Sacred Art In A Secular Century:

Sacred Art in a Secular Century Horton Davies, Hugh Davies, 1978      A Sense of the Sacred R. Kevin Seasoltz, 2005-01-01 There have been many histories of Christian art and architecture but none written by a theologian such as Kevin Seasoltz Following a chapter on culture as the context for theology liturgy and art Seasoltz surveys developments from the early church up through the conventional artistic styles and periods Comprehensive illuminating ecumenical

ReVisioning James Romaine, Linda Stratford, 2014-05-20 ReVisioning Critical Methods of Seeing Christianity in the History of Art examines the application of art historical methods to the history of Christianity and art As methods of art history have become more interdisciplinary there has been a notable emergence of discussions of religion in art history as well as related fields such as visual culture and theology This book represents the first critical examination of scholarly methodologies applied to the study of Christian subjects themes and contexts in art ReVisioning contains original work from a range of scholars each of whom has addressed the question in regard to a well known work of art or body of work How have particular methods of art history been applied and with what effect The study moves from the third century to the present providing extensive treatment and analysis of art historical methods applied to the history of Christianity and art

Art As Religious Studies Douglas G. Adams, Diane Apostolos-Cappadona, 2001-04-17      Religious Art in France of the Thirteenth Century Emile Mâle, 2012-11-16 Classic by noted art historian focuses on French cathedrals of the 13th century as apotheosis of medieval style Iconography bestiaries illustrated calendars gospels secular history many other aspects 190 black and white illustrations

A Theology of Artistic Sensibilities John Dillenberger, 2004-10-19 For most of history argues John Dillenberger the visual arts were for better or worse part of the very fabric of the life and thought of the church But with the Reformation and the Counter Reformation a major change took place Protestant rejection of the visual was matched in Roman Catholicism by the reduction of its formative power While the visual arts dropped out of the lives of Protestant churches they became a memory rather than a source of ennoblement or power in the Roman Catholic Church Thus in different but allied ways Protestants and Catholics lost the power of the visual Part art history part historical theology and part theological reflection this book is both an argument and a program for the recovery of the visual arts in the life of the church for reclaiming seeing as part of religious perception It offers a theological understanding of the visual and provides a basis upon which the visual arts may again be incorporated into Protestantism and reinvigorated in Roman Catholicism The first part is devoted to historical reconstruction exploring those moments in Western history in which the relation between religion and the arts was in ferment Part 2 is given to contemporary delineation and analysis of spiritual perceptions in modern American painting and sculpture of modern church art and architecture and of the changing views of contemporary theologians toward the visual arts Citing David Tracy Karl Rahner Langdon Gilkey and others as examples Dillenberger argues that contemporary theology is moving away from the modern rationalistic understanding of theological analogy to one far closer to the arts Part 3 is constructive developing a theological perspective that demands and includes the visual arts and suggesting ways in which this can be accomplished in pastoral and theological education The world of art says Professor Dillenberger is more aware of the role of religion in the arts than the world of religion is of art Thus it is time for the church to resume its historic association with the visual arts albeit in analogous rather than repristinating ways

The Routledge Companion to Medieval Iconography

Colum Hourihane,2016-12-19 Sometimes enjoying considerable favor sometimes less iconography has been an essential element in medieval art historical studies since the beginning of the discipline Some of the greatest art historians including M le Warburg Panofsky Morey and Schapiro have devoted their lives to understanding and structuring what exactly the subject matter of a work of medieval art can tell Over the last thirty or so years scholarship has seen the meaning and methodologies of the term considerably broadened This companion provides a state of the art assessment of the influence of the foremost iconographers as well as the methodologies employed and themes that underpin the discipline The first section focuses on influential thinkers in the field while the second covers some of the best known methodologies the third and largest section looks at some of the major themes in medieval art Taken together the three sections include thirty eight chapters each of which deals with an individual topic An introduction historiographical evaluation and bibliography accompany the individual essays The authors are recognized experts in the field and each essay includes original analyses and or case studies which will hopefully open the field for future research

Annunciations: Sacred Music for the Twenty-First Century George Corbett,2019-05-01 Our contemporary culture is communicating ever increasingly through the visual through film and through music This makes it ever more urgent for theologians to explore the resources of art for enriching our understanding and experience of the Judeo Christian tradition Annunciations Sacred Music for the twenty First Century edited by George Corbett answers this need evaluating the relationship between the sacred and the composition performance and appreciation of music Through the theme of annunciations this volume interrogates how when why through and to whom God communicates in the Old and New Testaments In doing so it tackles the intimate relationship between Scriptural reflection and musical practice in the past its present condition and what the future might hold Annunciations comprises three parts Part I sets out flexible theological and compositional frameworks for a constructive relationship between the sacred and music Part II presents the reflections of theologians and composers involved in collaborating on new pieces of sacred choral music alongside the six new scores and links to the recordings Part III considers the reality of programming and performing sacred works today This volume provides an indispensable resource for scholars and artists working at the interface between theology and the arts and for those involved in sacred music However it will also be of interest to anyone concerned with the ways in which the Divine communicates through word and artistry to humanity

