Firth, 2013-09-05 Originally published in 1970 this book represents a unique study of beliefs and ritual practices in a pagan religion and of the processes by which a transformation to Christianity took place Christianity came to the major islands of Polynesia nearly two centuries ago and within a couple of generations the traditional pagan religion had disappeared Only a few remote islands such as Tikopia preserved their ancient cults Over eighty years ago the author first observed and took part in these pagan rites and on later visits he studied the change from paganism to Christian faith Unique in its rich documentation this book presents a systematic account of the traditional beliefs in gods and spirits and of the way in which these were fused with the social and political structure The causes and dramatic results of the conversion to Christianity are then described ending with an examination of the religious situation at the time of the book's original publication The book is both a contribution to anthropology and a case study in religious history It completes the major series of studies of Tikopia society for which the author is famous It gives the first full account of a Polynesian religious system in a state of change

An Infinity of Nations Michael Witgen, 2011-11-29 An Infinity of Nations explores the formation and development of a Native New World in North America Until the middle of the nineteenth century indigenous peoples controlled the vast majority of the continent while European colonies of the Atlantic World were largely confined to the eastern seaboard To be sure Native North America experienced far reaching and radical change following contact with the peoples things and ideas that flowed inland following the creation of European colonies on North American soil. Most of the continent's indigenous peoples however were not conquered, assimilated, or even socially incorporated into the settlements and political regimes of this Atlantic New World. Instead, Native peoples forged a New World of their own. This history, the evolution of a distinctly Native New World, is a foundational story that remains largely untold in histories of early America. Through imaginative use of both Native language and European documents, historian Michael Witgen recreates the world of the indigenous peoples who ruled the western interior of North America. The Anishinaabe and Dakota peoples of the Great Lakes and Northern Great Plains dominated the politics and political economy of these interconnected regions, which were pivotal to the fur trade and the emergent world economy. Moving between cycles of alliance and competition and between peace and violence, the Anishinaabeg and Dakota carved out a place for Native peoples in modern North America, ensuring not only that they would survive as independent and distinct Native peoples but also that they would be a part of the new community of nations who made the New World.

Pathfinder Richard R. Burns, 2008-11-26 December 1967 Richard Burns had just arrived in Vietnam as part of the fourteen-man 101st Pathfinder Detachment. Within just one month, during a holiday called Tet, the Communists would launch the largest single attack of the war, and he would be right in the thick of it. In Vietnam, Richard Burns operated in live-or-die situations, risking his life so that other men could keep theirs. As a Pathfinder, all too often alone in the middle of a hot LZ, he guided in helicopters, disembarking troops, directed medevacs to retrieve the wounded, and organized extractions. As well as parachuting into areas and supervising the clearing of landing zones, Pathfinders acted as air traffic controllers, keeping call signs, frequencies, and aircraft locations in their heads as they orchestrated takeoffs and landings, often under heavy enemy fire. From Bien Hoa to Song Be to the deadly A Shau Valley, Burns recounts the battles that won him the Silver Star, Bronze Star, Purple Heart, and numerous other decorations. This is the first and only book by a Pathfinder in Vietnam or anywhere else.

New Mexico, the Shining Land John L. Sinclair, 1980 Modernism, Postcolonialism, and Globalism Richard Begam, Michael Valdez Moses, 2019 As England withdrew from its empire after World War II, how did writers living outside the United Kingdom respond to the history of colonialism and the aesthetics of modernism within a global context? In fourteen original essays, edited by Richard Begam and Michael Valdez Moses, a distinguished group of scholars considers these questions in relation to novelists, playwrights, and poets living in English-speaking countries around the world. Modernism, Postcolonialism, and Globalism not only examines how modernism and postcolonialism evolved over several generations but also situates the writers analyzed in terms of canonical realignments inspired by the New Modernist Studies and an array of emerging methodologies and approaches. While this volume highlights social and political questions connected with the end of empire, it also considers the aesthetics of postcolonialism, detailing how writers drew upon, responded to, and sometimes reacted against the formal innovations of modernism. Many of the essays consider the influence modernist artists and movements exercised on postcolonial writers from W. B. Yeats to Joseph Conrad.

Franz Kafka Marcel Proust James Joyce T S Eliot and Virginia Woolf to Impressionism Expressionism Surrealism and Abstractionism Modernism Postcolonialism and Globalism is organized around six geographic locales and includes essays on Africa Chinua Achebe Ngugi wa Thiong'o Nadine Gordimer J M Coetzee Asia Salman Rushdie Arundhati Roy the Caribbean Jean Rhys Derek Walcott V S Naipaul Ireland Samuel Beckett Seamus Heaney Australia New Zealand David Malouf Keri Hulme and Canada Michael Ondaatje Examining how Anglophone writers engaged with the literary intellectual and cultural heritage of modernism this volume offers a vital and distinctive intervention in ongoing discussions of modern and contemporary literature

Across the Lines Wolfgang Klooss,1998 This third volume of ASNEL Papers covers a wide range of theoretical and thematic approaches to the subject of intertextuality Intertextual relations between oral and written versions of literature text and performance as well as problems emerging from media transitions regionally instructed forms of intertextuality and the works of individual authors are equally dealt with Intertextuality as both a creative and a critical practice frequently exposes the essential arbitrariness of literary and cultural manifestations that have become canonized The transformation and transfer of meanings which accompanies any crossing between texts rests not least on the nature of the artistic corpus embodied in the general framework of historically and socially determined cultural traditions Traditions however result from selective forms of perception they are as much inventions as they are based on exclusion Intertextuality leads to a constant reinforcement of tradition while at the same time intertextual relations between the new literatures and other English language literatures are all too obvious Despite the inevitable impact of tradition the new literatures tend to employ a dynamic reading of culture which fosters social process and transition thus promoting transcultural rather than intercultural modes of communication Writing and reading across borders becomes a dialogue which reveals both differences and similarities More than a decolonizing form of deconstruction intertextuality is a strategy for communicating meaning across cultural boundaries
