Hedge, Walter C. Borman, 2012-03-16 The area of work and aging is complex and multi faceted Its foundation is formed by a wide array of disciplines that both contribute to the complexity of its understanding and offer fertile promise for research development and application in the years ahead With an ever growing population of older workers many of whom are suggesting they will likely continue to work past traditional retirement age it becomes all the more important that we increase our efforts to develop a more thorough understanding of older workers the nature of their interactions with work and the organizations for which they work and the process of transitioning to retirement Clearly there are huge societal and global challenges that will both inform and influence research and application at the individual and organizational levels The Oxford Handbook of Work and Aging examines the aging workforce from an individual worker organization and societal perspective and offers both an integration of current cross disciplinary knowledge and a roadmap for where research and application should be focused in the future to address issues of an aging workforce The volume is divided into six core sections demography theoretical and methodological issues the older worker organizational strategies for an older workforce individual and organizational perspectives on work and retirement and societal perspectives with an aging workforce Bringing together seasoned authors from diverse academic and professional backgrounds new approaches to recruiting workplace flexibility and the right mix of benefits and incentives are presented as a way of engaging an older workforce

A Purposive Approach to Labour Law Guy Davidov, 2016-05-06 The mismatch between goals and means is a major cause of crisis in labour law The regulations that we use the legal instruments and techniques are no longer in sync with the goals they are supposed to advance This mismatch leads to a problem of coverage where many workers who need the protection of labour law are not covered by it as well as a problem of obsolescence as labour laws are not sufficiently updated in light of dramatic changes in the labour market Adopting a purposive approach to interpretation and legislative reform this volume addresses this crisis of mismatch It first articulates the goals of labour law both general and specific through an in depth normative discussion and a consideration of critiques The book then proceeds to reconsider our means asking what we need to change or improve in the laws themselves in order to better advance the goals Some of the proposed solutions are at the level of judicial interpretation others at the legislative level The book offers several examples of the way a purposive analysis should be performed in concrete cases It also recommends institutional structures that are suited to ongoing adaptation of the law to ensure that our goals are advanced even when circumstances frequently change Finally in response to the crisis of enforcement in this field which frustrates the achievement of labour law's goals several proposals to improve compliance and enforcement are considered

Heavy Work Investment Itzhak Harpaz, Raphael Snir, 2014-07-17 The book deals with the concept of Heavy Work Investment HWI recently initiated by Snir and Harpaz Since its introduction the interest in the general HWI model has increased considerably The book illustrates the development of HWI conceptualization theory and research It deals with the foremost HWI subtype of workaholism However it also compares workaholism as a negative HWI subtype with work devotion passion engagement as a positive HWI subtype Most importantly it addresses HWI in general including its possible situational subtypes In view of Snir and Harpaz's claim that the study of situational heavy work investment is relatively scarce this certainly constitutes a promising step in the right direction Finally it deals with timely and important topics examined by prominent international researchers on Heavy Work Investment and such issues as personality factors of workaholism work life balance cross cultural similarities and differences in HWI work addiction and technology HWI and retirement and intergenerational similarity in work investment

New Realities of Secondary Teachers' Work Lives Pam Poppleton, John Williamson, 2004-05-10 There are many books on educational change its origins processes and consequences The unique contribution of this volume lies in its careful documenting and reporting of the reactions of teachers themselves interviewed

Romancing the Wild Robert Fletcher, 2014-02-24 The worldwide development of ecotourism including adventures such as mountain climbing and whitewater rafting as well as more pedestrian pursuits such as birdwatching has been extensively studied but until now little attention has been paid to why vacationers choose to take part in what are often physically and emotionally strenuous endeavors Drawing on ethnographic research and his own experiences working as an ecotour guide throughout the United States and Latin America Robert Fletcher argues that participation in rigorous outdoor activities resonates with the particular cultural values of the white upper middle class Westerners who are the majority of ecotourists Navigating 13 000 foot mountain peaks or treacherous river rapids demands deferral of gratification perseverance through suffering and a willingness to assume risks in pursuit of continuous progress In this way characteristics originally cultivated for professional success have been transferred to the leisure realm at a moment when traditional avenues for achievement in the public sphere seem largely exhausted At the same time ecotourism provides a temporary escape from the ostensible ills of modern society by offering a transcendent wilderness experience that contrasts with the indoor sedentary mental labor characteristically performed by white collar workers
