National Academy of Sciences, 1945-1985, 1986      Surrogate Suburbs Todd M. Michney, 2017-02-08 The story of white flight and the neglect of Black urban neighborhoods has been well told by urban historians in recent decades Yet much of this scholarship has downplayed Black agency and tended to portray African Americans as victims of structural forces beyond their control In this history of Cleveland's Black middle class Todd Michney uncovers the creative ways that members of this nascent community established footholds in areas outside the overcrowded inner city neighborhoods to which most African Americans were consigned In asserting their right to these outer city spaces African Americans appealed to city officials allied with politically progressive whites notably Jewish activists and relied upon both Black and white developers and real estate agents to expand these surrogate suburbs and maintain their livability until the bona fide suburbs became more accessible By tracking the trajectories of those who in spite of racism were able to succeed Michney offers a valuable counterweight to histories that have focused on racial conflict and Black poverty and tells the neglected story of the Black middle class in America's cities prior to the 1960s      *Equal Opportunity in Housing: a Bibliography of Research. Neighborhoods, Making Our Selves George C. Galster, 2024-01-17 In Making Our Neighborhoods Making Our Selves George Galster delves deep into the question of whether American neighborhoods are as efficient and equitable as they could be socially financially and emotionally and if not what we can do to change that Galster aims to redefine the relationship between places and people promoting specific policies that reduce inequalities in housing markets and beyond Drawing on economics sociology geography and psychology Making Our Neighborhoods Making Our Selves delivers a clear sighted explanation of what neighborhoods are how they come to be and what they should be      Housing and Racial/Ethnic Minority Status in the United States Jamshid A. Momeni, 1987-04-03 Momeni pulls together 1 007 citations to articles and monographs on housing for minorities Instead of brief annotations he includes an abstract or summary of each title sometimes written by the original author The descriptions are long enough to allow the reader to appraise the title Entries are classed by broad topic e g discrimination and redlining segregation desegregation rentals ownership and home value subsidies public housing regulations and the courts elderly housing homelessness There are author and subject indexes Particularly valuable is a 15 page analysis of data from the 1980 census in which Momeni studies differences in housing occupied by minorities If affords students and librarians a readable overview of the minority housing picture in 1980 no similar bibliography incorporates data from this census The foreword and preface written by two experts in the field add commentary on the subject Recommended for academic and research libraries supporting sociology and urban studies Choice The proliferation of research on minority housing in the past decade has created the need for a comprehensive bibliography that will provide a synthesis of knowledge on the subject and bring together the results of many widely dispersed studies and documents This outstanding reference work chronicles the historical patterns of change in minority housing conditions and paves the way to a greater understanding of the complexities of the market dynamics of minority housing over the past two decades Containing more than one thousand entries this expansive volume summarizes the latest research literature covering such topics as redlining fair housing the impact of various housing initiatives the problems of the elderly and the homeless Black Families Harold E.
