The Stuff of Spectatorship Caetlin Benson-Allott, 2021-04-06 Film and television create worlds but they are also of a world a world that is made up of stuff to which humans attach meaning Think of the last time you watched a movie the chair you sat in the snacks you ate the people around you maybe the beer or joint you consumed to help you unwind all this stuff shaped your experience of media and its influence on you The material culture around film and television changes how we make sense of their content not to mention the very concepts of the mediums Focusing on material cultures of film and television reception The Stuff of Spectatorship argues that the things we share space with and consume as we consume television and film influence the meaning we gather from them This book examines the roles that six different material cultures have played in film and television culture since the 1970s including video marketing branded merchandise drugs and alcohol and even gun violence and shows how objects considered peripheral to film and television culture are in fact central to its past and future

Nebraska National Forest (N.F.), Black-tailed Prairie Dog Conservation and Management , 2005 An Imperfect Offering James Orbinski, 2010-11-01 This book is a series of stories in which I ask again and again how to be in relation to the suffering of others It is a personal narrative about the political journey I have taken over the last twenty years as a humanitarian doctor as a citizen and as a man This is a story about a way of seeing that requires humility so that one can recognize the sameness of self in the other It is about the mutuality that can exist between us if we so choose I have come to see humanitarianism not as separate from politics but in relation to it and as a challenge to political choices that too often kill or allow others to be killed Speaking is the first political act It is the first act of liberty and it always implicitly involves another In speaking one inherently recognizes that I am and I am not alone In this space lies our humanity Having seen things we hope never to see confronted suffering dispassion and evil we hope never to encounter and faced deep personal torment James Orbinski still believes in the good we can be if we so choose His chosen medium is stories from his own experience a form of testimony from the front lines embodied in which are warnings hope and lessons in how we can inject humanitarian activity into our lives Being political he has discovered is not only reserved for politicians admitting imperfection is essential to compassion The crystal clarity of Orbinski s voice is matched by the urgency of his message at a time of great political and moral uncertainty An