Eighteenth-Century Russian Music Marina Ritzarev, 2017-07-05 Little is known outside of Russia about the nation's musical heritage prior to the nineteenth century. Western scholarship has tended to view the history of Russian music as not beginning until the end of the eighteenth century. Marina Ritzarev's work shows this interpretation to be misguided. Starting from an examination of the rich legacy of Russian music up to 1700, she explores the development of music over the course of the eighteenth century, a period of especially intense Westernization and secularization. The book focuses on what is characteristic and crucial to Russian music during this period rather than seeking to provide a comprehensive survey. The musical culture of the time is discussed against the rich background of social, political, and cultural life, tying together many of the phenomena that used to be viewed separately. The book highlights the importance of previously marginalized sectors: serf culture, choral, sacred culture, the contribution of foreign musicians, the significant influence of Freemasonry, the role of Ukrainian and West European cultures, and so on, as well as casting new light on the well-researched topic of Russian opera. Much new archival material is introduced, and revised biographies of the two leading eighteenth-century Russian composers, Maxim Berezovsky and Dmitry Bortniansky, are provided, as well as those of the serf composer Stepan Degtyarev and the Italian Giuseppe Sarti. The book places eighteenth-century Russian music on the European map and will be of particular importance for the study of European musical cultures remote from such centres as Italy, Germany, Austria, and France. Eighteenth-century Russian music is organically linked with its past and future, and its contributory role in forming the Russian national identity and developing the Russian idiom is clarified.

The Companion to the Book of Common Worship Peter C. Bower, 2003-01-01 Published during the tenth anniversary of the Book of Common Worship 1993, The Companion to the Book of Common Worship is a practical guide answering questions such as: how do I use the Book of Common Worship to its fullest advantage, and how can the Book of Common Worship form a congregation into a community that glorifies and enjoys God.

Religion and the Arts: History and Method Diane Apostolos-Cappadona, 2017-11-06 In Religion and the Arts: History and Method, Diane Apostolos-Cappadona presents an overview of the 19th-century origins of this discrete field of study and its methodological journey to the present day through issues of repatriation, museum exhibitions, and globalization. Apostolos-Cappadona suggests that the fluidity and flexibility of the study of religion and the arts has expanded like an umbrella since the 1970s, and the understanding that art was simply a visual exegesis of texts to now support the study of material, popular, and visual culture, as well as gender. She also delivers a careful analysis of the evolution of thought from traditional iconographies to the transformations once scholars were influenced by response theory and challenged by globalization and technology. Religion and the Arts: History and Method offers an indispensable introduction to the questions and perspectives essential to the study of this field.

Women on Philosophy of Art Alison Stone, 2024-08-14 Women on Philosophy of Art is the first study of women's philosophies of art in long nineteenth century Britain It looks at seven women spanning the time from the Enlightenment to the beginning of modernism They are Anna Barbauld Joanna Baillie Harriet Martineau Anna Jameson Frances Power Cobbe Emilia Dilke and Vernon Lee The central issue that concerned them was how art related to morality and religion Baillie and Martineau treated art as an agency of moral instruction whereas Dilke and Lee argued that art must be made for beauty's sake Barbauld Jameson and Cobbe thought that beauty and religion were linked while other women believed that art and religion must be decoupled Other topics explored are gender and genius tragedy literary realism why we enjoy the sufferings of fictional characters the hierarchy of the art forms whether art can transcend its historical circumstances and critical issues around the artistic canon Examining the print culture that made these women's interventions possible this book shows that these women were doing a particular kind of philosophy of art which was interdisciplinary and closely tied to artistic criticism and practice The book traces how these seven women influenced one another as well as engaging with their male contemporaries But unlike their male interlocutors these women have been unjustly left out of narratives about the history of aesthetics By including these women we can enrich and broaden our understanding of the history of philosophy of art

On the Spirit and the Self Jennifer Swan ,2019-06-01 On the Spirit and the Self The Religious Art of Marc Chagall compliments and extends the scholarship surrounding Chagall's place in the History of 20th Century Art as a Religious artist Central to this study is the psychic process of individuation and the ways in which images appear to depict the deeper changes in our collective human existence A new perspective on Chagall's creative output is presented through the application of Jungian theory Jung identifies a separation between the cultural and historical underpinnings of natal faith or creed and the presence of an internal personal spirituality or religious attitude This theoretical approach helps to define Chagall's creative connection to his own natal Hasidic faith whilst clarifying the interiority of his religious experiences on a universal level That creative development may be explored through the visual patterns of sacred transformative imagery is a new approach in Chagallian scholarship elevating two key concepts the Chagallian sacred secular binary and the Chagallian temenos sites Primary source materials reflecting the Artist's voice are illuminated by more than seventy colour reproductions to support the perspective that like Jung Chagall was among the most prolific and significant religious communicators of the 20th Century
