locus of cultural diversity, and focusing finally on university cooperation and Franco-British scientific research. This book brings together contributions by outstanding authors who gathered in Oxford in October 2010 at the Maison française, including Louis Jean Calvet, Professor at the University of Provence. In collaboration with the Organisation Internationale de la Francophonie, he works on language policy, particularly the struggle to maintain linguistic diversity. Bernard Cerquiglini, Rector of the Agence Universitaire de la Francophonie, an eminent linguist and specialist on the French language, Bernard Cerquiglini is known as the Professor from TV5 Monde. s. African Literatures as World Literature Alexander Fyfe, Madhu Krishnan, 2022-11-03 The enormous success of writers such as Teju Cole and Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie demonstrates that African literatures are now an international phenomenon. But the apparent global legibility of a small number of mostly Anglophone writers in the diaspora raises the question of how literary producers from the continent both past and present have situated their work in relation to the world and the kinds of material networks to which this corresponds. This collection shows how literatures from across the African continent engage with conceptualizations of the world in relation to local social and political issues. Focusing on a wide variety of geographic historical and linguistic contexts the essays in this volume seek answers to the following questions: What are the topographies of the world in different literary texts and traditions? What are that world's limits boundaries and possibilities? How do literary modes and forms such as realism narrative poetry or the political essay affect the presentation of worldliness? What are the material networks of circulation that allow African literatures to become world literature? African literatures it emerges do important theoretical work that speaks to the very core of world literary studies today.
