The Making of... Adaptation and the Cultural Imaginary Jan Cronin, 2019-11-25 This book explores Making of sites as a genre of cultural artefact Moving beyond making of documentaries the book analyses novels drama film museum exhibitions and popular studies that re present the making of culturally loaded film adaptations It argues that the Making of genre operates on an adaptive spectrum orienting towards and enacting the adaptation of films and their making The book examines the behaviours that characterise Making of sites across visual media it explores the cultural work done by these sites why recognition of Making of sites as adaptations matters and why our conception of adaptation matters Part one focuses on the adaptive domain presented by the Making of John Ford s The Quiet Man Part two attends to Making of Gone with the Wind sites and concludes with Making of The Lord of the Rings texts as the acme of the cultural risks and investments charted in earlier chapters Locating Migrating Media Greg Elmer, Charles H. Davis, Janine Marchessault, John McCullough, 2012-07-10 Locating Migrating Media details the extent to which media productions both televisual and cinematic have sought out new and cheaper shot locations creative staff and financing around the world The book contributes to debates about media globalization focusing on the local impact of new sites of media production The book s chapters also question the role that film and television industries and local and regional governments play in broader economic develop and tax incentive schemes While metaphors of transportation mobility fluidity and change continue to serve as key concepts and frames for understanding contemporary media industries products and processes the essays in this book look to local spaces neighborhoods cultural workers and stories to ground the global that is to interrogate the effect of media globalization before during and after film and television shooting and onsite production By locating migrating media these chapters seek to determine the political economic and cultural conditions that produce contemporary forms of televisual and cinematic storytelling and how these processes affect the inhabitants the look and the very geopolitical future of local communities neighborhoods cities and regions The focus on relocated screen production highlights the act of film and television making both aesthetically and economically To locate migrating media is therefore to determine the political and cultural economies of globalized sets and stages be they in new studios or on city streets or perhaps most importantly in our imaginations New Zealand Medievalism Anna Czarowus, Janet M. Wilson, 2024-04-30 This volume maps the phenomenon of medievalism in Aotearoa initially as an import by the early white settler society and as a form of nation building that would reinforce Britishness and ancestral belonging This colonial narrative underpins the volume s focus on the imperial relationship in chapters on the academic study of the Middle Ages on medievalism in film and music in manuscript and book collections and colonial stained glass and architecture Through the alternative 21st century frameworks of a global Middle

Ages and Aotearoa's bicultural nationalism the volume also introduces Maori understandings of the ancestral past that parallel the European epoch and at the opposite end of the spectrum the phenomenon of global right wing medievalism as evidenced in the Alt right extremism underpinning the Christchurch mosque attack of 2019 The 11 chapters trace the transcultural moves and networks that comprise the shift from the 20th century study of the Middle Ages as an historical period to manifestations of medievalism as the reception and interpretation of the medieval past in postmedieval times Collectively these are viewed as indications of the changing public perception about the meaning and practice of the European heritage from the colonial to contemporary era The volume will appeal to educationists scholars and students interested in the academic history of the Middle Ages in New Zealand enthusiasts of film music and performance of the medieval members of the public interested in Aotearoa's history and popular culture and all who enjoy the colourful reinventions of medievalism
