Shipwreck in the Early Modern Hispanic World Carrie L. Ruiz, Elena Rodríguez-Guridi, 2022-01-14 Shipwreck in the Early Modern Hispanic World examines portrayals of nautical disasters in sixteenth and seventeenth century Spanish literature and culture. The essays collected here showcase shipwreck's symbolic deployment to question colonial expansion and transoceanic trade, to critique the Christian enterprise overseas, to signal the collapse of dominant social order, and to relay moral messages and represent socio-political debates. Gabriel R. Ricci, 2017-09-29 This latest volume in the Culture Civilization series gathers interdisciplinary voices to present a collection of essays on travel and travel narratives. The essays span a range of topics from iconic ancient travel stories to modern tourism. They discuss travel in the ancient world, modern heroic travels, the literary culture of missionary travel, the intersection of fiction and travel narratives, modern literary traditions and visions of Greece, personal identity and expatriation. Essays also address travel memoirs, the reimagining of worlds through travel, transformed landscapes and animals in travel narratives, diplomacy, English women travel writers, and pilgrimage and health in the medieval world. The history of travel writing takes in multiple pursuits: exploration and conquest, religious pilgrimage and missionary work, educational tourism and diplomacy, scientific and personal discovery, and natural history and oral history. As a literary genre, it has enhanced a wide range of disciplines including geography, ethnography, anthropology, and linguistics. Moreover, twenty-first century interests in travel and travel writing have produced a global framework that promises to expand travel's theoretical reach into the depths of the Internet, thus challenging our conventional concept of what it means to travel. The fact that travel and travel writing have a prehistory that is embedded in foundational religious texts and ancient narratives of journey like the Odyssey and the Epic of Gilgamesh makes both travel and travel writing fundamental and essential expressions of humanity. Travel encourages writing, particularly as epistolary and poetic chronicling. This is clearly a history and tradition that began with human communication and which has kept pace with our collective development.

An Archaeology of Desperation Kelly J. Dixon, 2014-10-20 The Donner Party is almost inextricably linked with cannibalism. In truth, we know remarkably little about what actually happened to the starving travelers stranded in the Sierra Nevada in the winter of 1846 47 Combining the approaches of history ethnohistory archaeology bioarchaeology and social anthropology this innovative look at the Donner Party s experience at the Alder Creek Camp offers insights into many long unsolved mysteries Centered on archaeological investigations in the summers of 2003 and 2004 near Truckee California the book includes detailed analyses of artifacts and bones that suggest what life was like in this survival camp Microscopic investigations of tiny bone fragments reveal butchery scars and microstructure that illuminate what the Donner families may have eaten before the final days of desperation how they prepared what served as food and whether they actually butchered and ate their deceased companions The contributors reassess old data with new analytic techniques and by examining both physical evidence and oral testimony from observers and survivors add new dimensions to the historical narrative The authors integration of a variety of approaches including narratives of the Washoe Indians who observed the Donner Party destroys some myths deconstructs much of the folklore about the stranded party and demonstrates that novel approaches can shed new light on events we thought we understood

Divine Visitations and Hospitality to Strangers in Luke-Acts Joshua W. Jipp, 2013-09-12 This study presents a coherent interpretation of the Malta episode by arguing that Acts 28 1 10 narrates a theoxeny that is an account of unknowing hospitality to a god which results in the establishment of a fictive kinship relationship between the Maltese barbarians and Paul and his God In light of the connection between hospitality and piety to the gods in the ancient Mediterranean Luke ends his second volume in this manner to portray Gentile hospitality as the appropriate response to Paul s message of God s salvation a response that portrays them as hospitable exemplars within the Lukan narrative and contrasts them with the Roman Jews who reject Paul and his message

Reorienting the East Martin Jacobs,2014-09-30 Reorienting the East explores the Islamic world as it was encountered envisioned and elaborated by Jewish travelers from the Middle Ages to the early modern period The first comprehensive investigation of Jewish travel writing from this era this study engages with questions raised by postcolonial studies and contributes to the debate over the nature and history of Orientalism as defined by Edward Said Examining two dozen Hebrew and Judeo Arabic travel accounts from the mid twelfth to the early sixteenth centuries Martin Jacobs asks whether Jewish travelers shared Western perceptions of the Islamic world with their Christian counterparts Most Jews who detailed their journeys during this period hailed from Christian lands and many sailed to the Eastern Mediterranean aboard Christian owned vessels Yet Jacobs finds that their descriptions of the Near East subvert or reorient a decidedly Christian vision of the region The accounts from the crusader era in particular are often critical of the Christian church and present glowing portraits of Muslim Jewish relations By contrast some of the later travelers discussed in the book express condescending attitudes toward Islam Muslims and Near Eastern Jews Placing shifting perspectives on the Muslim world in their historical social and literary contexts Jacobs interprets these texts as mirrors of changing Jewish self perceptions As he argues the travel accounts echo the various ways in which premodern Jews negotiated their mingled identities which were neither exclusively Western nor entirely Eastern

Randolph Richards,2025-07-29 Traditional Christian art depicts Paul the letter writer pen in hand attentive to the Spirit We might think we know better and imagine him pacing in agitation as he rapidly dictates to a secretary his letter to the Galatians But in reality neither of these pictures is accurate In Paul s day producing a letter was a time consuming and costly business And we have ample resources from the ancient world to piece together what it must have been like A secretary was usually part of the picture But so were notes drafts corrections and careful rewrites not to speak of scratchy pens sooty ink and coarse papyrus Interestingly there is evidence that Paul involved his missionary team in the writing of letters And then came the delivery over land and sea the reading and circulation as well as the epistolary afterlife of copying collecting and storing E Randolph Richards has extensively studied ancient letter writing and secretaries Informed by the historical evidence and with a sharp eye for telltale clues in Paul s letters he takes us into this world and places us on the scene with Paul the letter writer What first appears to be just a study of secretaries and stationery turns out to be an intriguing glimpse of Paul the letter writer that overthrows our preconceptions and offers a new perspective on how this important portion of Christian Scripture came to be Let's Go Greece 8th Edition Julia Bonnheim, Simon William Vozick-Levinson, B.
