Medieval romance frequently and perhaps characteristically capitalises on the dramatic and suggestive possibilities implicit in boundaries not only the geographical political and cultural frontiers that medieval romances imagine and imply but also more metaphorical demarcations It is these boundaries as they appear in insular romances circulating in English and French which the essays in this volume address They include the boundary between reality and fictionality boundaries between different literary traditions modes and cultures and boundaries between different kinds of experience or perception especially the altered states associated with sickness magic the supernatural or the divine      The 'Sege Off Melayne' and 'The Romance of Duke Rowland and Sir Otuell of Spayne' ... Sidney John Hervon Herrtage,1990      The Roland and Otuel Romances and the Anglo-Norman Otinel Susanna Fein,Elizabeth Melick,David Raybin,2020-09-30 This edition contains four Middle English Charlemagne romances from the Otuel cycle Roland and Vernagu Otuel a Knight Otuel and Roland and Duke Roland and Sir Otuel of Spain A translation of the romances source the Anglo French Otinel is also included The romances center on conflicts between Frankish Christians and various Saracen groups and deal with issues of racial and religious difference conversion and faith based violence      Medieval French on the Move Leah Tether,Patrick Moran,Anne Salamon,2025-03-17 When Keith Busby published his field shaping Codex and Context in 2002 the work was referred to as groundbreaking and monumental It prompted scholars of medieval literature to return to manuscripts in their droves However Busby s Codex and Context would also enact another more gradual movement His formulation of the term medieval Francophonia to describe the presence power and effect of French outside France would filter steadily into academic enquiry The term and concept are now widely recognised and applied in global scholarship including in multiple major projects dedicated to the topic This volume brings together a series of cutting edge studies of medieval Francophonia covering in one place and for the first time the fullest scope of the concept s remit with contributions on history historiography language literature culture society and authority At the same time as offering a timely contribution to the field this volume pays tribute to Busby's life work not only to pioneer medieval Francophonia but also and moreover to encourage the study of the medieval through material philology. Each of the studies here written by Busby's friends and colleagues thus roots its approach in a material context. The Exploitations of Medieval Romance Laura Ashe, Ivana Djordjević, Judith Elizabeth Weiss, 2010. In the middle ages romance was exploited for a variety of social and cultural reasons to celebrate and justify war chivalric ideologies and to rationalize power structures. The essays in this volume consider individual romances, groups of writings and the genre explaining exploitive manoeuvres in terms of text and context. Catalogue Baltimore Peabody inst, libr, 1883
