

Harper's Weekly interpretation of the Battle of Sabine Pass as it appeared in the October 10, 1863 issue.

Despite his success and good fortune, Dowling was destined to suffer more tragedy in his personal life. His first son Benjamin died in 1862 at the age of three, and another son, William, perished in early 1864 not long after his first birthday. For the previously charmed "Dick" Dowling, the loss of his sons became the greatest tragedies of his life. The Union naval blockade of Galveston may have contributed to the deaths of his two sons, especially with the blockade denying the delivery of precious medicines.

Lieutenant Dowling and the Irishmen of the Davis Guards held firm at Fort Griffin on the west side of the Sabine River against the might of the Union flotilla on September 8, 1863. In a spirited defense the all-Irish garrison, despite enduring hours of steady bombardment, used their artillery with both speed and accuracy. The marksmanship of Pvt. Michael McKernan was especially effective against the vulnerable wooden hulls of the Federal warships. The fire of the Texas guns wreaked havoc among the Union troop transports. Dowling's Irishmen disabled two Union gunboats with well-placed shots as they entered the waters of Sabine Pass. When the battle was over, the Federal force lost almost 100 men, and 350 Union sailors were captured. No Irishmen within the walls of Fort Griffin were lost.

Under Dowling's inspired leadership and fighting to the Texas Revolution motto of "Victory or Death," this relative handful of Irish cannoneers successfully defended Sabine Pass against the odds. The Union invasion of Texas was thwarted. For the moment, Texas was saved from Federal invasion by these Irishmen in gray, who had accomplished the impossible with their determination to succeed at all costs: "Victory or Death!"
